

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured. Baltimore, Md.—'Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me.'

Temperance Notes (Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.) GOOD-BY, JOHN BARLEYCORN. Rocked in the cradle of the deep, They put King Booze away to sleep; Secure he rests beneath the wave, The water wagon o'er his grave. His reign on earth was long and sweet, They rolled him in his winding sheet; His red complexion soon will fade, The earth is full of graves he made. The bar is closed for lack of trade, Old Barleycorn is in the shade; His end-eyed vendors look amazed, They're standing round the corner dazed; For father's week-end cash, hard-earned, To decent channels now is turned, And mother's glad to hear the news, The kiddies get new boots and shoes; They now can travel wide and far, No mortgage on the motor car. —Emma H. Chase, in B. of L. F. and B. Magazine.

The Christian Hope By REV. L. W. GOSNELL, Assistant Dean, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago. TEXT—Remembering without ceasing your work of faith, and labor of love, and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ. . . . Ye turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God; and to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from the wrath to come.—1 Thessalonians 1:3, 9, 10. These verses set forth the three principal graces of the Christian life—faith, love and hope. Moreover, they indicate the outcome of these graces. The first verse speaks of the Thessalonians' "work of faith, and labor of love, and patience of hope." It is evident, then, that faith works. There is no conflict between Paul's doctrine of faith and James' doctrine of works. The kind of faith Paul insisted upon produces the kind of works James required. However, we believe Paul refers in the text to the very beginning of faith, as when Jesus says: "This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent" (John 6:29).

