SUCCUMBED TO HEAVY ODDS With Eleven to One Against Him,

Country Constable Was Willing to Give Up the Fight. Reference at a dinner party was made to the trials and tribulations that occasionally fall to the lot of the motorist, when this little anecdote was recalled by Representative Horace M. Towner of Iown: One afternoon a motorist was whiz-sing along an unfamiliar highway in the West when a country constable appeared in the road with an uplifted "What's the trouble?" asked the motorist, bringing his car to a stop, "What do you want?" "Very sorry," answered the constable, 'but you were going at the rate of fifty miles an hour, and I will have to arrest you." "You are wrong, my friend," declared the motorist. "I wasn't doing my better than twenty-five miles an hour, and here is a ten-dollar bill to back up what I say." "All right," returned the constable with an air of resignation, as the ten was transferred, "With eleven to one against me, I nin't going to take no chances on bein' called down by the fustice o' peace."-Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

His Forgetfulness Costly. Miscalculation on the part of an English baronet landed him in tropble and the toils of the law at the same

As appears from the London press the Rev. Sir Douglas Edward Scott, Bart, who, in his fifty-fourth year, chese to take to wife a restaurant waitress might have succeeded in concealing from the interested authorities the important fact that a former-bride was still living.

The mistake the baronet made was in purchasing a varied outfit for the new wife, declaring it to be for Lady Scott. The store innocently enough, knew only one Lady Scott, the first and up-tothat-time only wife of the baronet, and delivered the clothing to her address. From the newspaper accounts the taste of the waitress-bride was not Lady Scott's taste, and inquiries fol-

His Turn to Command.

"Stand easy dad!" was the unusual command received, by a man at Grimsby England, the other day. An elderly man, who is a corporal in the Lincoinshire regiment, and who has been on active service, returned home on leave. He was met by his son, who went straight into the force from Charterhouse school, and obtained a commission. The returned father gravely saluted the boy, and the latter smilingly retorted: "Stand easy,

Honey and Waffies

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE Moody Bible Institute,

TEXT-And the taste of it was like wa-

After their wonderful deliverance it the Red sea, one would suppose. that the people would never murmur again, but hardly were they through singing their song of deliverance before they began to complain of their privations, and long for the flesh pots of Egypt. What was God's answer? Honey and waffles for breakfast, and quail broffed, fried or fricassed for dinner. The manna was round and white like waftes and had the taste of honey (Ex.

This story Illumines like a searchfight the duty of daily Bible rending, for while the manna answered their objections, and assured them of God's protection and care, it was also to be a test of their obedience.

I. It must be gathered freshly each day. It would not keep until morning, much less could one gather a week's supply on a single day. Neither will half a dozen chapters read on Sunday suffice for our spiritual needs all the

II. Each person must gather the manna for himself. No foraging squad could gather for the whole tribe any more than the pastors of a city can gather the spiritual food needed by their congregations. There is a blessing in the gathering which the individual cannot afford to miss.

III. The manna was suited to the needs of all. The strong and the weak, the aged and the young, found It alike suited to their tastes and needs. And this manna diet was furnished by God during all the forty years of their wandering in the wilderness. No wonder they called it "bread from heaven" and "angel's food"-for so it was,

IV. One peculiarity of their supernatural food was this, that when they came to measure what they had gathered, the most enger and industrious had nothing over, and the feeble had no lack.

This was certainly miraculous. But no more so than the way in which God illumines the Word and applies it to our daily needs.

A minister once told me that he returned from vacation with a heavy heart. He was nearly sixty, and not strong physically. He seemed to have no message for his people, and he felt that he ought to resign. One morning at devotions he read, The Lord shall incre and more." He caught a glimpse of the boundless resources of grace and glory which God had in store for him. He cried out: "Oh! wife, I haven't got to go, after all." When she asked what the verse meant, he said: "Don't you see? It means that an old minister with a new experience is better for a church than a new minister with an old experience." It was easy then to take up the work, and the last I knew he was serving God successfully in the same church. For devotional uses the Psalms are perhaps the best, because they cover so wide a range of experience. In the morning read Ps. 19, and at evening Ps. 8. If you are going on a journey, Ps. 121 is appropriate.

The Gospels also are excellent for devotional reading, because there we come in contact with the words and works of Jesus. We see how he lived in the home and by the wayside, in the carpenter's shop, and by the open grave. We see him in public life and and in private ministry, always the same, never hurried, never worried, always thinking of others and never of himself. We see him playing with the children, watching the hens in the dooryard, and the birds on the trees, the growing grain and fading flowers. In everything he saw God's love and care, and from all things natural he drew some spiritual lesson for his own or others' comfort.

