Wouldn't any woman be happy, After years of backache suffering, Days of misery nights of unrest, The distress of urinary troubles, When she finds freedom. Many readers will profit by the following.

Mrs. Lucinda Clevenger, Conneautville, says: "My back ached badly and I couldn't do my housework. I had dizzy spells and chills and was annoyed by bladder complaint. Often swellings appeared under my eyes. I was very nervous and was troubled by rheumatic twinges. I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Trout's Drug Store and they removed all signs of the trouble."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Clevenger had. Foster-Milburn Co., Proprs, Buffalo, N. Y.

Cultivating the Corn Crop.

The production of more bushels of corn to the acre this year than ever before is urged by the Pennsylvania State College. It is already too late for further consideration of good seed, fertilization and the preparation of the seed bed. Cultivation now offers the greatest opportunity for increased yield.

Much should already have been accomplished in the cultivation of corn, through the preparation of a deep moist seedbed, in which all grass and weeds are completely plowed under. Any weeds since plowing should have been killed by thorough disking or harrowing.

Cultivation should start early, soon after the corn is up. A drag or aspike-tooth harrow, or a weeder, should be used at this time. It is often advisable to get over the crop twice the first 10 days or 2 weeks with one of these implements.

Ordinary cultivation should begin when the corn is a few inches high. The chief benefit of corn cultivation should be the killing of weeds. To do this successfully, the weeds should not be permitted to get much of a start. The tendency has been to over-emphasize the importance of the soil mulch. Just so long as weeds are controlled, without injuring the corn roots, satisfactory results may be obtained. The shallower the cultivation, the better, in case of most soils.

Ordinarily three cultivations are sufficient unless the ground is very weedy. Certainly with present labor conditions, additional cultivation should not be given unless necessitated by the persistent growth of weeds and grass, says E. L. Worthen, of the Pennsylvania State College agronomy department.

Rev. Dr. Swartz, District Superintendent, will preach at Bedford Chapel, Saturday evening, June 1st at 8 o'clock; at Mt. Zion, Sunday June 3rd at 10:30; at Needmore, Sunday afternoon at 3:00; at Ebenezer Sunday evening at 8 o'clock; Monday evening, June 4th at Asbury, and Tuesday evening at Siloam. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered.—E. J. Croft, pastor.

A Triad Of Shalts.

Thou shalt produce.
Thou shalt conserve.
Thou shalt economize.

"Every man and woman in America who wants to help win this war should obey these three commandments," says Mrs. Eugenia G. Benn, advisor of home and community interest of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. "We have not done our duty when we have done any one or two of them but until we have done them all.

"First every one can become a producer. We are apt to curtail the meaning of producer to that of farm produce. Upon second thought, however, we can easily see that a producer is one who produces something, either by finger or brain brought forth. He is helpless indeed who cannot produce something for the good of his country. If you cannot produce food, if you cannot be part of a manufacturing plant or if you cannot be a member of the war committees, you can wherever you are at work, produce a helpful thought, a stimulating influence or a patriotic conclusion. All work is primarily a mental product and while ideas are valueless unless materialized, yet give the man with the ideas credit for being a producer of the highest type.

"Second, after we have produced, then we must conserve, in other words keep from loss, decay or injury. Nothing must be wasted after we have produced it. It has consumed too much energy to produce it besides the fact that we need all that we have.

"And third, we must economize. I am inclined to believe that this is the greatest of the three. To economize means to use sparingly, to spend thriftily. The American people have been and still are individually and collectively an extravagant race. We must buy and use according to what we need rather than what we want. Let each day's purchase be made with that thought in mind. But above all let us economize time, strength and energy. Let there be no doubling or back tracking, no waste, commercially, industrially, educationally, or politically.

"Produce, conserve and economize and do it all for the glory of our country and for the winning of a righteous war."

Concrete On The Farm.

A large number of farmers who have attempted to put in some concrete improvements on their farms have met with rather indifferent success from the fact that the sand and gravel used has not been of a good quality or contained too much clay, loam and vegetable matter, and many of them have become discouraged and are not going ahead.

"Concrete if properly made is the best and most lasting improvement that can be put in," says Chas. G. McLain, farm advisor of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, "but considerable care must be taken to insure this long-lived property. Concrete pavements or sidewalks are not only a permanent improvement but a thing of beauty as well.

