No Pay, No Pay-per.

That's what the Government says; and, we are here to confess that we are surprised to find with what good nature our subscribers are taking to the new conditions. Indeed, most persons welcome the change. From present indications, there will be but few of the NEWS subscribers that will have to be cut off the list after the first of October on account of not being paid up. Money is plenty, and nobody feels like admitting that their paper has to be stopped because they are not paid up.

Spiking the Austrian Peace Guns.

The prompt manner in which President Wilson has handled the Austrian note is in the highest degree refreshing. Half an hour after he had received the official copy he made it known to the whole world what his answer would be.

"The government of the United States feels that there is only one reply which it can make to the suggestion of the Imperial Austro-Hungarian Government. It has repeatedly and with entire candor stated the terms upon which the United States would consider peace and can and will entertain no proposal for a conference upon a matter concerning which it has made its position and purpose so plain."

That is the answer—not one delayed, but immediate and to the point. It takes the wind out of the sails of every pacifist, whether in the United States or abroad. It serves notice in Vienna and Berlin that this Nation is not going to be swerved one fraction of an inch from the course it has been pursuing. It sets the pace for the Allied governments in London, Paris and Rome.

What does it mean, this answer? Austria knows very well what it means. Germany also knows. There will be no conferences around a table with an unconquered autocracy. The terms of peace are in the hands of the Huns—have been for a long time. These terms demand release from oppression of subject peoples and the end of governments which are a menace to the world. When Germany and Austria get ready to accept these terms, there will be peace. In other words, there must be unconditional surrender by force of arms or surrender under the conditions laid down by the President.

And nothing else will do. The game of the Hun militarists has been perfectly apparent. It is to induce their people to believe that the enemy is seeking their destruction; that the war is one of self defense; that the enemy cannot win, and that when the Allies realize this they will be eager to make peace—German peace. Furthermore, the game includes the hurling of peace propaganda bombs upon all occasions. The offer of Austria was the beginning of the campaign. But Austria has been met at the outset and informed that nothing short of surrender will be accepted. Her guns have been spiked.

And splendidly have they been spiked—spiked on the instant. Nothing is left for the Huns to do but to agree to the President's terms or fight on their inevitable defeat. For his defeat is as sure as is the rising of the sun.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The NEWS office was favored by a pleasant call from J. C. Kirk last Friday. Mr. Kirk is a busy man these days up at Broadport, but he found time to go home and help to conduct the registration in Wells last Thursday, and bring the returns to town Friday. While men are making all kinds of money up on the Mountain, a large percentage of them will not have much more at the end of the year than when the wage scale was lower. Come easy; go easy.

Mrs. Bert Hann, of Hoytsville, O., is spending a few weeks among her Fulton County friends. Mrs. Hann says she is in a good farming country. Her brother John runs two farms and raised 6000 bushels of oats this season, and has 120 acres out in corn.

SUDDEN DEATH.

John Stouteagle, Jr., Dies at Gibbstown, N. J., Last Sunday Morning after Short Illness.

A telegram to his father, John V. Stouteagle of this place last Sunday brought the sad intelligence that John Stouteagle, Jr., had died at Gibbstown, N. J., after a short illness. The father had spent two weeks with the son who was working in a munition plant, and left him last Wednesday, apparently in the best of health; but on Friday evening, he suffered an attack of appendicitis, which rapidly developed into a bad case of peritonitis, and death came Sunday morning.

His remains were brought to the home of his father southeast corner of First and Walnut on Tuesday evening from which place the funeral was held yesterday morning, Rev. Edward Jackson, of the M. E. Church officiating, and interment was made in Union cemetery.

The deceased was a son of John V. and Agnes Hixson Stouteagle, and he was born in McCConnellsburg August 9, 1898; hence he was aged 20 years 6 days. Besides his father and stepmother, he is survived by one brother and two sisters: Amos H., at Camp Colt, Gettysburg; Olive, wife of Frank Daniels, Philadelphia; and Miss Marden, Pittsburgh, Pa.

WE'RE THE BOYS FROM PENNA.

Pvt Walter C Dashing, Co B, 45 h E g. Am E F, A. P. O 701, writes: "I have written these lines to show the peop e back in Fulton County something of the spirit of the boys in France. The old Keystone State is well represented here but I have not run across any other Fulton County boys yet.

We're the boys from Pennsylvania, And we're here to fight the Huns, We will stand by our Allies 'Till the glorious work is done We're the boys from Pennsylvania— We're the followers of the Flag, We are fighters from away back, And we do not want to brag; But we want to show the world, We have red blood in our veins We're the sons of our forefathers Who fought the fights of yore; We will fight our battles bravely As our fathers fought before. We'll show, the Devil holds no reins That can keep us from our duty. When we've heard the bugle's sound We would die before we'd give up A half an inch of ground. We're the boys from Pennsylvania— Not a quitter in the lot; We'll have Bill before its over And capture h— us like an ot. We're the sons of our dear Midland And we've heard our country's call We may lose our lives fighting But our flag shall never fall.

Remuneration of U. S. Soldiers.

A private in Uncle Sam's armies, regular, National Guard, or National Army, receives in cash, as long as he is in the United States, $33 a month, in addition to food, clothing, and medical attendance. When he is sent to Europe he gets twenty per cent extra, whether in training or in the trenches, which brings the minimum cash pay up to $39 60 a month, or $1 30 a day.

If the soldier has a wife, she receives direct from the government $14 a month, which is virtually an addition to the fighting man's wage and brings his total compensation up to $48 a month while he is in the United States, and up to $54 60 abroad.

If there is one child with the wife, the allowance is $25 a month; two children $22 50, and so on up to the point where, with a wife and six children, Uncle Sam pays $50 a month in cash to the family.

Allowances are also provided for dependent parents, $10 a month each, and for brothers, sisters, and grandchildren, $5 a month for each, with the proviso that in any case the government will not pay to the dependents of any man more than $50 a month.

The government sees that the soldiers do not throw all the burden of caring for dependents on the government, by making it compulsory for each man who has left a wife or child to pay over to them through the treasury at least $15 a month and as much more as will equal the allowance which the government makes up half a man's pay. Thus for the man in the service abroad who has left a wife and child behind, the man will have to assign to them at least $19 80 a month to which the government will add $25 making a total of $44 80 which they are sure to receive.

The old pension system is wiped out by the new and far more equitable system of compensation for death and disability. This compensation differs from that provided in any other law. It takes the family as the unit that is serving the nation, not the individual man. It bases compensation on the size of the family from time to time. While a totally disabled bachelor will get only $30 a month, the man with a wife and four children will get $75. Twenty dollars is added if a nurse is required; $10 more if there is a dependent widowed mother; but if he loses both hands or both feet, becomes totally blind or helplessly bed-ridden, he gets $100 a month as long as he may live, whether he is married or not.

If he dies from injuries or disease received in line of duty, the widow, children, and widowed mother receives sums ranging from $20 to $75 a month, according to size of family. No distinction is made between a private and the highest officer.
