Notice to School Boards.

When the question of the election of teachers and other school employes for the next term is under consideration, it is important that there be no misunderstanding in reference to the provision of the State School Employe's Retirement Act.

The employment of teachers who are nearing the retirement age does not in any way affect the amount of the contribution which a local school district will later make to the retirement fund.

The contribution which the local school district will make to the retirement fund is based upon the amount contributed by the teachers employed in that district, and is not affected by the number of employes retired while in the service of the district. The amount contributed to the retirement fund by the local district is approximately one-half of the amount contributed by the teachers of that district.

It is a mistake to avoid the employment of teachers who are near the retirement age if they are qualified to teach. Such teachers will be retired when eligible for retirement and no school district in the State will contribute more or less to the retirement fund because of their retirement.

All contributions to the retirement fund are based upon the salaries of teachers who are in active service, and not upon the number who are retired.

Respectfully yours,
B. H. BAISH, Sec'y.

The Blind May Read.

The Pennsylvania Home Teaching Society and Free Circulating Library for the Blind is the pioneer Home Teaching Society in the United States.

Established in 1882 by the late Dr. William Moon inventor of the "Moon," embossed print for the blind.

Sends teachers to visit and teach the blind in their homes or in public institutions.

Lessons are given free of charge, embossed books are loaned free of charge and free postage both ways from the Society's library which is deposited in the Department for the Blind of the Free Library of Philadelphia.

Last year the circulation of embossed books was 29,576 in all types of embossed print, 21,245 of these were in the "Moon" type which is peculiarly adapted to the needs of the adult blind to whom the services of the teachers are given.

Miss Mary D. Dungan one of the teachers is now in Fulton County, she will travel through the county to locate and teach all who wish to learn. Not long ago Miss Dungan taught a pupil eighty-six years old in three lessons.

About two thirds of those visited are over fifty years of age.

As twenty-one years is usually the age limit for admission into schools for the blind it is only through Home Teaching that the adult blind can be reached and taught. Many learn the "Moon" type in one or two lessons. Miss Dungan has already thoroughly visited through the following counties—Chester, Montgomery, Bucks, Berks, Delaware, Carbon, Lancaster, York, Cumberland, Franklin, Adams and Huntingdon.

By sending the names of any blind persons in Fulton County to Miss Mary D. Dungan, General Delivery, McConnellsburg, Pa., you will be giving them an opportunity to once more enjoy the pleasure of reading. Office of the Society, -617 Witherspoon Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

Notice To Dealers and Consumers of Sugar.

Mr. Hoover has, of necessity, been again compelled to appeal to the country for the adoption of most drastic measures looking to the conservation of sugar to the utmost possible extent.

The extensive withdrawal of our coast-wise shipping for trans-Atlantic war trade and the recent submarine activities on this side of the ocean, from which our sugar carrying ships have been the chief sufferers, have greatly reduced our supply, and even threatens to cut it off entirely.

You will, accordingly, put into effect immediately a regulation restricting the trade in sugar, for ordinary use, of a maximum of two pounds to town and city consumers, and five pounds to consumers residing in rural districts.

The sale of a maximum of two-ty five pounds, on signed certificates, for home preserving, will be continued as a means of saving the fruit crop from loss and providing winter stores; but this provision should be carefully supervised and regulated to insure against abuses and the public should be urged to employ drying and cold pack processes requiring a minimum of sugar, as far as practicable.

Hotels, restaurants, clubs and public eating places of all kinds, are required henceforth to remove all sugar bowls or other common receptacles for sugar from tables and to serve sugar in individual portions exclusively. Individual service is limited to one-half ounce or two lumps per person with tea and coffee, and one ounce maximum, per person, with cereals and fresh fruits. Also to use no sugar for other decorative purposes, or for making sherbets and water ices.

It is presumably understood that you will issue no more sugar distribution certificate to manufacturers until further advised on this subject and, in the meantime, you should inform the public, in making your appeal for voluntary family conservation, that the "Less essential" sugar-using industries, like confectioners and soft-drink makers, have already been cut down to about half their normal supply with prospects of still further reduction after July first.

The Rules and Regulations here set forth should be given the widest publicity at once, and you are charged with their strict enforcement in all cases. Prompt and vigorous action will be taken against all violators.

In appealing for voluntary conservation in the home, our people should constantly bear in mind the thought that it is better to save now at some slight inconvenience than go entirely without sugar later on.

This is a subject in which the interest of the Woman's Division of your organization should be especially enlisted with a view to carrying on through its members an extensive propaganda among the women of the community, for it is through woman's influence that the best results are always secured in home conservation movements.

I am confident that, with a full realization of the situation, the people of Pennsylvania will patriotically rise to the occasion and do their full part as they have so loyally done in support of all our war measures.

Yours very truly,
HOWARD HEINZ,

Federal Food Administrator for Pennsylvania.

John R. Jackson,
Federal Food Administrator for Fulton County.

Will You Work to Help Win the War?

This county has lost much farm labor in the last year or two. So has the next county, and the next State. The condition is Nationwide.

Every person in this county who is physically able to in any way assist the farmers during harvest and who is not already engaged in farm work, or who has not promised to help some farmer during harvest, but who is willing to help during harvest on the farms, is asked to send his name to the undersigned, together with his address and the community in which he wishes to work. Give your age and the nature of work you can do, and whether you can work a whole day or only part of the day. Each small town in the county should immediately organize a Harvest Club to be made up of men who are willing to go out and help the farmers in the community to harvest and care for the grain, should any farmer be short of help and have to call for assistance. We must save the grain. Are you willing to help if the farmer cannot do it?

JOHN R. JACKSON,
County Farm Labor Manager.

Mrs. W. H. Deshong and daughters Blanche, Bernadine and Madeline, accompanied by Mrs. Charlie Deshong of Harrisonville, were callers at the NEWS office yesterday afternoon.
