Why Names Are Withheld.

Major General March says one reason why the Government refuses to give the addresses with the names on the casualty list is to protect the friends and relatives from being harassed by claim agents and other parasites. While our soldiers are fighting the Hun, Americans at home might very well turn on this form of human scavenger.

The Mount Union News.

The Mount Union News, an eight-page weekly newspaper, made its bow to the public last Thursday, and looks fine and healthy. It is owned by Editor Joseph F. Biddle of the Semi-Weekly News Huntingdon, and "our" James S. Brattan, occupies the Managing Editor's chair. Jim has had considerable newspaper experience as an all-around man, is a versatile writer, and a capable business man. As Mr. Biddle, in his salutatory says, it is really an old paper under a new name—the absorption of the Twice-a-Week Republican.

YOU are especially invited to be present that evening—YOU, who are now reading this invitation.

Resolutions of Respect.

WHEREAS, An all-wise Creator has taken from our society (The Fairview Ladies' Aid) our greatly esteemed, unselfish and loyal worker Mrs. Maria Doran who was our oldest member; therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That we express in this way our sorrow on account of the loss we have sustained by her departure from among us; but we rejoice in the fact that she was for so many years allowed to take her place in the activities of life; and that it was characteristic in her never to shrink from the performance of any humane or charitable duty—no matter how trying; that we extend our sympathy to her sons and daughters; that these resolutions be printed in the County papers, and that they be spread upon our minute record.

To Take Over Potomac River.

A joint resolution has been introduced in the Legislature providing for the appointment of a committee of the Legislature to act with a committee to be appointed by the Legislature of West Virginia and inquire into the feasibility, method and cost of taking over the four bridges across the Potomac river connecting the States of Maryland and West Virginia. The bridges referred to are those at Harper's Ferry, Shepherdstown, Williamsport and Hancock. The purpose is to connect the systems of good roads between the two States and make them free highways to the mutual advantage of the local people and the traveling public.—Hancock News.

"Detailed"

Railroad conductors are to lose their coattails. The decree has gone forth from the Government authorities now in control of the railroads. All uniforms are to be cut down to the sack-coat style. No conductor will lord it through his train with the added dignity bestowed by a frock coat. Neither will the station agents be able much longer to strut about in such finery. Purpose of the order is to save wool. There are some 11,000 passenger train conductors in the entire United States, and possibly 1,000 other railroad employes whose get-up will be changed by the coattail-less order. The net result will be to save perhaps as many yards of cloth per annum.

A Great Barge Canal.

An event of nation-wide significance that will occur this spring is the opening of the New York Barge Canal. This achievement, which rivals the Panama Canal in some of its engineering problems, represents years of construction work. With the experience of the past months in freight congestion, its importance will be instantly recognized, since it provides a waterway from the great grain fields of the Northwest and the munition centers of the Great Lakes district.—Pouplar Mechanics Magazine.
