Fly is an Ally of the Hun.

Approximately 200,000 deaths in the United States during the last year resulted from the activities of a single ally of the Teutons, and he is still allowed to go at large.

This enemy, which leaves a trail of disease and death, is the fly. It is well known that he is bred in filth and leads a life of crime; that more soldiers were years hundreds of cases of improper killed in the Spanish-American War by flies than by bullets; that thousands of babies die every year from diseases traced directly to the fly, yet his existence is almost ignored by a large portion of our population.

The "swat-the-fly" campaign t few years has worked won- occurred during he test.

VALUE OF LIMBS APPRAISED Arrangement of Pension Lists in England Has Humorous as Well as Pathetic Aspect.

If the average man 'were asked to state the proportional value of his limbs, he would probably reply that such a task was as impossible to perform as it was ridiculous to set, but the pensions ministry have had to make such an assessment recently, remarks London Tit-Bits. A new order in council has stipulated the weekly pension to be allotted to men who have lost a limb, and the list has its humors as well as its pathetic aspect. Thus we find it more profitable to lose your leg at the thigh than above the knee; in fact, the place of amputation selected between the thigh and the knee may make a difference of 3s 6d a week. A leg taken off at the hip brings in a pension of 16s, a short thigh with pelvic band 14s, above the knee 12s 6d and below the knee 10s 6d.

Pensions for the arm, too, have been measured by inches, the right arm carrying a value of 1s more than the left. Thus the right arm amputated at the shoulder carries with it a pension of 16s a week, above or through the elbow 14s and below 11s 6d. This rating suggests a problem. Why should the extent of amputation from elbow to shoulder vary as much as 2s, and from elbow downward only 2s 6d? The rising scale suggests that the lower half of the arm is worth less than the upper, a puzzle intensified by the fact that a man cannot lose the upper part

HOLDERS OF ROYAL WARRANT

Tradesmen in England Who Received This Mark of Favor Each Year Are Objects of Envy.

Once a year, in the New Year's Ga zette, appears a long list of tradesmer who are holders of royal warrants This list at the present time exceed. 1,200 names. Since the death of Queen Victoria considerably over 300 names have been added. It is a privilege greatly coveted and much envied-this of the royal warrant, for it is not one lightly bestowed upon every tradesman who has supplied goods to his majesty's household It is distinctively a mark of royal favor Tit-Bits says, and to some extent a testimonial to the excellence of the purveyor's goods.

Its principal outward sign is the use of the royal arms over the shop front and upon the writing paper of the warrant holder, and it is an offense against the law for any person not being a warrant holder to use the arms. Apparently, however, its misuse is a common occurrence, for during recent use have been dealt with by the Royal Warrant Holders' association.

SCOUTS ARE NOT "GLOUMS"

A Scout is always cheerful, Even at school when his teacher, harrassed by mischievous pupils, loses her temper and is unjust, the Scout smiles just the same. At home when his poor tired mother is fretful from nervous worry or his father is cross because of business cares and vexations, it is the duty of a Scout-not only his duty, but the great privilege of a Scout-to come into the home circle as the cheerful man comes into the wet camp and spread cheerfulness and happiness broadcast by immediately getting busy.

Soon he will see the wrinkles in his fathers' forehead ironed out and will be rewarded by a smile from his tired mother. Then he will know that he has indeed done his good turn that day, because anyone who brings good cheer into camp or home is contributing his bit to the betterment of the world.

SCOUTS URGED TO SCRUB.

As a further aid in raising the standards of the Boy Scouts of America and improving the appearance of Scouts wearing the uniform, it is recommended by national headquarters that a system of frequent inspection of every troop he developed, and that no boy be permitted to successfully pass an examination unless his uniform is properly put on and thoroughly clean, Sonp and water will not injure the Boy Scout uniform.

The practice of allowing the boys to appear at a troop meeting or ou the public thoroughfare or even in camp in a uniform which shows evidence of uncleanliness is not conducive to the best training of the Scout,

The altitude of the highest mountain in the Himalayas and in the world-Everest-is 29,141 feet. At that height the barometric pressure and the oxygen supply is only about one-third'as great as at sea level, says the Scientific American,

The experiences of balloonists is not conclusive as to the physiological difficulties of such an ascent, because the rapid rise of a balloon does not give the aeronaut time to become acclimatized to great altitudes. On the basis of a large amount of data Doctor Kellns (himself an experienced mountaincer) expresses the opinion that a man in first-rate training, acclimatized to maximum possible altitude, could make the ascent to Mount Everest, provided Cheerfulness is a matter of train- the physical difficulties are not insu-

SILENT MUSIC FOR HOSPITAL

System Arranged So That Patients May Hear Phonograph Without Disturbing Others Near By.

A system of "silent music," installed by a Chicago firm in a hospital at Ottawa, Ill., is described as consisting of a spring-motor cabinet with a furntable similar to the ordinary phonograph without a horn. Attached to the cabinet is a special music-transmitter, corresponding to the tone-arm and reproducer on the ordinary phono graph. The transmitter is energized by the vibrations of the needle travel ing on the record, and transmits these electrical vibrations over a system of wires throughout the hospital. The wiring terminates at outlet jacks alongside of patients' beds.

The patient can be furnished with a head receiver attached to a cord and plug. When the plug is inserted in the jack alongside of the bed, the patient may hear the music by placing the receiver against the ear. The recorder is innudible unless the receiver is held close to the ear, and consequently one patient may receive entertainment while the patient in an adjoining bed may sleep without disturbance.

THINK how much coal you burn in a range when you're not cooking. That's all wasted-money thrown away. And Uncle Sam wants every housewife who can, to save coal. Here is a good way for you to do your part. Use an oil cook stove instead of the fuel-wasting coal range. Then the only time you use fuel is when you are cooking. And that fuel, kerosene, is much more economical than coal.

Boon to Indoor Photographer.

The nitrogen-filled electric lamps have proven a boon to the indoor photographer. They are resorted to in various ways to secure improved results. It produces far more actinic rays than the ordinary incandescent light, and a room lighted by a 200watt lamp can be photographed in a fraction of the time required with a light of the old style. In a room of ordinary size, with walls and ceiling of a medium tint, and with the camera stop open to No. 8 on the diaphragm scale, an exposure of from two to four minutes will be enough to get excellent interior views. Photographers now also use the gas-filled lamp in the daytime to illuminate dark corners and shadowy places when they are taking indoor views.

A troop of Boy Scouts with a head for business could accomplish as good results as were secured in a community drying plant at North Lincoln, Neb.

The drying plant consists of a cabinet about 16 feet long, 2 feet high and 3½ feet wide. The cabinet is divided into five sections, four of which are large enough to accommodate two stacks of drying travs of ten each. The compartments are lettered and the trays numbered and a record is kept by the caretaker of the trays assigned to the various patrons.

A charge is made to cover cost of operation and the salary of the caretaker. The caretaker is at the plant for two hours in the morning and for about one hour in the afternoon.
