The Wreck of Faith

By REV. J. H. RALSTON, D. D. etary of Correspondence Departme Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT-When the son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth?-Luke 18:8.

These words have been interpreted as meaning that when Jesus Christ returns to this world that he will find no faith. They have been interpreted as being simply an inquiry, because of the teachings of the Bible and present world conditions as to faith at that time. In either case we have a wreck in view, whether real or Imaginary. Faith may be understood as the body of Christian truth given once for all in the first century, embracing the fundamentals of our Christian system-the infallibility of the Holy Scriptures, the delty of Christ, the lost state of man by nature, the only hope of recovery by the atonement of Christ on the cross, etc. This may be considered from the standpoint of the church in its visible form or that of the individual, personal interest in the subject being emphasized with reference to the latter rather than with the former. The aspect of the former, because it determines the aspect of the latter, shall have fuller treatment.

Faith has had a varied experience. For some three centuries it was held with comparative fidelity. Then the clouds of paganism and lust for embracing Christianity as an element of political life began to gather, For some centuries there was great darkness. In the period of the Crusades there were flickering lights. Then darkness came over Christian thought until the days of Huss in Bohemla and Wickliffe in England. Persecution in Bohemia and indifference in England soon brought another season of darkness, until in Germany, under Martin Luther, the light arose that has shone for four hundred years, and accounts for what we have of the true faith to-

Is the faith of the church, as such, a wreck today? Do we find all sails set and drawing, bound confidently for a distant port? Or do we see that church hesitating, staggering in the midst of changing teachings as to fundamentals like the ship with contrary winds and laboring hard to avoid the rocks on which it may be a total wreck?

Is it not true that some denominations of Christians while still clinging to orthodox creeds have abandoned those creeds in their teachings? Faithful men in some denominations are now crying to their brethren to suppress many of the church publications as they are distinctly infidel in their teachings. Is it not true that many hungry souls go to church and come away hungry because they have not heard the Gospel of Jesus Christ?

How about the individual? Not long ago a young man, who was a graduate of one of America's greatest universities and was finishing his second year in an orthodox theological seminary, said to the writer that he had lost his faith, had no confidence in the Bible, did not accept the deity of Jesus Christ, and was thoroughly unhappy. This is an extreme case, but the writer has had many young people of liberal education give substantially the same testimony.

What is the somewhat remote reason for this situation as to religious teaching? We must go to the land of Martin Luther. The work of corrupting the Bible had progressed until nearly all German universities and theological schools had repudiated the faith of Luther, although clinging to his name. Learned men said certain results had been attained and these results discredited the Bible. With amazing rapidity this conclusion took hold in England and Scotland and our own country. Destructive biblical criticism and Darwinian evolution swept over nearly all our great universities and our Bible was in the scrap heap. Those of us who have watched the trend of German theological teaching have observed a tremendous advance since the days of Schleiermacher, Baur and Hoffman to the days of Kuenen, Graf and Cornill. It was bad enough with the former, worse with the latter and the final plunge was made by men like Neitszche, who utterly ignored the Bible and defled God himself. Is it any wonder that Germany is suffering today, and is it much less wonder that the Saxon world is suffering likewise? | death. When will men learn wisdom?

For the individual, especially respecting young people, the old-fashloned religion must come back. The old religious home must be restored. How many professedly religious homes are religious wrecks!

Back to God! Back to Jesus Christ! To thus get back we must get back to the Bible. Thank God it is being published as never before and the demand for it is beyond the supply. Thank God for this fact as to the hunger of the people for truth.

I freely admit that salvation is worth working for. It is worth a man's going around the world on his hands and knees, climbing its mountains, crossing Its valleys, swimming its rivers, going through all manner of hardships in order to attain it. But we do not get it in that way. It is to him that believeth .- Moody.

ISAAC'S MARRIAGE TO REBECCA.

