SNYDER COUNTY COURTS.—The Courts of Snyder County are held on the fourth Mondays of February, May, and September, and second Monday of December.

Our friends throughout the county will oblige by sending us the news in their respective towns, villages and neighborhoods. Send in the plain facts, and we will dress them up. The columns will always be open for those who wish to speak through them on interest or local questions of public interest; but we will not hold ourself responsible for the opinions they may express.

NOTICE O SUBSCRIBERS.

Look at the figures on the label of your paper. Those figures tell you THE DATE TO WHICH YOUR SUBSCRIPTION IS PAID. Within 6 weeks after money is sent, see if date is changed. No other receipt is necessary.

"There's a chile among ye takin' notes, an' faith he'll print 'em."

G. Alfred Schoch has received his new goods.

For Reliable Seeds go to Hunt, Lewistown, Pa.

Stella Frances and Wesley Hartman are now convalescent.

Where are the fellows that predicted another snow?

Mrs. Sarah Walter left for Akron, Ohio, on Tuesday evening.

Miss Rhoda Snyder, of Richfield is the guest of James P. Smith.

George Specht, the boss wagon-maker, has located in Franklin.

George Stahlnecker is doing duty as clerk in Wittenmyer & Son's store.

No entertainment is so cheap as reading, nor any pleasure so lasting.

The roof of Deibert's photograph gallery was blown off on Tuesday night.

The Musical College at Freeburg is now in session and has a large attendance from a distance.

Chas. Manbeck, accompanied by Henry S. Stetler, returned west on Tuesday evening.

George Katherman and wife of Union county attended the funeral of Mrs. Chas. F. Buffington.

W. W. Wittenmyer, left for Philadelphia on Monday to buy the usual large stock of Spring goods.

It is said boots and shoes may be made waterproof by soaking them for several hours in thick, soapy water.

Samuel Killian, of Lewistown, and Miss Emma J. Haus, of Mifflinburgh, were married on Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Laura Miller was again called from her home in Altoona to attend the funeral of her sister Mrs. Chas. F. Buffington.

We call your special attention to the new advertisement of the Beavertown Carriage and Harness Works in another column.

Quinine can now be purchased for about 80 cents an ounce, while during the late war it is said to have sold at as much as $27 an ounce.

There is one thing that is neglected by many young men, and that is spending their time in the evening in a profitable manner.

On and after the first of July next the postage on letters will be two cents an ounce instead of two cents a half ounce, as at present.

In 1868, six inches of snow fell on the 24th of April, same year, there fell a snow that measured over a foot deep besides what melted.

There cannot be too much labor expended in clearing our streets and alleys. The good health of our borough demands that this be done.

Read the new advertisement of the Beavertown Hardware store, and when you need anything in Mr. Shirk's line give him a call.

Stetler's Planing Mill is again in full blast this week, with several weeks work ahead. We are glad to note this evidence of revival of business in our town.

S. Weis, Selinsgrove, is in the city this week, for the second time this spring, to buy another stock of Spring and Summer goods. When at Selinsgrove no one should fail to drop it at Weis' store.

The Snyder County Sunday School Association will meet in the Court House, Middleburgh, commencing on the evening of Tuesday, May 19th and continue until Thursday evening 21st. All Sunday school workers are requested to be present and participate.

On the 15th of April, 1872 it snowed and sleeted all day and in 1873 we had snow on the 18th, 21st and 22rd of April, 1874, it snowed all day, and in 1875 we had snow on the 17th, 18th, 19th, and 24th of April.—Bloomfield Times.

The committee on Permant Certificates will meet in the High School room of Selinsgrove, on Friday, May 1, 1885, at 9 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of examining applicants. All interested are invited to attend.

O. B. STEELEY,

FOR SALE.—A ten horse power stationary engine and boiler with a steam gauge whistle and smoke stack all complete and in good condition for $250. Apply to

NEWTON ULRICH,
5 1 3w. Selinsgrove, Pa.

CARD OF THANKS.—We desire to return our sincere thanks in general to the many friends who so kindly assisted us in the hour of our affliction, and in particular to the "committee" who extended so generous a hand to lighten the burden of our grief. May God bless and prosper you all.

DORN FAMILY.

Seebold & Runkle opened one of the most extensive stocks of goods in the county this week, which comprises everything in the general merchandise line, and having purchased at the lowest prices with bills discounted, enables them to retail at a living profit at prices that would be ruinous to other establishments. Call and see the immense stock even if you don't intend to buy anything.

C. W. Derstine, after perfecting himself in the art of crayon drawing, and graduating in photography in the finest gallery in Philadelphia, (Gutekunsts) has now purchased E. P. Eaton's gallery, on Dorcas street, below Odd Fellows' corner, Lewistown, where he produces the finest work we have seen in the State outside of Philadelphia. Lewistown may be proud of so skilled a workman, for no matter what the work is, there is always credit in doing it well. Dan Webster said "there is always room at the top," but there is very little space left for improvement in the work of this young artist so far as science has developed this art. Persons who appreciate good work will never regret the extra time it requires to visit this gallery to have their work done ere

"Time's effacing fingers
Sweeps the lines where beauty lingers."