WOMEN FARMING IN WESTERN CANADA Success Has Followed All Their Efforts. On the train from Edmonton to Winnipeg the writer took a seat beside a soldier who had returned from the front. On his breast he wore the beautiful distinguished service medal. One coat sleeve was armless, and on his left cheek he bore a scar that he would carry to his grave. He had served his country faithfully and well. At the first call for soldiers in August, 1914, he hastened to the recruiting office, leaving his 320-acre farm, with its crop ready for harvest, a full equipment of farm implements, plenty of horses, and a wife. "The wife should not be last on the list for she proved the master of the situation, and loyally took hold of the question of production, while her husband was on his way to fight the Hun. And she succeeded. In 1915 she succeeded, and again in 1916, and when her husband returned in 1917 she was able to show some contemplated farm buildings completed, the indebtedness of the farm paid off, a considerable addition to the stock, and the land ready for a 1917 crop. This was the story told by the soldier, and wasn't he a proud man! He was now ready to do what he could to keep up the period of prosperity and provide food for the allies. The women of Canada have done nobly during the struggle. Among the most successful farmers of the Oak Lake district, Manitoba, are the Misses Clara and Beatrice Forward, who, for the past fourteen years, have farmed their own land, doing all the regular work on the farm, such as plowing, seeding, summer fallowing and reaping. They have been especially successful with stock, and have a splendid herd of short-horns, both purebred and grade. At the recent Brandon sale they purchased a new purebred stock bull for $700. Their herd was last year increased by 23 calves. Miss R. M. Hillman of Keeler, Saskatchewan, is another successful woman farmer. She has gone in extensively for grain growing, and farms 1,120 acres. She also owns some of the finest Percheron horses in Saskatchewan. The prairie now boasts of many women who have had more or less success, though few are farming on the same large scale as Miss Hillman and the Misses Forward. These women have demonstrated, and are still demonstrating, that a versatile woman can be just as good and successful a farmer as her brother. There are other women, too, on the Canadian prairie, who, though they have not had thrown upon them the responsibilities of "running a farm," have been decided factors in making the farm a success. They assist their husbands by keeping the farm accounts, reducing the grocer's bills by their management of the poultry and butter, taking care of the house, and, very often, proving good advisers in the economic management of the men and general conduct of the farm work. The man who moves to Canada carries with him a wonderful asset in a good managing wife.—Advertisement.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By REV. E. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.) LESSON FOR JULY 21 PRAYING TO GOD. LESSON TEXT—Psalm 145:19, Luke 11:1-13. GOLDEN TEXT—Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need.—Hebrews 4:16. DEVOTIONAL READING—Luke 11:5-13. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL FOR TEACHERS—Psalm 57:4-5; Matthew 7:7-11; II Corinthians 12:9; James 4:3-8. PRIMARY MEMORY VERSE—Jehovah is high unto all them that call upon him.—Psalm 145:13. STORY MATERIAL—Matthew 14:23-25; Acts 12:1-2. INTERMEDIATE, SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—Why and how to pray and the results. Prayer ought to be a matter of great concern to every believer, for the Lord is high unto all them that truly call upon him; he will fulfil the desire of them that fear him; he will hear their cry and will save them (Psalm 145:18, 19). Prayer is a matter but little understood by Christians; in fact, only as divine aid is given can we really pray. The range of prayer is from the depths of the soul to the very thoughts of God. There was something about the praying of Jesus that so impressed the disciples that they requested him to teach them to pray (Luke 11:1). We nowhere read of them asking him to teach them how to preach. Praying is more important than preaching. No one is fit to teach or preach who does not know how to pray. May each one enroll at once in the school of prayer with Christ as our teacher. He is a most willing and capable teacher. In response to the disciples' request he outlines the following principles of prayer: I. The Right Relationship of the One Praying (Luke 11:2). This relationship is set forth in the words "Our Father." 1. Filial—"Father." In order to pray to God, the supplicant must be a child of God. God is a father; his gifts and blessings are for his children. This relationship can only be entered into through regeneration. Not all men have a right to say, "Our Father" when addressing God. Only those who are children of God by faith in Jesus Christ can so address him. It is not only professing to be children but living like God's children. Those who have God's nature will express that fact in their manner of living. Children have rights and privileges which are denied to others. Representatives of the highest courts of earth must abide the time of formal entrance into the presence of the president of the United States, while his children can come freely in an informal way into his presence. 2. Fraternal—"Our Father." God has more than one child. His children are bound up together in nature and interests. Even in our secret prayer we should address him as Our Father, which is a recognition of the interests of others, alongside of ours. II. The Right Attitude in Prayer (Luke 11:2). 1. Reverent adoration. As children we have certain privileges, and yet holy reverence becomes us. We should hallow his name; we should adore him as the eternal God. 2. Loyalty. When praying to God we should come with the spirit of loyalty which cries out, "Thy kingdom come." We should not only receive him as the Lord of our lives, but should dedicate our lives to the bringing in of the rule of God in the earth. 3. Submission—"Thy will be done." We should have no will of our own regarding the rule of God. We should let him direct us in all things. III. The Right Spirit (Luke 11:3-8). 1. Dependent Faith—"Give us our daily bread" (v. 3). We should realize that not only what we have, but life itself is ours to enjoy because of him, and that he is able to do for us exceedingly abundantly above all that we ask or think. 2. Penitence and Love—"Forgive us our debts" (v. 9). We should come to him realizing that we have sinned, and cry unto him for forgiveness. Our hearts should be so filled with love for others that we will forgive those who sinned against us as God is willing to forgive us. 3. Holiness and Caution—"Lead us not into temptation" (v. 4). Because we are God's children and realizing the depravity of our natures, and the consequent tendency to practice that which displeases him, we should shrink from that which, if indulged in, would dishonor him, and earnestly cry unto him to lead us not into the place where we would likely fall. 4. Intercessory (vv. 5, 6). The man who asked for bread did not ask for himself, but for a friend. Prayer which pleases God is unselfish in its requests. It takes in the needs of all those in need, rather than those of the one praying. Doubtless he would have gone hungry all the night for himself without asking for bread, but was willing to inconvenience his friend for the sake of another friend. 5. Perseverance (vv. 7, 8). Though his friend refused at first and offered excuse, because he would not take no for an answer, he arose from his bed and give him as many as he needed. Prayer which pleases God and gets results is importunate, perseveres until the object is achieved, are to give good gifts to their children. IV. Encouragement to Pray (Luke 11:9-13). 1. God's promise (vv. 9, 10). True prayer cannot fail of an answer, because God definitely promises that every one that asketh receiveth, he that knocketh it shall be opened. 2. The example of an earthly father (vv. 11-13).