LESSON TEXT-Genests 24. GOLDEN TEXT-Let not mercy and truth forsake thee: . . So shalt thou find favor and good understanding in the sight of God and man.—Proverbs 3:3-4.
DEVOTIONAL READING—Ephesians
5:2-33; I Thessalonians 4:13-13. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL FOR TEACHERS-Genesis 25:19-24; Proverbs

I. Abraham's Solicitude for a Wife for Issac (vv. 1-9).

He knew that Isaac's success in life would much depend upon what kind of a wife he should have. Man's welfare in this life and that to come largely depends upon his wife. For Isaac to have an idolatrous, Canaanitish wife would be fatal to his posterity, would subvert the plan of God as expressed in his covenant with Abraham. It would have been perilous to Isnae himself. To have married a woman in that land would have made him in a sense an heir to the land through marriage, and would have tended to divert his mind from the heirship through the covenant promise,

1. The Servant's Oath (vv. 2-4) Abraham committed to his trusted servant the matter of securing a wife for Isaac; therefore, he made him swear that he would go to Abraham's country and kindred to get a wife for him. He doubtless regarded his servant more competent to select a wife than Isaac was to select one for him-

2. The Extent of the Servant's Responsibility (vv. 5, 8). Before the servant would take the oath he must have clearly defined the extent of his responsibility. If the woman would refuse the invitation, the servant would be clear of responsibility. The minister's obligation ends when he has carnestly and intelligently made known to sinners the will of God.

3. The Servant's Helper (v. 8). Abraham assured him that God would send his angel to make the mission successful. The servant found this to be true. God sends his Holy Spirit to make the message of the minister successful.

II. The Servant's Obedience (vv. 10-49).

1. He Took Ten Camels (v. 10). These were to carry presents to the bride, and to conduct her and her companions back to his master.

2. His Prayer for Guidance (vv. 12-14). He asked that the Lord would guide him to the woman whom he had chosen for Isaac. Earnest prayer for guidance should be made in the selection of a wife.

3. His Prayer Answered (vv. 15-27) Before he had done praying, the answer was realized to be in the process of fulfillment. The answer was according to the request, even in the matter of fulfillment. God does definitely answer prayer.

4. The Servant's Message (vv. 33-49). The Lord had prospered the old servant's way. He now was face to face with Rebecca. Supper was ready, but the delivery of his message was more important to him than eating when he was hungry. He said, "I will not eat till I have said my errand." Good were it if all ministers were as much interested in delivering the good news in Christ. (1) His master was Is rich. The silver and gold and the cattle upon a thousand hills are all his, (2) All his riches have been given to his son (v. 36). All the riches of henven, God the Father has given to Jesus Christ, his son. (3) Opportunity was given Rebecca to become the wife of Isaac (v. 49). He not only gave the opportunity, but he urged her to accept the invitation.

III. Rebecca's Relatives Begging for Postponement of Action (v. 55). They did not object to her going sometime, but they desired that she postpone action for a time. What folly to remain and water sheep when she had the opportunity to become the bride of a rich man's son.

What folly for sinners to remain servants in the world when they have the privilege of becoming the bride of Christ.

IV.-Rebecca's Glorious Decision, (v.

When the decision was referred to Rebecca she said, "I will go," Good judgment would not allow her to refuse nor delay.

V. The Meeting of Isaac and Rebecca (vv. 64-67).

Isane was waiting for the return of the servant with the woman who was to be his wife. Isnac was loined to her in marriage, loved her, and was comforted in her after his mother's Majesty of Scripture.

The majesty of Scripture strikes me with admiration, as the purity of the Gospel has its influence on my heart. Peruse the works of our philosophers; with all their pomp of diction, how mean, how contemptible are they with the Scriptures! Is it possible that a book at once so simple, so sublime should be merely the work of man? The Jewish authors were incapable of diction, and strangers to the morality contained in the Gospel, the marks of whose truths are so striking and inimitable that the inventor would be a more astonishing character than the hero,-Rousseau.

Teachings of Scriptures. The Scriptures teach us the best way of living, the noblest way of suffering and the most comfortable way of dying.-Flavel.

When I pray I talk to God, but when I read the Bible God is talking to me; and it is really more important that God should spenk to me than that I should speak to him. I believe we should know better how to pray if we to Prohibition. nnew our Bibles better,--- Moody.

LINCOLN ON THE TEMPERANCE REVOLUTION.

An early speech of Abraham Lincoln's, says a magazine writer, "does not appear to have been quoted as often as some others. One wonders why." Speaking in Fourth of July vein, Lincoln said:

"Of our political revolution of 1776 we are all justly proud. It has given us a degree of political freedom, far exceeding that of any other of the nations of the earth. In it the world has found a solution of the long mooted problem as to the capability of the man to govern himself. In it was the germ which has vegetated, and still is to grow and expand into the universal liberty of mankind."

