

There's a call for the boys, as the boys will be...

Miss Lizzie Bolender left on Monday for Akron, O., to spend the summer. Attend the excursion to the cave at Millroy on Saturday June 14. We are all going.

E. E. Buck, the Selingsgrove tailor was in town on Tuesday locking up trade.

Judge Simonton of Union county, is visiting with his son, W. F. Simonton of Franklin.

The recent frosts are not supposed to have seriously injured either the grain or fruit in this section.

We call attention to the advertisement of Thos. W. Scott & Co., the popular clothiers of Sunbury Pa.

The cornerstone of the new reformed church at Troxleville will be laid on Sunday, June 23. All are invited to attend.

Grant Schoch, son of S. B. Schoch, formerly Register and Recorder of this county, was visiting friends here about during the last week.

Mrs. M. Z. Steinger, who has been confined to her bed all spring with sickness is some better and hopes are now entertained of her recovery.

A cow belonging to Charles Steininger, residing one mile west of Middleburgh, was killed by lightning during the thunderstorm on Monday.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the farm of Allen Schoch in another column. It is a most desirable property and should command a ready sale.

The last two lines of the poem by F. P. Drinker in last week's paper should have read:

And—(I pray thee never tell it) Alone, I'm grey and old.

CURE FOR CROUP.—Use Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil according to directions. It is the best remedy for all sudden attacks of colds, pain and inflammation, and injuries.

Clipped from Canada Presbyterian under signature of C. Blackett Robinson, Prop.: I was cured of oft recurring bilious headaches by Burdock Blood Bitters.

During Court week some fellow evidently at a loss what to do to glut his meanness girded one of the beautiful shade trees in front of F. P. Bower's residence with a pocket knife.

Solly Oppenheimer, the John Wannamaker of Snyder county was in town Monday and paid us a visit. He was dressed in the latest style of comfort—the mould of fashion and model of form.

There will be another sale of Iowa horses in Middleburgh on Thursday June 12. There will be about twenty of the animals, selected especially to suit the Eastern market. Let all horsemen attend and avail themselves of the bargains.

The Beavertown Mutual Fire Insurance Company reports having insured over $100,000 worth of property during the month of May. This is the best possible evidence that the farmers have implicit confidence in our home company.

George Arnold, for some time a student in the Middleburgh telegraph office was last week tendered the position of telegraph operator at West Dublin, Fulton county, at a salary of $40 per month. He left immediately and is now in possession of the "bit."

Mrs. Lance, of near Watsonstown, accompanied by her little son Willie, is visiting Middleburgh friends—the guest of her father, Rev. S. H. Orwig. Her sister, Miss Sadie Orwig, now one of Middleburgh's best and prettiest young ladies, accompanied her home—expecting to be absent several weeks.

List of letters uncalled for in the Post-office at Middleburgh, May 6th, 1884.

Francis Lawler, Aaron Bobb, Philip Musser, Isaac Weinburg, Abraham Glazer, Daniel Marsh, Miss Lizzie Morseig, Mrs. Harriet Nach, Miss Penrose, Chas. Laura E. Schenbold, Wright & Lauder.

Persons calling for them will please say "advertised."

SAMUEL WITTEMYER, P.M.

We are authorized to announce that an excursion from Snyder county will visit Nagles Cave near Millroy on Saturday May 14.

Excursion tickets will be sold all along the line of the S. & L. R. R. at rates to allow the poorest among us an opportunity to "take in" this pleasure trip. We hope, (in fact have evidence) that a large crowd will attend from this place. The Middleburgh Band is engaged to attend. For full particulars see bills or next week's Post.

Mr. Haag, Middleburgh's new jeweler, had an adventure with a black snake on Sunday that scared him out of a year's growth. While walking through the meadow between Joseph Walter's house and Middlecreek 1/2 mile west of Middleburgh, he was suddenly and unexpectedly confronted by a monster black snake which shot its head up from the tall grass almost into his face. With a terrific yell he bounded backward, causing his watch to jump out of his pocket and break the chain. The first scene closed with a certain jeweler heeling it up the meadow and sealing the fence like a goat jumping for sun-flower seeds. The snake as anxious for a compromise as its intruder, withdrew from the scene and was soon out of sight. Those who had seen the reptile declare it to have been at least nine feet long and as thick as a man's arm at the shoulder.

