THE SAME IN CHAMBERSBURG.

Chambersburg Speak Out for the Welfare of the Public.

It is just the same in Chambersburg as here in McConneilsburg; our friends there speak out in the same glad, earnest way as so many grateful McConneilsburg men and women have spoken in these columns for years past.

Mrs. Wm Bander, 733 Philadelphia Ave., Chambersburg, Pa., says:

"Doan's Kidney Pills are, in my estimation, a fine medicine for a lame and weak back or for sluggish kidneys. I used them and they regulated my kidneys and gave relief from misery in my back. I keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand in case of necessity, although it is seldom now that I have need of them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bander had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs. Buffalo, N. Y.

The New World.

With the close of the war there is spread before humanity a new world. The earth has been re-incarnated. The old prison shell of autocracy, which so long encased hundreds of millions of freedom-hungry souls and which has recently threatened the liberty of all mankind has been broken, and billions of glad hearts throbbing with the happiness of universal peace and freedom.

This thought, after the long, dark night of war, brings an unspeakable bliss which men have a right to enjoy to the utmost; but there are still in this bright new world, some serious problems which must be solved.

Although humanity is now free from the menace of the Kaiser's mailed fist and sword, there is another freedom which must be gained if we are to be free indeed, and that is a freedom from the social and industrial enslavement of gold in the hands of those selfish, profiteering, autocratic capitalists who produce nothing of any real value but who, although they already have more of this world's goods than they can rightly fully employ, are ever struggling to gain more, regardless of the fact that by so doing they are constantly making harder for the world's real workers and producers to obtain even the true necessities of life.

While the world war has stopped in Europe, there are still millions of people throughout the world who hate peace and love war, and who despise the universal freedom to which all mankind is entitled and desire only autocracy. At the moment they are lost sight of but they still survive in great numbers on every part of the globe. Many of them are camouflaging their real feelings by a pretended fondness for universal freedom when in reality they loathe it and await only a favorable opportunity to do their utmost to destroy it. Perhaps they may never again dare to strike in open warfare at our great constitutional guarantees of liberty, but they worship the god of selfishness and secretly plan and work for the regime of subserviency of the many to the few rather than for the era of cooperative management, work and benefit which is so essential for the public weal.

Here in America, at least, to secure this new freedom it is only necessary to use intelligently the forum, the press and the ballot, for the American people are absolutely their own masters and can, by amendments to their Constitution and laws, bring about whatever changes may be most conducive to the general welfare.

The war has demonstrated the fact that the beneficial possibilities of industrial cooperation are tremendous. Moreover, such measures are in perfect harmony with American ideas, since even our municipal and general governments are, after all, merely big cooperative institutions formed, as stated in our national and state constitutions, for the "general welfare." It is therefore perfectly right and proper for the American people to apply the idea of cooperation to any and all phases of everyday life, and cooperative measures may well be considered as a means of eliminating the evils of selfish individualistic capitalism in big business and of preserving, at the same time, the unquestionably valuable conservation advantages of quantity production.

Cooperative agriculture is also a matter which merits very careful consideration as a welfare measure.

Why Have Reporters?

The Logan Republican Logan, Utah, has an editor with a high sense of efficiency. Here is an notice recently published in his paper which should have brought results:

HAS ANY ONE

Died,
Eloped,
Married,
Divorced,
Embezzled,
Left town,
Had a fire,
Had a baby,
Broke a leg,
Had a party,
Sold a farm,
Had twins or Rheumatism
Struck it rich
Been arrested,
Come to town,
Bought a home,
Bought whisky,
Stole a cow or
The neighbor's wife,
Committed suicide,
Committed a murder,
Bought an automobile,
Fallen from an airplane,

German-American War Song.

When the sun was setting o'er the hill,
And the sharpe shrill sound, of the
whippoorwill;

The Kaiser sat on the German throne:
Writing his Epiaph on his own tombstone;

While Wilson in the white housesat,
Prepari g to give the Kaiser a spat.

The Kaiser said in angry form
I wished that Wilson had never been born.

But Wilson in the quick reply,
Said we'll get the Kaiser by and by.

Now Bill he said you soon will see,
The Stars and Stripes in Germany
And all your wicked ways you'll see,
Will soon be changed to Liberty.