"Turn now," he proceeded, "to the temperance revolution, in it we shall find a stronger bondage broken, a viler slavery manumitted, a greater tyrant deposed. In it more of want supplied, more disease healed, more sorrow assuaged. By it no orphans starving, no widows weeping. By it none wounded in feeling, none injured in interest. Even the drammaker, and dramseller, will have glided into other occupations so gradually as never to have felt the shock of change, and will stand ready to join all others in the universal song of gladness,"

NEVER AGAIN!

"Nothing could be more unjust to labor than to represent it as wanting the saloon or its vicious association," says the Anniston (Ala.) Star. "Had it not been for the labor vote the saloon could not have been wiped out of existence in this state. Were it not for the labor vote there would be no hope of keeping it out of the state. That is why the antis are going to profess such interest in labor and the labor vote. What part has labor with the liquor traffic? Why should they want to perpetuate the scurrilous business? Let the liquor crowd tell the laboring man why they want him to have the bad business on their hands! They dare not do so! They dare not insult the intelligence and the common sense of the laboring people by trying to say what the liquor business means for them.

"Once upon a time he may have thought he needed his drink; once upon a time he may have felt that he was suffering personal invasion of rights when the saloon by the vote of his fellow citizens was taken out of the community, but he does not feel so now. Never again, says the laboring man.

LABOR UNIONS AND PROHIBI-

Dr. Wilbur Crafts of the International Reform Bureau says he has lived at the doors of congress for 23 years and has kept close tab on petitions. He finds none against prohibition from labor unions in dry states. "Only 447 in all," he tells us, "onefiftieth of the 22,000 labor unions in the land, and all these from wet states that know nothing about prohibition except from hearsay. It is a case of unintended humor-as if 447 witnesses were called in court against a man's character-none of whom had ever seen him or known of him except by rumors that had reached them in other states. It is as if 447 persons had presented prize essays on dentistry that never pulled a tooth; ns if 447 frogs in the marsh had rich (v. 35). God the Heavenly Father united in a declaration that it was unhealthy to live high and dry."

SHOW THE LIQUOR SELLER.

A Pennsylvania saloonkeeper went He was asked how he liked the place. "Like it?" he replied, "I thank God that my boy is down here training. The sight of 30,000 young men, enjoying themselves without drinking a drop, has made me a prohibitionist. I'm going home, close out my saloon and get into some other line."

Apropos of this incident, it has been suggested that successive batches of saloonkeepers be sent to the various cantonments to see the thousands of young men who are having the jolliest from John Barleycorn.

NOTHING IN IT. There is nothing in the talk that prohibition completely demoralizes a loons to a dry town.-R. H. Faxon, General Secretary Des Moines Chamber of Commerce.

THE PEOPLE DEMAND. Railroad trains speed swiftly day and night in storm and wind and snow along their way. They thread mountain chasms; they cross deep cuts on airy, scarey trestles; they round dangerous curves. Only the brain of hairtrigger quickness, only the nerves of steel, can be trusted with trainloads of human lives. A single glass of whisky may mean the misreading of a signal and a holocaust of hundreds of human lives snuffed out. The public demanded sober railway men-and got them. It now demands a sober nation.

WORKINGMEN FOR PROHIBITION. A hundred plebiscites in England have conclusively shown that the workmen of that isle are overwhelmingly for prohibition.

Labor in America, and organized labor at that, has more than once demonstrated that Mr. Gompers misrepresents our workmen in supporting the brewery interests. Not a single labor union in a state where the policy has been tested has petitioned against national prohibition.

It is a fact that many ore favorable

PROPER CARE OF PATIENTS

Surgeon General Blue Tells What to Do for Persons Sick With Spanish Influenza-Use of Gauze Masks Recommended.

Washington.-In an effort to reduce unnecessary calls on the over-worked physicians throughout the country because of the present epidemic of influenza, Surgeon General Blue of the United States public health service calls upon the people of the country to learn something about the home care of patients ill with influenza. Physicians everywhere have complained about the large number of unnecessary calls they have had to make because of the inability of many people to distinguish between the cases requiring expert medical care and those which could readily be cared for without a physician. With influenza continuing to spread in many parts of the country, and with an acute shortage of doctors and nurses everywhere, every unnecessary call on either physicians or nurses makes it so much harder to meet the urgent needs of the patients who are seriously ill.

Present Generation Spoiled.