W. R. Ogden, agent for Babcock's Chemical Fire Extinguisher visited our town this week for the purpose of selling one of the engines to our town council. The engine is growing into universal favor in small towns as well as in cities, where the steamers, in comparison to this invention, are not only slow but cumbersome and destructive—inasmuch that the flooding of water frequently does more damage than the fire. Our town certainly ought to have something of the kind and we doubt if they will soon be afforded an opportunity to improve on the offers made them by Mr. Ogden. Let us give him at least an opportunity to test his engine.

Decoration day was observed in Middleburgh on the 29th in a manner truly becoming to the occasion who appreciate the services of their fallen comrades. At 8 o'clock in the morning a procession composed of Stetler's Cornet Band, Ryan Post G. A. R. and Capt. D. T. Rhoad's Zouaves formed in front of the Post headquarters and proceeded to the Hassinger cemetery where the graves of a number of soldiers were decorated. After their return and about 1 o'clock a number of riggings conveyed a large number of our citizens to Centreville, including the Band, Post and Zouaves. At six o'clock in the evening a procession composed of the Sunday Schools, citizens, Post, Zouaves and Bands marched to the Middleburgh Cemetery to hold dedicatory services over the graves of the soldiers buried there. The audience formed in a hollow square on the cemetery in the centre of which was a cross of white, bearing the inscription: "To the Unreturned Dead." After the Decoration Services conducted by commander Lieutenant (Gutelius), were completed, a beautiful tribute to the unreturned dead was paid by a brief address to their memory by F. E. Bower, while other members of the Post decorated the cross with flowers. The Middleburgh choir sang several beautiful pieces of music and the bands played a dirge. Three salutes were fired and the audience was dismissed to repair to the Court House where Major Dill delivered one of his usual eloquent orations. The Philharmonic Society of Freeburg under the direction of Prof. Keenan furnished the music for the occasion, which was an attractive feature of the evening. Universal interest was taken in the exercises owing to the fact that it was the first decoration of any magnitude ever held in Middleburgh, which is probably due to the benign influence of the Grant Army of the Republic, an order which will ere long reach its seer and yellow when its members will be gathered by the reaper, and their deeds of valor will sound in the ears of coming generations as did the grand-father stories of Lexington, Concord and Bunker Hill in the ears of the immortal heroes whose graves they decorated. This order is gradually bridging the chasm that has stood open between the North and the South for twenty years. Realizing that the bravest in war are the gentlest in peace, they grasp the poor, deluded victims of such men as Bob Tombs and Jeff Davis by the hand and help them along by endeavoring to establish a home for their protection. God send the day when this shall come to pass and then, and not till then will the gray commingle with the blue and one heart and one sentiment rule the land.

ADAMSBURG ITEMS. Decoration day was observed here under the direction of the G. A. R. Fully 1000 people witnessed the ceremonies. The Post also visited Maubee's and Beavertown's cemeteries and decorated the soldier's graves. If the necessary arrangements can be made the corner-stone for the new school house will be laid on June 15. Further notice will be given in the Post. Our old friend, Daniel Zieber is building a new house on one of his farms in Adams township. Amos E. Mitchell is giving his house a coat of paint. Isaac Aurand, wife and grand-daughter paid a visit to their son, Rev. C. M. Aurand at Maytown, Lancaster county. Rev. Rouben Hassinger preached a very able sermon in the Lutheran church last Sunday. The foundation for the new school house is being dug. Rev. Weiland, wife and son stopped at our place while on their way to Lockawanna county. M. L. Romig is not as yet able to leave his bed on account of a sprain and several weeks ago. W. T. Haines accompanied George Strawser with a drove of horses to Manheim recently. Felix Geist of Helper, Schuylkill Co., paid a visit to our place recently—the guest of Levi Miller. Our young friend Aaron Maubee has left for Bellvue, O. Joe Dreese is trying his hand at firing an engine on the S. & L. railroad. J. C. R., the letter was found on the desk and was interesting to those who read it. Be more careful with your private documents. Rob Middleburgh, the genial landlord of the Merchant Hotel reports 49 guests at his house in one week and his word is backed up by the register. This is a remarkable statement for our town and proves that a good hostelry enhances other business interests. ANON.