Our boys on hand and air and sea,
Will fight for us and s t us free.
Now, Bill I say, I pay you tell,
How soon you think you'll be in H—.

In the year of seventeen on April the sixth,
Kaiser Bill got in a fix,
Our boys are training to give you a rap

Now Kaiser Bill prepare to meet your black Pap.

Austria 'oo, if you still rem mber,
Got the same on the seventh of September,
The Turks you see, we haven't forgot,
When the Yankee boys showed them
the turkey trot.

While Bill set thinking of the years
that had passed,
One deep thought came to him at last,
I see it now, we should never begun,
For Uncle Sam's boy is some Son-of-a-gun.

They have sunk our U-Boats,
And fetched down our plains;
They have bombed every city where-ever they can find,
And broke through the fortifications
of the Hindenburg line.

If you could remember how often you
'seen,"
The horrors of war of that old ar-
dine;
You will never regret, how we saved
the whole land.

And drove Kaiser Bill into Holland
The war is now over and our work is done,
Now old Kiser Bill you son-of-a-gun,
if the devil don't get you, I don't know who will,

For, There never was a beast like old
Kiser Bill.

RUSSELL FIX.

Want The Brute.

A great majority of the people in this country, as well as in Europe, are not going to be satisfied until the ex Kaiser is turned over to receive his just desserts. It has been shown beyond any doubt that he was the main instrument in the preparation and execution of the most diabolical war the world has ever seen inaugurated, one that has cost the lives of millions of the best men of several countries, and has brought misery and distress to hundreds of thousands of homes.

To permit a brute of his character to go without a punishment commensurate with the crimes he has committed, and to permit any country to harbor such a beast, is more than most people can understand.

Not only should this Thing be brought to ful justice but the entire Hoher zollern family should be placed where it can never again aid in such a warfare. The entire crowd is unsafe to be at large and exile is even too good for any of them.

The people will anxiously await further developments along these lines and if no action is taken, such as the people demand, many will consider the war as having been fought in vain.—Franklin Repository.

CLEAR RIDGE.

Philip Melius, near Hasto-town was a Monday visitor to this place.

Misses Maude and Mayme Fields spent Sunday and until Monday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brown.

On Monday the sad intelligence reached here of the death of Geo. Wilson who had been here from the first of August in the home of his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilson and only three weeks ago left here for the home of his parents in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Paul J. Madden came home last Thursday from Turtle Creek and will spend sometime with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kerlin. Her husband is in training at Camp Meade.

Mrs. Lydia Taylor has been seriously ill for a long time at the home of her sister Mrs. Scott Ramsey. She is suffering from cancer.

Mrs. Albert Harr and daughter Miss Annie, near McConneilsburg, were guests one day last week in the home of Mrs. Mary Fleming.

Mrs. J. H. Fields spent the weekend with her daughter Mrs. Cloyd Everhart near Knobsville.

Mrs. Rae Helman of Altoona, Mrs. Frank Maddea of Maddensville, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Everhart of Roberts-dale, spent a day the past week at the parental home.—Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Baker's.

Miss Goldie Fields who had been in Altoona for some time came home to recuperate from the flu. She has lately been at George Everhart's.

Mac Henry who came home from Robertsdale and had a mild attack of flu, has sufficiently recovered to return to his work.

Dorsey Brown, previous to the close of the war, got a slight wound on one of his shoulders enough to draw blood—but not serious. He has not been heard from since the last battle. His parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brown are anxiously waiting from day to day for a letter.

Arthur A. Kerlin killed a wild turkey week before last.

Mrs. J. W. Mower has had her goods, which were stored here. Shipped to Ohio.

Mrs. J. W. Winegardner spent the past week at the County seat, with her daughter Mrs. Cleve Fields.

Gilbert Kerlin was called to his brother Mac's on Monday. His brother Mac, near Gracey had flu sometime ago and seems he can't recover rightly.

Election Notice.

The Big Cove Agricultural Society and other farmer organizations and individuals interested are called to meet at McNight-toas School House on Friday December 13, 1918 at 2 o'clock p. m. for the election of a member of the State Board of Agriculture for Fulton County. Officers for the local society will also be elected at that time. The local school will take part in the program.

ORGAN BUILT BY JAMES WATT

Corporation of Glasgow, Scotland, Has Now Possession of Souvenir, and It Will Be Preserved.

