None Made After Present Stocks of Goods Exhausted.

Further Restrictions Placed Upon Pro duction of Athletic Supplies and Equipment-Tennis and Golf Are Hard Hit.

The war industries board has put further restrictions upon production of athletic supplies and equipment, and this fact, with added taxes coming. will make any sort of "tool" used in sport next year a precious possession. Not only have restrictions been placed upon the production of certain of the more common sport supplies but in some cases further manufacture is prohibited after the present stock of material in hand is exhausted.

The followers of the various branches of sport will note with interest that more leeway is allowed in the matter of the baseball and football output than in the case of tennis and golf. This is due not to discrimination, but rather to the fifet that greater quantitles of rubber are used in the manufacture of the ball used in these games than in baseball and football. According to the latest ruling not more than 40 per cent of the tennis and golf equipment produced during the last four months of 1917 shall be manufacfured during the final months of the present year.

In the uniforms department the regulations specify that no material will be available after the manufacturer has used the supplies now in stock. This will affect football and baseball to a far greater extent than will be the case among the golf and tennis players, for while special clothing is considered desirable among many of the devotees of the games, it is not absolutely necessary. Because of the greater personal contact in baseball and football, uniforms with special padding and armor are not a matter of personal choice, but rather essential as a protection against bodily in-

During the past year the price of new athletic equipment and repairs to old paraphernalia has mounted in keeping with all other commodities. The cost of all material and labor involved has increased as the player of any game realizes when he takes a tennis racquet to be restrung, a golf club to be repaired or sport shoes to be resoled. Under the circumstances the outfitting of teams next season, should organized sport play be possible, will be an additional tax upon the management of such teams.

JACOB AND ESAU RECONCILED.

LESSON TEXT-Genesis 23:1-11. GOLDEN TEXT-A soft answer turneth tway wrath.-Proverbs 15:L DEVOTIONAL READING-Psalms 46. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL-Genesia 32:

From Bethel, Jacob went to Padanram to his mother's people. Here he served Laban for twenty years-fourteen years for his wives and six years for certain wages. In his dealings with Laban he finds his match-two schemers get together-"diamond cuts

1. Jacob Departs for Canaan (31 11-21).

The time had come for Jacob to go back to his kindred in the land of Canaan. The Lord instructed him so to do (v. 13). Though going forward u. der the direction of God, his Jacobnature caused him to take clandestine leave of Laban. When Laban realized the situation he went in hot pursuit, but God appeared unto him in a dream and warned him against any act of vielence toward Jacob. They formed a compact and Laban returned home.

II. Jacob on the Way (chapter 32.) Laban's return freed Jacob from the enemy who was pursuing him from belind, but he faced a more formidatle one in the person of Esau.

1. Jacob meeting the angels (v. 1). Two camps of angels met him to give him the assurance that God would te with him according to his promise. Notwithstanding this, he continued to scheme. He sent a deputation with a message of good cheer to Esau.

2. Jacob praying (vv. 9-12). Esau made no reply to Jacob's message, but went forward with an army of men, four hundred strong, to meet Jacob. Jacob is in great distress, therefore he casts himself upon God 'n prayer. This is a fine specimen of effectual prayer. It is short, direct, and earnest. (1) He reminds God of his command issued for his return, and also of the covenant promise (31:3). Surely God would not issue a command and then leave him in such a strait. (2) Plends God's promise as to his personal safety (v. 9, cf. Genesis 28:13-15, 31-33). In our praying we should definitely plead God's promises in his word, on the ground of covenant relationship in Christ. (3) Confesses unworthiness (v. 10). In this he shows the proper spirit of bumility. (4) Presents definite petitions (v. 11). He lays before the Lord the definite request to be delivered from the wrath of Esan.

Though he had faid the matter definitely before the Lord, he thought that his scheming would render God some assistance. Accordingly, he sent presents ahead to appease the anger of Esau. While journeying along, a man met him and wrestled with him, but Jacob knew not who he was. Perhaps he thought that Fasu had pounced upon him in the cark. He exerted every ounce of strength in what he thought was the struggle for his very life. The morning was approaching, and still the wrestlers continued, Jacob not knowing it was Jehovah manifest in human form. This is the second crisis in Jacob's life. He did not dare to enter the promised land under the contro! of his self-sufficiency; his selfish will must be broken; his Jacob-nature must be changed. God humbled him by dislocating his thigh. When thus humbled, he oult wrestling and clung to God. He got the blessing when he, conscious of his weakness, laid hold

4. Jacob gets a new name (v. 28). He was no longer Jacob, the supplanter; but Israel, a prince of God. His new name was given him after he had a new nature. He came face to face with God, and face to face with himself, and fought the battle to a finish. We must have the new naare before we can enter the place of dessing. Jacob came to realize that he had been struggling with God, for he called the place "Peniel," which means "face to face with God."