"The concrete improvements about the barn are also permanent and sanitary which is one of the most essential things particularly in a dairy barn. The concrete troughs and mangers are more sanitary than the wooden ones and insure the animals being sanitarly fed, as these troughs can easily be thoroughly cleaned at stated intervals or as often as necessary. Animals fed out of a trough of this kind get all the feed and that is not only a sanitary precaution but an economical one as well.

"Information for the putting in of concrete can easily be had from the Department in just the same lines as other work from the several Advisers. The farmers of Pennsylvania should take this matter up as it is going to mean dollars to them in the future."

D. Ralph Peck, agent and attorney in fact for the heirs of Martin L. Peck, deceased, will sell in front of the Court House in Hagerstown, between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock, p. m. on Tuesday, June 11, 1918, three valuable farms situate in Washington county, Md.

Pleasant Gathering

Mr. John Everts near Hancock who has been ill for a few weeks but is very slowly convalescing under the care of Dr. H. E. Tabler, was greatly surprised to see so many of his children grand-children and friends assembled at his home last Sunday who came to pay their respect to their father and friends. Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Everts of Lemaster Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Sam Everts, and daughter of Clearspring, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Everts, of Sylvan, Pa. Harry Everts, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hull and daughters Mary, Edith, Lela and Grace, Mr. and Mrs. Watson Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller, Miss Ruth Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Comer and two daughters, Lela and Viola, Mr. and Mrs. John Eader and two grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Funk, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson James and two sons, William and Roy, Isaac Miller of Ohio, Benjamin Weaver, Scott and Joe James, Mrs. Elwood Lanehart—making a total of 38 people, that assembled at the home. As the sun was nearing the mountain, most of the people went home wishing for Mr. Everts quick recovery.

A Good Laugh.

Encourage your child to be merry and to laugh aloud; a good, hearty laugh expands his chest and makes his blood bound merrily along. Commend me to a good laugh—not a little sniggering laugh but to that sounds through the house; it will not only do your child good; but will be a benefit to all who hear, and be an important means of driving the blues away from a dwelling. Merriment is very catching and spreads in a remarkable manner, few being able to resist the contagion. A hearty laugh is delightful harmony; indeed it is the best of all music.

The Thrice-A-Week Edition of the New York World in 1918

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price.

The value and need of a newspaper in the household was never greater than at the present time. We have been forced to enter the great world war and a large army of ours is already in France. You will want to have all the news from our troops on European battlefields, and this promises to be the most momentous year in the history of our country.

No other newspaper at so small a price will furnish such prompt and accurate news of these world-shaking events. It is not necessary to say more.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 14 pages. We offer this unequalled newspaper and THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS together for the one year for $2.15.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

WHAT IT IS.

This day to some is a beginning day,
This day to others the end;
When climbing the hill or mounting the top,
To God let us look and pray.

This world to some is a busy world,
This world to others repose;
By doing our best or reclining in ease,
This world is what it is.

This life to some is a joyous life,
This life to others a dream;
By enjoying our work or enduring our task,
This life is what it is.

This place to some is a Heavenly place,
This place to others a hell;
By exalting Thy praise or drifting the tide,
This place is what it is.

There was great work for the benefit of the Red Cross going on in our vicinity the past week.

A service flag has been placed in Center M. E. church in honor of our boys who have been taken to Camp.

Last Friday Mr. and Mrs. Jesse B. Heefner and daughter Olive motored to Alum Bank, Bedford County to visit Mr. Heefner's mother who is there with her daughter and son in law Rev. Edwin Swank. They ran a distance of 47 miles, spent six hours with Mr. Swank's, and returned home in good time in the evening making a travel of 94 miles. Oh! If you have a Ford, you are right in it.

Save Man Power.

Now, when saving farm labor is a matter of vital national concern, it is of the utmost importance that the use of large implements be generally adopted by those farmers who are still following the traditional 2-horse method on 3-horse or 5-horse farms. Last year many farmers, speeding up their work by more efficient methods, were able to increase their crop acreage in the face of a decrease in help. This practice must become more general, in the opinion of officials of the United States Department of Agriculture, if production of food is to be increased.

Not many years ago the majority of farmers drove 2-horse teams. This practice is still common in these sections of the country, while in others larger machines and teams of large size are used. That the latter practice can be increased to the advantage of the farmer as well as to the Nation seems certain. If such practice, desirable at all times, is adopted where present conditions demand, in all probability it will become habitual when normal conditions are restored.