An interesting souvenir of James Watt, representing at once the cleverness of his hands and the versatility of his inventive genius, was recently sold by auction at Coulter Mains, Lanarkshire, Scotland, among many other historic and antique objects belonging to the estate of the late Adam Sim, a noted collector. This was a chamber pipe organ which Watt designed and produced with his own hands in Glasgow in 1772. Built in his own house in High street, it eventually came into the hands of a John Steven, who, about the beginning of the last century, was the only music seller in the city. In 1807 it was bought by the minister of St. Andrew's church, and after being used one Sunday in that sacred edifice its further use was interdicted by the presbytery, and caused much excited comment throughout Glasgow. The organ lay for years in the church unused, and was ultimately sold through Steven to Baillie Archibald McLellan for £400, on whose death it became the property of Mr. Sim of Coulter Mains, who paid for it £50. At the recent sale it was knocked down to a Mr. Black for £400, who, it was afterward discovered, was acting for a son of one of the town councilors of Glasgow—ex-Deacon Convenir Macfarlane—who is giving it to the Glasgow corporation for fitting preservation.

THREE NAMES IN A DAY.

There is one small boy in this city who has the distinction of having borne three names in one day. The first name was that of his stepfather, whom he had always looked upon as his real parent; the second was that of his actual father, whom he had never seen, and the third was that of his foster father, who is the pastor of his church and his pal. The boy is George Frederick Woodward, adopted son of Rev. Charles Alexander Woodward. This boy George was known as George Frederick Stevens until the day that Doctor Woodward's petition to adopt George was pending in court, and his name was given as George Frederick Maxey. Until this petition was presented George never knew that he had any other father than Harry W. Stevens, or that his mother had been divorced. But he carried that handle only a few minutes, for the court granted Doctor Woodward permission to adopt George.—New York Tribune.

AIRPLANE STABILITY.

Of late the British airplane designers appear possessed with the idea of making their planes more or less self-stabilizing. For instance, the little S. E. 5 single-seater scout is an excellent machine as far as speed and climbing ability are concerned; but because of the pronounced dihedral of its planes and the consequent self-stabilizing effect, it cannot maneuver as rapidly as other machines. And after all, a chase machine is one that should be extremely flexible in flight, for extreme mobility is as valuable a factor as either great climbing rate or great speed.—Scientific American.

SLEEPLESS STREET.

"I don't know where I'm going to sleep."
"Neither do I."
"But you have a flat."
"Yes. But it's on one of those streets where the automobiles don't quit until it's time for the milkmen to start."

DOUBTFUL UTILITY.

"Bliggins is trying hard to keep out of the nonessential class."
"What does he do?"
"Puts in all his time trying to think up new names to call the Germans."

SAFE ENOUGH.

"Mayme got dizzy in the water and became frightened."
"Nothing to be frightened about. If she got dizzy, wasn't her head swimming?"

READY TO FIGHT.

Recruiting Officer of Crack Regiment—So you wish to join the corps, do you? Had any military experience?
Knut—Oh, yes; worn a beastly wrist watch for two years, don't you know.—London Tit-Bits.

DISGRACEFUL FATHERLAND.

"They don't mention the fatherland any more."
"That so?"
"No. They're good Americans and they say that once the fatherland was all right, but since he became drunk with power he's a disgrace."

ENID.

Mrs. Susan Foster has gone to Altoona where she will spend the winter with her daughter Mrs. Chas. Gray. She was accompanied by her youngest son Glenn.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Schenck and son Charles and grand-daughter Ruth and Lena, spent Sunday with the former's sister near Bedford.

Butchering is the order of the day in this part of the Valley.

"Good Morning, Perfection"

Do you have a Perfection Oil Heater to greet on cold mornings? Its answer is "heat"—a cheerful, room-filling warmth that drives away every bit of chilliness and makes getting-up time really comfortable.

You can have this same Perfection heat in any room in your home whenever you want it. Besides, a Perfection saves coal and that's something you have to think about this winter. Use and then you will get the most heat from your Perfection. It burns without smoke, smell or sputter because it is so highly refined and purified that it doesn't know how. You'll find that it gives a clearer, more brilliant light in your lamps and lanterns, too. Always ask for it by name.

By the way, better not wait to get your Perfection Oil Heater. And remember, they are safe. See your dealer now. Perfections are reasonably priced—$5.65 to $10.00.