If it be asked how much one should read at a time for devotional purposes, I answer: Rend until your heart burns. You may read a chapter or a book or a single verse, but read, if you can, until you are consciously in touch with God, and then with the Father's morning kiss upon your lips, you are ready to meet the outside

Some people feel that they cannot spare time for the morning watch, but I question whether any child of God can afford to do without it. Our souls need to be fed daily as well as our bodies, and the Bible is the soul's prop-

It is a good plan when one has read a chapter to ask oneself:

1. What is the subject of this chap-

2. Is there any example in it for me to follow? 3. Any error for me to avoid?

4. Any duty for me to perform? 5. Any promise for me to claim?

6. Any prayer for me to offer? And remember that one verse of Scripture committed to memory, and really believed or obeyed, is worth and without thought.

Cloud Within a Rainbow.

"There may be a cloud without a rainbow," someone has said, "but there can never be a rainbow without a cloud." The clouds of life bring the bow of God's promise, if the 'dark ways in which we are called to walk are the ways in which he has set us, and not those into which we wander through our own perversity and folly

I. Judas' Bargain With the Chief Priests (vv. 10, 11).

This black crime was committed immediately following the beautiful act of devotion by Mary. The mofive actuating Judas was avarice. This awful depth of infamy was not reached at a bound. Because he did not muster this besetting sin at the beginning, he was conquered by it.

II. The Last Passover (vv. 12-25). 1. The preparation (vv. 12-16). In reply to the disciples' inquiry as to where they should prepare the Passover for him, Jesus teld them to go into the city where they would meet a man bearing a pitcher of water, whom they should follow. In the house to which they were thus led would be found a guest chamber -n large upper room-where they could make ready the Passover, This is an example of Christ's superhuman knowledge. He not only knew that the disciples would meet this man, but he knew that Judas had bargained with the priests for his betrayal. For this reason he kept secret the location of the upper room, thus preventing interruption by those into whose hands Judas had betrayed the Lord. 2. The betrayal announced (vv. 17-21). The betrayal was to be by one of the disciples who was eating with Jesus, This betrayal had been predicted, though such prediction did not interfere with the free act of Judas in the betrayal. It was because of this act of treachery being freely committed by Judas that Jesus pronounced upon him the awful doom-"Good were it for that man if he had never been born."

3. The brend and the cup instituted

(vv. 22-25). These were symbols of his broken body and shed blood, by which he made atonement for man's sins, thus ratifying the new covenant. This is not only a memorial service, but has a forward look to the perfected Kingdom of God which shall be ushered in with the coming of the Son of God. III. The Disciples' Cowardice Foretold (vv. 26-31). In spite of their cowardly turning from the Saviour, he assures them that after his resurrection he would go before them into Galilee. Peter protested against such act of disloyalty by the disciples, and assured the Lord that though all the rest should forsake him, yet he would not. The Lord showed him how little he knew even of his own best resolve, telling him that on that very night he would deny him thrice. All the disciples said the same thing. IV. The Agony in Gethsemane (vr.

The clear vision of the coming anguish of the Cross, accentuated by the utter failure of the disciples to understand or believe, brought upon him an indescribable anguish of soil, so he took Peter, James, and John and went apart to pray. The cup of agony was not mere death, but the sacrificial death for sin, under the weight of the world's guilt.

1. The first prayer (vv. 35-38). Notwithstanding the darkness of the hour, he prayed in faith accompanied with a willingness to obey. When he came and found the three sleeping instead of praying, he commanded them to watch and pray so as to be fortified against temptation.

2. The second prayer (vv. 39-48). He went apart and uttered the same words, and upon his return found the disciples asleep again. 3. The third prayer (vv. 41, 42). When he came the third time and found the disciples asleep, he announced that the Son of Man was betrayed, and that the betrayer was at hand. V. The Betrayal and Arrest of Jesus (vv. 43-52), 1. The sign to the mob (vv. 43-47). With the basest of hypocrisy Judas pointed out Jesus to the mob by a kiss, the sign of love.

2. Jesus forsaken by all (vv. 48-52). At the sight of the Master's betrayal and arrest, one of his disciples attempted to defend him by resorting to the sword; but seeing that Jesus made no attempt at resistance, they all fled. Their courage failed them in the hour of trial. How little man knows of his weaknesses until the crucial hour. VI. Jesus Before the Sanhedrin (vv. 53-65);

1. Contradictory testimony of false witnesses (vv. 53-59). High Priest's Questions: (vv. 60-65). (1) "What is it that these witness against thee?" To this Jesus was silent, showing that no evidence had yet been given worthy of answer. (2) "Art thou the Christ?" To this he definitely replied: "I am" more than a whole book read hastily and quotes a Scripture passage which they recognize as referring to the Messiah: This claim they answer with buffeting and the most shameful treatment. VII. Peter Denies Lord (vv. 66-72). Though Peter loves Jesus, yet in the hour of supreme trial he falls. Grievous as his sin is, it is not like that of Judas. His failure was due to

1. Bonsting self-defense (vv. 29-31). 2. Lack of watchfulness (v. 37). 8. Neglect of prayer (v. 38).

4. Service in the energy of the flesh (v. 47).

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression - and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's "Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthline.