TAKE NOTICE—Notice is hereby given that the printing books of Jeremiah Crouse are in my hands for collection. All persons knowing themselves indebted to the above, will please call and settle in a short time or they will be charged according to advertised rates—$2.50 a year. JAMES G. CROUSE, Middleburgh, Pa., Nov. 23, '83.

CENTREVILLE JOTTINGS. Memorial Day as observed in Centreville, was undoubtedly the most patriotically observed of any of its predecessors in this place on last Friday. There seemed to be a spontaneous diversion from daily pursuits by the resident population, in order to give aid, comfort and encouragement to the gallant survivors of the past but never to be forgotten conflict for the perpetuation of this great union of states. No task seemed too great, to make this memorial occasion the work of a united people under the most admirable arrangements of Capt. G. W. Ryan Post No. 354 G. A. R. of Middleburgh, Pa., and the result was a success so crowned that memorable will be its achievements. Shortly after noon-meal all was gayety and life. It seemed as if the entire quota of our surrounding population had come on duty, and for an hour or more enthusiasm bounded like a rocket skyward, as the main street was densely thronged by the populace to witness the forming of the memorial procession which was formed at 2 o'clock with true military precision. The G. A. R. Post, Lieut. Rhoad's Zouaves or Sons of Veterans, Stetler's Cornet Band all of Middleburgh, Centreville Cornet Band, Centreville Drum Corps, Union Sunday School, Ev. S. School, ladies and gentlemen, auxiliary committees were all in line to act well their part in the brilliant finale of their great national memorial service. The bands never appeared in better trim, and the neatly dressed and gentlemanly musicians rendered such patriotic music that old veterans never tire in listening to it. To the slow tread of music they marched to the cemetery at the Union Church, where the beautiful ceremony of strewing flowers was proceeded with in tearful silence until every hero-marked grave had received its floral tribute. After the ceremony of decoration the large audience was favored with an address by Rev. S. P. Orwig of Middleburgh, Pa. The great audience was swayed at the will of the Rev. veteran. His eloquence and power to touch the finer feeling of man brought a tear drop to the eye of almost every veteran, and when he had concluded there was a deathlike silence which meant that all were anxious to hear more, for his manner of recounting the heroes of our late strife for preservation, and the beauty of placing the flowers upon the graves of those who fought and fell in defence of the stars and stripes, was applauded and highly spoken of by all who were fortunate enough to be within hearing distance. The lives of our patriotic soldiers, like the principles for which they died, are indestructible. The good men do lives after them as a comfort to us and to keep bright in the hearts of the present and rising generation. Let us then honor their memory. In no way can this be more surely affected than by an earnest participation in the solemn exercises each 30th of May. Let us strew their graves with flowers each decoration day of our lives; let us tell the story of their sacrifice to our children, and let us lay it upon their consciences to decorate our graves when we are dead and gone, the few of us who are still here to remember, as each anniversary of Decoration Day approaches, to meet thus, year by year, make this beautiful recognition of the heroes who died and died to keep our nation whole and to cement its parts indissolubly into one unbroken and unseverable union.

John C. Frain representing the hardware house of Buchler Bonbright & Co., Philadelphia, was in town on the 27th. Harry Bibbighous of the reliable hardware house of Shields Bros. Philadelphia, was in town on the 29th. Yaw, yaw, sauked the mommy, der grand-pap und der grand-mama hedda nuw nul des bubbly gasana, ich wase ned weis er so hut de mommy gasauked. De socha sin vunderful. A welcome stranger arrived at the house of R. B. Erdly last week. A boy we learn. As it is the first boy that ever came to gladden Robert's heart. He now occasionally smokes one of Hartman & Long's celebrated two-fors.

The school board of this township was reorganized on Monday with S. H. Straub, President, and J. H. Hartman as Secretary. VETERAN.

WEST BEATER ITEMS. James Erb is still improving slowly and we trust will soon be able to be around. Memorial Day was kept by a great many of our citizens and the G. A. R. and Sons of Veterans deserve credit for their display. Their litanies met in their room at their forming in procession with St. Pauls Cemetery where the Sunday scholars and others furnished the flowers to decorate. Rev. Deitzer delivered a short and appropriate address. The procession then proceeded to St. John's Cemetery and from thence to Rake's, Samuel's, Lawler's and Chappel Cemeteries. From thence the procession continued the march to McClure, where an address was to have been made but the speaker failed to come. The commander deserves great credit for the way the exercises were conducted.