LIFT OFF CORNS! Drop Freezezone on a touchy corn, then lift that corn off with fingers. Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic! No humbug! Wings of riches may enable a man to fly from his poor relations. Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills contain potent but vegetable ingredients, which act gently as a tonic and purgative. Adv. For every man who is willing to lift you will find a dozen who cheerfully stand around and grunt. Get New Kidneys! The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human body, and when they fail in their work of filtering out and passing off the poisons developed in the system, things begin to happen. One of the first warnings is pain or stiffness in the lower part of the back; highly colored urine; loss of appetite; indigestion, irritation, or even stone in the bladder. These symptoms indicate a condition that may lead to that dreaded and fatal ailment, Bright's disease, for which there is said to be no cure. Do not delay a minute. At the first indication of trouble in the kidney, liver, bladder or urinary organs, start taking Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules, and give yourself before it is too late. Instant relief is necessary in kidney and bladder troubles. A delay is often fatal. You can almost certainly find immediate relief in Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules. For more than 200 years this famous preparation has been an unfailing remedy for all kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It is the pure, original Haarlem Oil your grand-mother used. About two capsules each day will keep you toned up and feeling fine. Get it at any drug store, and if it does not give you almost immediate relief, your money will be refunded. Be sure you get the GOLD MEDAL brand. None other genuine. In boxes, three for one.—Adv. Always Downward. The late James Gordon Bennett, during his last winter sojourn on the Riviera, halted his automobile to talk to an American journalist. "I think," the journalist said, "that I'll give up journalism and join one of the Y. M. C. A. squadrons." "Don't do it," said Mr. Bennett. "Stick to journalism. You'll do better work writing against the Boches than preaching or psalm-singing against them. If you were young enough to fight, I'd speak differently, of course." "Every man," Mr. Bennett ended, "should stick steadily to his trade, remembering that a rolling stone not only gathers no moss, but it also goes down hill."

LABOR PAYS THE TAXES. The statement made by the brewers that national prohibition "would produce anger, resentment and disaffection among millions of American workers" was forcefully disposed of by Senator Jones of Washington in the amendment debate in the United States senate. He said: "It is a base libel upon American workmen. They are as loyal and patriotic a class as we have. They will make the greatest sacrifices for their country, and surely they will resent this base slander. Labor protests against its unjust burdens. It complains of the smallness of its share of the proceeds of its toil, but does it realize how it is being used to its own detriment by the liquor traffic? Does it realize that the liquor interests are seeking to place upon it a tremendous tax burden for the years to come? They pay to the government two or three hundred millions in taxes. From whom does this come? Not from the pockets of the saloon man, the brewer, or distiller, but largely from the pockets of the laborer. What do the liquor interests propose to do now? They magnanimously accept an increase in their taxes. They say they will cheerfully pay four or five hundred millions in taxes to the government. Where will they get this amount? From the laborer. Of course they are glad to pay if some one will put up the money. How does labor like this cheerful imposition of two or three hundred millions additional taxes upon its earnings?" ACCIDENTS AND DRINK. Sixty-five business firms of New York have joined in publishing large advertisements in a campaign against death and disability by accidents. One of these advertisements is devoted entirely to the liquor question. Included among the business houses is that of Erie railroad, the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, the Ansonia Clock company, the Savage Arms company, Thomas A. Edison, the American Car and Foundry company, and others equally conspicuous. This ad devoted to accidents and their relationship to alcohol says: "KEEP YOUR FOOT OFF THE BARROOM RAIL—AND KEEP YOUR NAME OFF THIS ACCIDENT LIST. 'SPEND YOUR TIME OUT OF SALOONS—AND YOU WON'T SPEND TIME IN A HOSPITAL. 'YOU CAN'T HAVE A CLEAR HEAD AND CLEAR EYES—YOU CAN'T HAVE THE STEADY HANDS AND FEET YOU NEED IF YOU TAKE JUST 'ONE (?) DRINK' BEFORE OR AFTER WORK. 'ONE MORE DRINK OFTEN MEANS ONE MAN LESS; THEREFORE, QUIT NOW—OR YOU MAY HAVE TO QUIT LATER.' A STRUGGLE ALL UNNECESSARY. "The great load of misgiving in the mother's heart when her boy leaves home to make his own way in the world," says Mr. Bryan, "would give way to joyous hope were the saloon removed from the path that he must tread—if he could go into the world with no danger of temptation from this menace to mind, morals and life. "The most pathetic struggle this world knows is not the struggle between armed men upon the battlefields; it is the struggle of a mother to save her child from the traps men set for it."

