P. F. Black, prop. piano mill, says: "While at work I slipped and wrenched my back badly. After that I had severe pains across my loins and my back often got lame and sore. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Trout's Drug Store and they soon gave me relief."
Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Black had. Foster-Milburn Co., Prps, Buffalo, N. Y.

HUSTONTOWN.

These are busy times. Of course, some people are running on high, others, on low, while others are waiting for a car to come along and pick them up. Many of us are eating corn to save the wheat. Others are afraid corn will injure their stomachs or complexions. If this unholly war continues, many a stomach will be glad to welcome a corn cake or a bowl of mush and milk.

A majority of our farmers are exerting every effort to produce a maximum of foodstuff; for, if the millions of boys that have been, are being, and will be, sent to the front to stay the onward progress of the savage Huns, they must not be permitted to charge us with not giving them enough to eat. While most of our good people are wide awake to the gravity of the situation, and are giving of their means and of their time, there are a few, who are transposing that good old hymn and singing to the top of their voices, while others fight to win the prize, and sail through bloody seas; I'll take a squint at the German skies, upon a bed of sweet peas."

A play was given in the P. O. S. A. Hall last Saturday evening, entitled the "Southern Cinderella" by the following girls: Mayme Wink, Jean Strain, Roxey Downes, Edith Reeder, Frances Lamberson, Ethel Wink, and Mrs. Harry Lamberson under the tutelage of Miss Margaret Kirk. The play was well rendered and a credit to the community. Miss Kirk entertained the audience by reciting several suitable selections. She is a fine elocutionist and entertainer, and her efforts were much appreciated and greatly enjoyed by all who heard her. The writer feels justified in the assertion that Fulton County possesses talent that cannot be excelled; yet through a spirit of jealousy, pride, self-righteousness and autocracy, we are allowing that talent to hidden under a bushel. This play was given in the interest of the Red Cross and netted $31.00. Although the principles in this play met with opposition by a few knockers of whom there is no record of their ever having given one cent or even sympathy to the Red Cross, the play was thoroughly enjoyed by the rank and file of our citizens.

Mr. W. M. Patterson of Pittsburgh, spent last Saturday and Sunday in the home of his parents, Hon. and Mrs. D. H. Patterson.

Late War News.

The last week has been a momentous period in the present great war. The breathing spell taken by the Germans was followed by a most terrific drive and the lines of the allies were forced back twenty-five miles in three days. The river Marne was reached, and the Huns were within 45 miles of Paris. Being within 45 miles of Paris, and being in Paris, is distinctively two things. American troops have been introduced and during the past three days the Huns have been held in check, and it is believed that the worst is over. It is now, or never, with the Germans, and they know it, and they are making a most desperate effort, the outcome of which cannot, at this time, be surely forecast.

What is more alarming to America is the fact that the German U-boat has made its appearance on the Atlantic coast of the United States, and according to latest reports from the Secretary of the Navy, we have lost sixteen vessels, within the last ten days. The ports of New York and Boston have been closed, and the city of New York has been ordered to do with as little light at night as they can get along with; for it is possible for the U-boats to become starting points for German airplanes that would drop bombs on our coast cities.

For the first time in the four years of this terrible war, it can be said that it is at our door. We have faith in the ultimate outcome, but we cannot tell just how much we will have to suffer before the end is reached.

A Tribute to the Boys of '61 and 1918.

W. S. CLEVELINGER.

Our boys they have left us—so brave and so true
Today they are fighting the Hun;
Safely we trust them to carry us through
As our boys of SIXTY-ONE.

To save our flag—Old Glory
That's why they have shouldered the gun
Handed down through the years the same story,
How you saved it in SIXTY-ONE.

Mid the din and the roar of battle today
They will never give up till it's won,
They have the same spirit, and fight the same way
As our heroes of SIXTY-ONE.

While our thoughts are with our boys away,
In a war, perhaps just begun,
Our hearts go out to you today—
To our boys of SIXTY-ONE.

To you who are left, though aged and gray,
As you march to the muffled drum,
We honor you now and this tribute we pay
To your comrades, of SIXTY ONE.

One by one as you pass away
And God whispers to you "Well Done"
You Boys of Blue, and the Boys of Gray
Will meet your comrades of SIXTY-ONE.

But down through the years, this day we shall keep
And as we gather the flowers of May,
We will hallow each mound wherever you sleep
For saving our U. S. A.

FIGHTING SPIRIT STRONG IN FARMERS

Dairy Director Hogue Says He Has Never Met a Pacifist Among Them.

Have you ever met a farmer pacifist? The chances are you have not. An any rate, George E. Hogue, director of the Dairy Bureau of the New York state department of farms and markets, says that he has met none, although he has very wide acquaintance among men in agricultural lines. Mr. Hogue said:

"I have been familiar with farming conditions all my life, and my acquaintance with the farmers leads me to believe that as large a proportion are truly patriotic as those engaged in other professions. I have yet to meet the first farmer pacifist. I believe them to be as deeply interested in winning the war as any body of men in our nation. I am confident that every farmer who is able will buy Liberty Bonds, and I am sure many of them who are best qualified would gladly act on the committees in their respective counties and towns.

"The farmers have met with many disappointments and discouragements resulting from the unsettled war conditions, and their patience in many instances has been sorely tried. But he, with all others, has learned to bear with these things as incidents of warfare. The last season he demonstrated that he could increase production even with the shortage of labor that existed, the increase in some products being so great that instead of a scarcity there is today found to be a real surplus. I believe he will again the coming season more than do his bit in raising food and will also respond readily in purchasing Liberty Bonds. I know of no safer investment."

LIBERTY LOAN FUNDS SAVE SOLDIERS' LIVES

A large part of the money raised by the Third Liberty Loan will be spent on barrages. A barrage is a curtain of fire put down over a battlefield by guns of all calibre.

Figures have been supplied to the United States war department showing the cost of the British barrage on the Meuse-Wyschete ridge in June, 1917, over a front of 11,000 yards. The British reported that the number of their casualties was small considering the magnitude of the operation.

In six days' preparatory bombardment 1,250,541 shells were fired at a cost of $43,164,535; on the seventh day, when the attack was made, 707,834 shells were fired, costing $20,424,700, making a total of 1,958,375 shells, costing $63,589,235.

Without adequate barrage preparation the lives of American troops would be endlessly wasted at the front. Liberty dollars invested in barrages will save them.