A camp of the Sons of Veterans was organized at McClure on Wednesday evening of last week. Some of our older class say that war is inevitable. We would say, let it come, but in a more peaceable way than the civil was, then we are ready. Some of our business men closed doors for a short time on Memorial Day.

Abraham Holshue and Frank Miller are butchering. Pay your poor tax. Either Joe or Jake will take it and give you the proper voucher. BOB.

FAIRBURG ITEMS. Our town presented a lively scene on Friday afternoon when 35 members of the Philharmonic Society started for Middleburgh to participate in the exercises of decoration day. All were pleased with the cordial reception given them, and the hospitable manner in which they were entertained. They report that all the exercises were appropriate and impressive, especially the oration by Maj. Dill. Rev. Wampole started on Monday for Philadelphia, Hagerstown and Reading. He will attend the session of the board of trustees of the Lutheran Seminary at Philadelphia, and also the 135 meeting of the Pennsylvania Synod which convenes at Reading, June 5. Edward Bessler and wife returned from a week's visit to Philadelphia. Michael Diehl who was absent five weeks returned home to spend a week. He will go to California in the interests of his employers, the South Bend Plow Manufacturing. Prof. Keenan will have his class in excellent drill for the concerts to be given in Boyer's Hall, Thursday and Friday evenings, June 12 and 13. The recent frosts destroyed beans, tomatoes, cabbage, &c. No injury to the fruit crop. At the communion held by Rev. Wampole in Freeburg last Sabbath 121 surrounded the sacramental board. The collection for synodical purposes was $15. Grass and grain is in a forward condition, and the indications are favorable for an early and bountiful harvest. REPORTER.

SELINGS GROVE ITEMS. The Republican National convention has been held. Now let all the towns organize so that when the Democratic convention meets on July 8, we will have our candidates prominently before the people. The decoration ceremonies were largely attended and were very impressive. Maj. Dill delivered a very eloquent oration on the public square. On last Sabbath evening the G. A. R. Post of this place attended divine services in the M. E. Church. Rev. T. O. Cleese, the pastor, preached an excellent discourse on the words, "I have fought a good fight; I have kept the faith." 2 Tim. 4:7. The reverend created much merriment by exhibiting a cake of hard-tack. The services were highly appreciated. Rev. Cleese certainly stands high as a divine. Prof. John G. Cope of Lewistown was in town over Memorial day. He was for many years the efficient principle of our public schools. Miss Blanche Rohback of Berwick is visiting Miss Sadie Schoch. An effort is being made to raise subscriptions to purchase a town clock for this place. Mr. H. E. Keiser of Harrisburg, the expert clock and watch repairer is now in Selingsgrove with headquarters at the Keystone Hotel.

The student's annual picnic held at Blue Hill on Saturday was a success. Edward Fisher has been appointed high constable with orders to keep the street corners clear of loafers on Sundays. This is right. Thanks to the city dads. ENYITE.

STORIES ON THE ROAD. COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS AT A WAY-SIDE INN—SOMETHING TO PUT IN A GRIP-SACK.

"Gentlemen, I cannot say on the position you fill your experience of the world; your knowledge of business; the changing signs you see, and all that you know." This warning expressed regret fell from the lips of an elderly pleasure tourist, last August, and was addressed to a semiretired commercial traveler, seated on the porch of the Landell Hotel, St. Louis, Mo.

"What risk for instance?" "This, for instance," said Mr. W. D. Franklin, who was then traveling for an Eastern house, and is known to merchants in all parts of the country: "The risk—when indeed, amounting almost to a certainty—of getting the dyspepsia from perils, change of diet and water, and from having no fixed hours for eating and sleeping. I myself was an example. I say, was, for I am all right now."

"No discount on your direction," broke in a high-spirited traveler, lighting his cigar with a quarter cent. But I had to give up traveling for a while. The dyspepsia ruined my power. Finally I came across an advertisement of PARKER'S TONIC. I tried it and it saved me up to perfection. There is nothing on earth, in my opinion, equal to it as a cure for dyspepsia. Messrs. Huxley & Co., of New York, the proprietors, hold a letter from Mr. Franklin stating that precise fact. PARKER'S TONIC also cures, enteric fever, heartburn, headache, cough and cold, and all chronic diseases of the Liver and Kidneys. Put a bottle in your valise. Price, 50c. and $1. Economy in larger size.