"The present generation," said the surgeon general, "has been spoiled by having had expert medical and nursing care readily available. It was not so in the days of our grandmothers, when every good housewife was expected to know a good deal about the care of the

"Every person who feels sick and appears to be developing an attack of influenza should at once be put to bed in a well-ventilated room. If his bowels have moved regularly, it is not necessary to give a physic; where a physic is needed, a dose of castor oil or Rochelle salts should be given. "The room should be cleared of all rugs. A wash basin, pitcher, and slop bowl, soap and towel should be at hand, preferably in the room or just outside the door. "If the patient is feverish a doctor should be called, and this should be unnecessary furniture, brie-a-brac, and done in any case if the patient appears very sick, or coughs up pinkish (bloodstained) sputum, or breathes rapidly and painfully.

"Most of the patients cough up considerable mucus; in some, there is much mucus discharged from the nose and throat. This material should not be collected in handkerchiefs, but rather in bits of old rags, or tollet paper, or on paper napkins. As soon as used, these rags or papers should be placed in a paper bag kept beside the bed. Pocket handkerchiefs are out of place in the sick room and should not be used by patients. The rags or papers in the paper bag should be burned.

"The patients will not be hungry, and the diet should therefore be light. Milk, a soft-boiled egg, some toast or crackers, a bit of jelly or jam, stewed fruit, some cooked cereal like oatmeal. hominy or rice-these will suffice in most cases.

Comfort of Patient.

"The comfort of the patient depends on a number of little things, and these should not be overlooked. Among these may be mentioned a well-ventilated room; a thoroughly clean bed with fresh, smooth sheets and pillowcases; quiet, so that refreshing sleep may be bad; cool drinking water conveniently placed; a cool compress to the forehead if there is headache; South to visit his son, in Camp Greene. keeping the patient's hands and face clean, and the hair combed; keeping his mouth clean, preferably with some pleasant mouth wash; tetting the patient know that someone is within call, but not annoying him with too much fussing; giving the patient plenty of opportunity to rest and sleep. "It is advisable to give the sick room good airing several times a day. "So much for the patient. It is equally important to consider the person who is caring for him. It is important to remember that the disease time of their lives without any aid is spread by breathing germ-laden matter sprayed into the air by the patient in coughing or even in ordinary breathing. The attendant should therefore wear a gauze mask over her mouth and nose while she is in the sick room. large city. Observe Cleanliness. "The attendant should, if possible, wear a washable gown or an apron which covers the dress. This will make it much simpler to avoid infection. "It is desirable that all attendants learn how to use a fever thermometer. This is not at all a difficult matter, and the use of such a thermometer is a great help in caring for the patients. The druggist who sells these thermometers will be glad to show how they are used.

How Acid-Stomach Wrecks Health of Millions

Meny people make the mistake of thinking that acid stomach—superacidity as the declars call it—mercy means an occasional attack of indigestion, bleat, heartburn, beleding, sour, gassy stemach, or seme other such minor allmost quickly remedied—or will cure it—medit—and leave no serious after effects. As a matter of fact superacidity is responsible for a long train of serious allments that cause awful suffering and sometimes haffle the best medient skill. It is a well established fact that many cases of chronic stomach tentile, an emila, stomatifity, gestriffs, rheumitism, goat, furnisage, chrhesis of the liver, auto intoxication, dyspepela, catarra of the stomach, latestinal ulver, cancer of the stomach and beart failure, was be reached directly to an acid-stomach.

This is not at all superising when you consider that even the acid formed in the mouth from fermentation of bits of food lodged in the teeth—an acid that is or call it sateless—by yet powerful enough to egf, through the hard enamel of the teeth and deers, them, is it any wonder, then, that an excess amount of sold in the stomach causes so super misery, undermines the strongth and wareks the health and happiness of so many people? Is it not a fact, within the raine of your own observation, that one people out of ten are victims of acid-stomach?

If you ever hope to be well and strong you must get rid of that excess acid. Nothing is gained by taking medicines which increity attundate and give one a false sense of strength and that leave the excess acid still in the stomach. You must depend upon your food for your strength — and unless you keep your strength — and unless you keep your stomach free from excess acid, pure, sweet and strong. It cannot properly digest foosi; your whole body suffers.

What you want is relief — yes — and here is the way—absolutely guaranteed—you take no chance. It's been tested tens of thousands of those with universal success. Go to your druggist and yet just one package of EATONIC, a wooderful preparation that will literally wipe the excess acidity out of your atomach. The results obtained are nothing short of marcelous.
