How to Understand the Bible

By REV. B. B. SUTCLIFFE n Department, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT-They read in the book of the law of God distinctly, and gave the sense, and caused them to understand the read-ing.—Neh. 8:8.

In this eighth chapter of Nehemiah there are seven conditions for Bible study which if followed will give anyone a full understanding of the Word of God. I. Eagerness to

Know What God

Says. In verses one and two the people express a desire to have the Word of God read to them. They ask for it and all who could understand gathered to hear. Not much profit can be received if there is wanting a desire to know what God teaches. There should be the spirit which characterized Cornelius when he sent for Peter to come to him in order that Peter might tell him the truth of God. His readiness to hear moved the Holy Spirit to move Peter to respond to the call. Cornelius had no claim other than his eagerness to know the truth.

II. Patience in Listening to What God Has to Say.

In verse three we are told that Ezra read to the people from the Book of God from morning until midday, and the people were attentive to the words envied by his brethren (Genesis 37:11); of the book. It cannot be understood in a moment or an hour. If we would master it we must give to its study more than a few odd moments; and patience is required to gain, little by little, an understanding of the truth which it teaches.

III. Reverence in Our Treatment of the Book.

In verses four to six we are told that when Ezra stood up to read all the people stood and bowed their heads and worshiped the Lord with faces to the ground. There must be no flippancy in handling the Word of God if we ther, represented his father and mothwould come to a good understanding of its truth. Too often we make the Book common by our much handling. We must guard against all ill-chosen Jokes and riddles which tend to steal away our reverence for the Holy Scriptures. We must approach it with bowed heads and with the worshipful spirit if we would have it speak to us.

IV. Intelligent Listening. In verses seven and eight we see to find out their condition. Undehow their minds were exercised and terred by the envious hatred of his thought awakened. They began to ask brethren, he willingly responded, "Here questions and the men appointed to I am." No doubt he realized that his read spoke the word distinctly, gave mission was fraught with great danthe sense and caused the people to un- gers-the exposure to highway robderstand. If we will think as we read bers, wild beasts, and the murderous and question when we do not under- batred of his brethren. Notwithstandstand the Spirit himself will cause ing this, he rendered willing obedius to understand. We should pray ence. Christ was sent by the Father that ministers everywhere would read on a mission of mercy to his brethren the Word to the people distinctly and give the sense of what is read, and then not stop until by restatement and illustration and by all means they have caused the people to understand.

V. Sorrow Because of Conviction.

In verses nine to eleven we see how with their openness of mind they gave conscience a chance to do its work. They became convicted and a Godly sorrow sprang up. They felt God had a right to condemn them and they were exercised in conscience. read the Word of God in vain if we do not allow it to point out our evil and its consequences. But when we do so allow it we come to the next

VI. Faith in Its Promises.

In verse twelve we are told that when the rulers told them of the truth and how they could rejoice because of what God had done even in spite of their sin, they believed the Word and put away the sorrow. When we read of how the Lord has forever blotted out our sin and covered it with his own blood we are to believe the Word and rejoice, in spite of our sin, that God has put it away to be remembered no more against us forever.

VII. Obedience to What Is Learned. The faith is proven by the degree of obedience which we render to the light we receive. Indeed obedience is after all the only proof that we do know the Bible. The eagerness, patience, reverence, intelligent listening, sorrow and faith will all be useless without the obedience to what is taught. James says faith without works is dead-it never was alive.

Fulfilling these seven conditions will bring us to the place where the Holy Spirit himself will delight to be our daily teacher revealing the things of Christ to our hearts and giving us that joy of the Lord which will be a tower of strength in all the trying experiences of life. A signboard stands at a crossing where two roads meet. Children spell out the words for amusement, young people read it from curiosity, the old pass by too hurried to notice it. An many of our fearful outlooks would old man comes and tries to read. He is a real traveler and we are ready to help him find the right way. So the of the past is also the God of the fu-Holy Spirit gives the truth only to the | ture! one who is ready to travel the right road.

Less Than the Best. Regeneration is the emergence in us of a new self, a superior self. The Christian life is superior in that it is serene. "Great peace have they that love thy law, and nothing shall offend It is superior in that it is guided. "I will guide thee with mine eye." It is superior, because it is victorious. "In all these things we are more than conquerors." Why should we be satisfied with a life which is inferior-with anything less than the best? We demand the best literature, the best art, why not the best life?