How is a Soldier or Sailor Saved? There is great need of insisting on the necessity of faith in Christ to the beginning of the Christian life. Men have always been prone to put their own efforts in the place of Christ and faith in him. This temptation arises today in a new form in the case of our brave soldiers and sailors. It is easy to believe the lie of Satan, that if they die for their country it assures them a safe entrance into heaven. We would not say one word which would suggest lack of appreciation for the heroic deeds of our fighting men. But it is no kindness to delude them with a false hope, especially when a solid hope in Christ is offered so freely by God. It requires more than physical death to atone for sin. Even in the case of our Lord, his physical sufferings on the cross, dreadful as they were, were not the chief element in his atoning work. His cry, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" suggests an anguish of soul which we cannot fathom. Indeed, he seems to have experienced something of that sense of desertion by God which enters into the final doom of the lost. But now, having spoken of that faith in Christ which begins the Christian life, Paul goes on to speak of the "labor of love." Love tells us when faith might pause. The New Testament Hope. Finally, he refers to the "patience of hope" that is, its endurance under trial. Even love ceases to labor if its task seems endless, and here is where the value of hope is seen. Especially does the hope of Christ's personal coming inspire patience, and doubtless it is this hope which is here referred to. Indeed, Bishop Moule maintains that wherever "hope" is used in the Greek Testament with the article (as it is here) it refers to "that blessed hope" of Christ's appearing. The apostle speaks of the same elements of the Christian life in the remaining verses of the text. For example, he says: "Ye turned to God from idols;" to turn to an unseen God from idols, which they could see, was a "work of faith." Then the Thessalonians began "to serve the living and true God," which corresponds to the "labor of love." Finally, they learned "to wait for his Son from heaven," corresponding to "the patience of hope." A Lack in Christians of Today. Converts in the present day exhibit the first two elements, "the work of faith" and "the labor of love," but seem deficient usually in the last element, "the patience of hope." We do not deny they have a hope of a future life, but they do not usually learn "to wait for his Son from heaven," which was the distinctive hope of the early church. Our conviction in this matter is borne out by the testimony of a great New Testament scholar, Prof. James Donney of Scotland. He says: "It (the second coming) was the great object of Christian hope. Christians not only believed Christ would come again; they not only expected him to come; they were eager for his coming. 'How long, O Lord?' they cried in their distress. 'Come, Lord Jesus, come quickly;' was their prayer." He adds, "It is a matter of notoriety that hope in this sense does not hold its ancient place in the heart of the church." Discovery of Some Chinese Christians. But it does not require the learning of the scholar to see the place occupied by Christ's coming in the hope of the early Christians. The simplest reader of the New Testament must perceive this. A missionary from China reported that all the native Christians in her district were waiting for God's Son from heaven. Some one inquired who had taught them this doctrine. "No one," she replied, "they have the New Testament in their hands and have seen it for themselves." Why has this hope been so largely lost in the church? Several answers might be given, but one is that there has been a misapprehension in the whole matter. The coming of Christ is associated in most minds with judgment and wrath, and we naturally do not dwell upon it as so conceived. But there is certainly something wrong with this conception, for the New Testament speaks of the appearing of the Savior as "that blessed hope." True, Christ's coming will bring judgment and wrath to his foes, but our text tells us that God's Son will deliver his people from "the wrath to come." Hence, as Philippians 3:20 puts it, we "look for the Savior," rather than the Judge, and certainly we should be among those who "love his appearing."

Merely Readjustment. Who will make up the revenue lost through national prohibition? It will come from the same place that it comes from now, out of the pockets of the people.
