Y. W. C. A.

Seeing one's real life, American base ball games is thrilling, of course, but walking six miles to an American camp with high heeled shoes on is an argument for low heels. So French girls may give up their three inch high French heels.

It's all because the War Work Council of the Y. W. C. A. has sent over recreational experts to introduce hiking and out of door sports of all kinds among French munitions workers. Such work was unknown in France and that is why the French women's committee asked the American Y. W. C. A. to go over to start it. Now French girls are learning to play basket ball, to go on ten mile hikes, to relax and play a bit after their working hours that they may better stand the strain of war and of working from 7 in the morning until 7 at night.

In the big industrial centers where the Y. W. C. A. has opened "Foyers des Allies" home places where workers may go to rest, to write, to listen to music, and to eat, recreational fields are also being opened. At Tours where there are several foyers for women workers, a part of an island in the Loire has been secured as a recreation place. The island is right in the center of this flowing river and at a wide part of it. The approach is across a bridge and there are gardens, a tennis court, a large, grassy place for games and folk dancing, and places for picnic suppers on the river banks. There is space too for several cots and all secluded though within easy walking distances from the center of the city.

At Etienne, another large center, the "Parc de Recreation Feminin" is being put in shape that the women workers there may have a bit of normal, healthy out of door fun. The Parc is being fitted up with garden furniture, a cloak room and place for games is being built, two fields for bowling are being made, swings and sand-boxes for children are being fixed, a basket ball field made and a space fixed for open games. On the side of a hill a natural amphitheatre is being perfected for the opening pageant. The Parc is a part of the Jardin des Plantes which has been fenced off for this purpose by the Marie and to which a special guard has been detailed. It is in the center of the city, about twelve minutes walk from the restaurant run by the Y. W. C. A. Gymnastic classes will be held there on summer evenings in stead of at the Cercle.

A foyer has been opened in the Annex Carnot at the Ecole Technique in Bourges. A Garden back of this building will be used and the lower floor of a dormitory in an adjoining garden is being fitted up for class work, reading, writing, English and such things. For out of door work the gardens will be used and for indoor work a large barn which is being fitted for gymnasium work, games and concerts. The foyer will open to all girls in the city as a place where they can go for recreation and rest, to meet one another and to fit themselves mentally and physically for "carrying on."

A Game with Buttons.

Some rainy day, when there seems to be nothing else to do, you can make a tiddleywinks game with the buttons from the button bag. Any number of young people can play the game. First sort the buttons; then pick out one large white button and six small ones and one large black button and six small ones. On the floor, or in the middle of a large table with a tablecloth on it, place a round box cover about as large as a napkin ring, or, if you have no box cover, it is just as well to use the napkin ring itself.

The game is to see who will be the first to make all of the small buttons hop into the ring or the box cover, which is called "Home." All you need to do to make the small buttons jump toward the "Home" is to press the rim of them with the rim of one of the big buttons, and let the rim of the big button slip off—Youth's Companion.

Tax On Gas and Autos.

Washington, Aug 1.—A federal graduated excise tax on the use of automobiles running from $10 a year on cars ordinarily retailed at not exceeding $500 to a $60 tax on $3,000 cars, and $20 additional for each $500 above $3,000 was agreed to yesterday by the house ways and means committee, which is framing the new $890,000,000 revenue bill.

The tax applies directly to the owners, while the tax of ten per cent. on gross sales of automobiles and five per cent. on gross sales of auto trucks, agreed to yesterday, applies to the manufacturers, producers and importers of cars. The tax on use of cars is based on the original retail price of the cars, regardless of the year of manufacture.

The committee also agreed to a tax of two cents per gallon on the production of gasoline and a federal excise tax of $5 a year on the use of motorcycles.

Public Sale.

The Dublin school board will offer for sale at public outcry the Smith school house near Charles Whitsel's on Saturday, August 17, 1918, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon to the highest responsible bidder. Secretary.

The Red Cross Auxiliary of Licking Creek Township, will hold an ice cream supper and box social at Siloam Saturday evening August 10th.

German Dead Are Buried.

Germany's losses in last two offensives in the region of Soissons have been so tremendous that the army has been unable to bury the dead.

A neutral newspaper man visited Soissons just before the start of the July offensive as a guest of the German General Staff. What he was allowed to witness, he said, was more than anything he had seen in the war, though he has visited all the fronts in Europe.

Whole regiments of Hun soldiers had been wiped out and lay unburied, he said. Masses of corpses had been bundled together pellmell, tied with wire, and covered with lime, ready to be burned.

"One German officer said to me:

"How could we bury them? We should need to immobilize thousands of men to do it, and we cannot spare them," said the correspondent.

The wounded were almost as numerous as the dead. They taxed the capacity of the base hospitals, so that wounded men lay on the ground awaiting their turn to be treated.

The German officers, he said, had changed their minds about the value of the Hindenburg "break-through-at-all-costs" strategy. The sight of so many dead Germans may have had something to do with their change of attitude.

Sugar Hoarder Disciplined.

Miss Laura Rhodes, of near McVeytown, has been officially reprimanded by S. A. Hamilton, Federal Food Administrator for Huntingdon County, for violation of the Food Control Act of August 10, 1917. She has also been warned that her conviction of any other violation of this act may result in severe penalty.

Miss Rhodes is a resident of a township near McVeytown, Pa., and recently applied to a number of Mt. Union grocers for household sugar, failing to state that she had purchased sugar from other merchants on the same day, which puts her in the class termed by the Food Administration as "hoarders."

All householders will do well to take warning, as the records of the dealers will certainly expose all such cases which, if not decreased, will result in some severe penalty being inflicted upon the violator.

Notice To Retail Merchants.

We are receiving many inquiries for the August allotment of sugar purchasing certificates, but have been advised by the State Food Administrator, that no authority for the issuing of the August allotment would be granted till the Post Card survey of the sugar in the hands of the dealers has been completed. Just as soon as the State Food Administrator grants us permission to do so we will issue the August allotment to all merchants in the county.

Merchants are warned to use more care in filling out the sugar purchasing certificates signed by persons buying sugar for canning purposes. Many of these certificates are coming in not properly filled out, and others show that sales have been made for canning purposes while the purchaser had sugar on hands for that purpose. All such certificates are thrown out and no sugar purchasing certificate will be granted for them. For example if you sell a customer 25 lbs. of sugar and he already had 10 lbs. on hand you have violated the regulations, and the 25 lbs. you sold will not be replaced. No person in the country has a right to have more than 25 lbs. of sugar on hands for canning purposes and dealers violating this rule are running the risk of having their whole allotment cut off.

Keep a strict record of all sugar sales.

JOHN R. JACKSON, County Food Administrator.