111. Jacob Meets Esau (33:1-11) God had evidently wrought with Esau, for when Jacob approached him the sting of bitterness was gone. It was not Jacob's scheming that removed Esau's anger, but the action of stars are in charge of a German prison the Supernatural upon his heart. more and more. Men are feeling in their souls that they cannot rely upon themselves. In all their trials, sorrows and disappointments they feel there is a power above them that contred their destinies and their only refuge is a faith in God. It is the only supreme fact there is and they must accept it to satisfy their souls. We are fast tending in that direction, and knowing that there is no other resource for human hope. Don't resist that tendency, for it is really the divine spirit that is working men to carry them to that confidence which is the only comfort and fruition that is left them. We might make up our minds to this tendency and yield to its control. Mere disbellef will not save us from anxlety. That is simply falling back on nothing and making of the world a nightmare only. Contrast of Present War With That of the Spanish-American Conflict Twenty Years Ago.

One night, 20 years ago, I sat in an army camp in Cuba during the Santiago campaign, listening to a discussion of war weapons. That day some 2,000 men had been killed or wounded in a three hours' battle, which involved all of Shafter's army corps at San Juan hill and at El Caney. The matter which created the most comment was the very small per cent of mortalities in the casualty list. The wounded would nearly all recover, and, except here and there, without permanent injury. Two American staff officers were discussing it and praising the Mauser rifle, which the Spaniards were using. I remember substantially the words of one of the staff officers. He said: "It is a more merciful weapon than the Krag, which we are using, because it is of smaller hore, makes a' cleaner wound and puts the other fellow out of business just as effectively as the Krag does without inflicting as dangerous an injury." I remember that they both agreed that the science of modern war was to knock the other fellow out without slaughtering him. I thought of that odd American conception of that twenty-year-old period while visiting yesterday a hospital where Americans were being brought in from the field. Some of the men are indescribably mangled; some wounds lie open as though they had been made with a cleaver-others are of the crushed, ragged kind. I went from this dangerously wounded ward into a neighboring tent, where 200 gassed men with bandaged eyes tossed restlessly. As I thought of the desperately wounded had just left and of those poisoned men, called upon to defend themselves against an inhuman weapon which gave them no chance to strike blow for blow, I realized the utter savagery to which we have reverted since that gentle day in which we sank the Spanish navy and made guests of the Spanish army until the hour arrived when we might send the conquered home in chivalry and in honor,-Kansas City Times.

Hay fever is gradually becoming bet- PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN AT ONCE ENDS ter understood. From the public health reports, it appears that recent investigations have shown only one person in a hundred to be susceptible, while the susceptibles differ widely in the effects produced on them by the various plant pollens that give rise to the disease. In the eastern and southern United States pollen of the ragweed finds the greatest number of sensitive subjects, the spring type of hay fever being therefore the most common. The smaller number of persons who are affected by grass pollen have the autumnal type of fever. Some persons have both the spring and the autumnal fevers, and about 8 per cent of the susceptibles are sensitive not only to the ragweed and grass pollens, but to various other pollens, including some tree pollens. Claim and Counterclaim.

The people of a Western city suffered from the escape of the animals from a traveling menagerle and circus. A giraffe, frantic with hunger, thrust his head into the second-story window of an apartment house, and placed in process of deglutition a pan of hot fried doughnuts. The trespass brought its own punishment to the giraffe, for the poor animal required the services of two of the circus attendants with hot blankets and a bucket of castor oll all the next night.

Two lawsuits, involving great constitutional questions, have resulted. Avoid crowds, coughs and cowards, but fear neither germs nor Germans!

Keep the system in good order, take plenty of exercise in the fresh air and practice cleanliness. Remember a clean mouth, a clean skin, and clean bowels are a protecting armour against disease. To keep the liver and bowels regular It is best to take a vegetable pill every other day, made up of May-apple, aloes, jalap, and sugar-coated, to be had at most drug stores, known as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. If there is a sudden onset of what appears like a hard cold, one should go to bed, wrap warm, take a hot mustard foot-bath and drink copiously of hot lemonade. If pain develops in head or back, ask the druggist for Anuric (anti-uric) tablets, These will flush the bladder and kidneys and carry off poisonous germs. To control the pains and aches take one Anuric tablet every two hours, with frequent drinks of lemonade. The pneumonia appears in a most treacherous way, when the influenza victim is apparently recovering and anxious to leave his bed.
