Have You Heard It?

Have you heard that the socks you knit for the Red Cross are sent to France, raveled and made into something useful? The sweater that you knitted for your soldier boy or friend did not reach him, but was seen on an officer?

The men do not receive the packages that are sent to them? The United States is completing only one airplane each day?

The men in the army black the officers' boots and mend their socks?

The soldiers who are ill in the cantonments do not receive proper medical attention?

The men do not get enough to eat?

The men are improperly clothed?

Many transports have been sunk and thousands of lives lost that we have heard nothing about?

If you have you have been listening to a pro-German LIAR.—Memphis News-Scimitar.

Feed Potatoes To Chickens.

There is a possibility that quite a large number of bushels of potatoes in Pennsylvania may not be able to be marketed this spring and rather, than have these potatoes waste and more especially because all usual poultry feeds are exceptionally high in price and often difficult to secure the State Department of Agriculture advises that surplus potatoes be fed to poultry.

Such potatoes must not, however be fed raw but should be roughly washed and boiled. Then mashed, slightly salted and a small quantity of chop mixed with them. Thus fed poultry will, at least for a while, do well with thirty three to fifty per cent. of their feed potatoes. Even growing chicks will relish these boiled potatoes and do well on them. With such a heavy per cent. of soft feed though, charcoal should be kept before young and old chickens all the time and if the droppings become abnormal the quantity fed must be reduced. Feed potatoes and save grain.

Bonds or Taxes, Which?

There is a way of looking at this Liberty bond business that perhaps many have not thought of, especially those who have refused to purchase. If you do not buy Liberty Bonds now you will have to pay taxes eventually. (Stick a pin here so you won't forget it) We have only two years in which to raise money for the expenses of this war—buy bond sales or taxation. If we buy bonds we will get our money back with interest. If we pay taxes we will get nothing back. We lose it all. Which looks better to you? You might think you can escape both, but you cannot. You cannot hide your income if you are employed, you cannot hide your investment income either. You cannot hide your farm or its waving crops. When Uncle Sam sets out to fix your earnings, he can find out every penny you take in, and you can bet he will tax it, if you force him to do so. Moral: Buy bonds and escape taxation. It will be profitable and patriotic.

"FROM ATLANTIC TO THE SEA"

Answered by Another of Sherman's Veterans, Who is Also a Member of the Ninth Pennsylvania Cavalry—Squire B. F. Isenberg, of Huntingdon, Penn'a. Calls For the Nomination of Richard W. Williamson for Congress.

Huntingdon, Penn'a., April 24, 1918.
Mr. Richard W. Williamson, Huntingdon, Pennsylvania.

My Dear Sir:— I see a paid political advertisement in the Semi-Weekly News of April 22nd, headed "From Atlantic To The Sea," by James J. McMullen, in which the writer suggests the return and consequently a seventh nomination for present Congressman because he is the soldiers' friend. When did this District ever have a Congressman who wasn't the soldier's friend? When Mr. Atkinson was in Congress, the same argument was put forth to keep him in Congress but, after five terms, he had to give way to Mr. Mahon.

Mr. Mahon came from a county almost four times as large as Union. He held the nomination for seven terms putting forth the same "stick to the soldier" and "Border Raid Claim" argument to keep himself in office. Now, we have the same argument put forth for the present Congressman and, no doubt, he will again bring forth the Border Raid Claim proposition to fool the people of Franklin County.

Two years ago, the old soldiers of Huntingdon County signed a splendid testimonial in your behalf. The vote in Huntingdon County shows that the soldiers and their friends largely supported you and why shouldn't they? You volunteered and served your country as a private in the Spanish-American War.

Were you in Congress, I am sure your vote on the McLemore Resolution and on all other patriotic measures would have been in favor of your country and there would have been no whisperings of lack of patriotism and charges of Pro-Germanism, as to you. It is Huntingdon County's turn and I earnestly appeal to all factions of the Party to unite and nominate you for Congress, for you will ably represent the District. Your business affairs are always promptly and properly managed and I know you will promptly, faithfully and patriotically represent all the people in the District.

I shall be pleased to have you give this letter such publication as you may deem advisable and believe and sincerely trust that you will be nominated at the Primaries on May 21st, knowing full well that you will sweep the District with a rousing majority at the November Election.

Very truly yours,
B. F. ISENBERG,
Ninth Penn's Cavalry.

Training Little Children.

What are the qualities that make a person "livable with," as we say? Is not the fundamental one respect for our own rights and for the rights of others? And is not one side of the question equally as important as the other?

If my child must respect certain rights and privileges which belong to me as a parent, then I must respect rights and privileges that belong to him.

One of the first marked traits a child develops as soon as he is able to play with others is wanting to have things for his very own. He quickly learns the "mine" and "thine" of things and especially the "mine." It is my book, my rattle, my ball, and great is the uproar when he is requested to share his property rights with another. At this stage young mothers are often given discouragement and make such remarks as "I do not know what I shall do with my boy. I fear he has an extremely selfish disposition. He refuses to let any other child so much as touch any of his playthings." But, wait, dear mother, remember that instincts are crude when they first appear and must be wisely and patiently trained. Let us first respect the child's rights and say, "Yes, it is your ball, but won't you let your little friend play with it?" By following this method we shall find the child becoming more and more aware of his playmate's as well as his own rights. He will share his favorite blocks with another not because some grown-up in authority says, "You must," but voluntarily because he respects the rights of another to share in his play. The idea does not formulate itself in his little mind in so many words perhaps, but it is the response that follows from instinctively recognizing that he is being given his due and that it pays to mete out like measure to another.

Hens Turn Grass Into Greenbacks.

Farmers and poultry keepers are facing the highest feeding costs in their experience and many are wondering where they will come out this season in financial sense.

W. Theo. Wittman, poultryman with the Pennsylvania State Department of Agriculture, says that any farmer or poultryman that has a meadow or grazing field or any patch of land that has a sod that will grow all the season young, tender grass, has a feed factory at hand that will save fifty per cent. of the feed cost of poultry keeping the next six months. This applying equally to old and young stock; young stock especially.

Wittman says chickens on grass as above cannot be beat in the growth they will make in vigor and vitality and general good health.

He says, millions of chickens in this State are grass starved every summer and that a poultryman can afford to ignore grass this year. By feeding grass he will save grain for himself, grain for the country and increase by a hundred per cent. his chances of coming out financially on his chickens.

The grass must be short and young and to be so must be mowed every four or six weeks.

The Gettysburg Red Cross chapter will hereafter fit out all drafted men from its own county (Adams) with knitted wear. The distribution of knitted goods will continue during the summer and an ample supply of yarn will be kept on hand. Many of the boys will be sent into localities, both in this country and abroad, where woolen wear will be a necessity.