The apparent recovery of General Grant is accredited to the answer of prayer. This seems to us as bordering on the sacrilegious. We have a Methodist minister say during the fatal sickness of President Garfield, that the "Almighty would not dare let Garfield die, for there are thirty thousand Methodist ministers praying for his recovery. True, "the prayer of the righteous availeth much," but the boasting conduct over the individual power of their prayer seems so ridiculous that many earnest believing Christians are disgusted while the skeptical revel in mockery over the subject. In the case of Grant, it is evident that he was not attacked by a "malignant cancer," and that the doctors had diagnosed the case wrongly and took advantage of the opportunity to advertise themselves by sending out false bulletins. Let us then not pray for miracles in these latter days when there is no necessity for them, but let us pray for a little more intelligence and honesty in the men whose words have the respect and whose opinions have the confidence of the nation.

People are always talking about personal fascination, as though it were some occult quality of which no account can be given. Some are born magnetic, they say, and some are not, and, with the vague term magnetic, they hand the matter over to the world of mystery. Young girls, for example, are in a state of chronic bewilderment over the puzzle of this question. They see some of their mates making a ten-strike among the men at a picnic. How does she do it? they cry. She is not half as pretty as Ellen Jones or Mary Alcott, and there they sit in the corner. She is not as sweet and amiable as this one, as sensible and true as that, and yet, were she honey and the men bees, no more lively swarming would be witnessed. There is no use trying to find out the secret; she has the occult quality of magnetism, and that is all that can be said. No, young ladies, you are simply on the wrong scent. Very likely, the open secret lies in no charm of beauty or intelligence, but in a quick and electric vivacity of spirits that acts like a breeze on the sluggish water, making the waves begin to skip and dance, and so producing an exhilarating effect all around. Now, what is there on the face of earth people so crave as to be exhilarated, and so delivered from the oppression of limpishness and stupidity? These young fellows feel this in the depths. They are bashful, paralyzed and have nothing to say. Suddenly this young girl wakes them up and they find themselves laughing and rattling away. The blood is circulating, the feet are dancing, the sense, or nonsense, is streaming merrily through their brain. No wonder each one wants to get into contact with this electric battery. The secret of personal fascination always lies in one single point, that is, in power to excite in another person happy feelings of a high degree of intensity and to make that person identify such feelings with the charm and power of the [illegible] cause of them.

MRS. JENNIE BUFFINGTON.

The large funeral train which followed the remains of Mrs. Jennie Buffington to the cemetery, on Tuesday, was especially an impresive reminder of the uncertainty of life. But a few weeks ago, in her usual health, she followed the remains of her father, John Dorn, to the same resting place. Within so short a period both have gone to fathom the mysteries of eternity—having lived exemplary, christian lives they departed with the assurance of a blessed immortality—and now sleep side by side in their last resting place on earth forever. Jennie was a consistent member of the Evangelical Association—twenty-six years of age—loved and esteemed by all. She leaves an infant son to the care of her stricken husband, Charles C. Buffington, whose innocence and helplessness appeals to him for care, protection and guidance in the footsteps of its christian mother. We all deeply sympathize with the bereaved. The funeral services were conducted by Revs. Stover and Orwig.

While at Lewistown last week we were shown through the immense Hardware establishment of F. G. Franciscus—coverting an area of 400 feet by 60. Mr. Franciscus came to Lewistown forty years ago almost penniless, but possessed with the elements of success energy, honesty and industry, he launched his bark and by close attention to business he turns up after four decades with one of the largest establishments of its kind in the State illustrating the maxim of Poor Richard: "Keep thy shop, and thy shop will keep thee." He carries on his business on the A. T. Stewart plan—having none but accommodating and obliging clerks and never letting a good customer go without a sale. The management of his immense business shows that it required the patient, vigorous application of a frugal brain for many years to accomplish its perfection. He employs nine clerks in the retail department, and only advertises in hard times, advancing the theory that when the mill is not running on full time then is the time to repair the dam. He is an exemplary citizen, ambitious, agressive, honest.

FREEBURG ITEMS.

Freeburg Lodge I. O. O. F. celebrated the 66th anniversary of the establishment of the order with suitable exercises in Boyer's Hall on Saturday evening. E. Bassler, Esq., presided and gave an interesting account of the first Lodge opened in this county many years ago at Selinsgrove, he being the only surviving member. Prof. Emerich of the Selinsgrove Lodge, conducted the devotional exercises and closed with a short address. D. S. Boyer, P. G., delivered an oration which was appreciated by the large audience in attendance.

The Spring session of the Musical Conservatory opened with a large attendance. The Junior and Senior department acquitted themselves nobly, Prof. Keenan assumed control and is master of the situation.

The horse sale was unusually well attended. First class stock was sold and brought high prices. Another sale will soon be held.

All our merchants have returned from the city and their goods has also arrived.

There are 70 students in the Freeburg Academy. Prof. W. P. Moyer and Miss Lizzie R. Dill are the instructors and Co. Supt. Dill delivers lectures on various subjects.

REPORTER.

CENTERVILLE GOSSIP.

The bright moonlight nights are here, and as the weather is becoming decidedly pleasant, gate hanging will soon engage the attention of our young men.

Our merchants have returned from the city with a large stock of Spring and Summer goods. Call and see a complete line to select from.

Rob. Datesman of Milton, was in town on the 24th.

The bare-footed boy has come to the front.

Artist S. F. Deibert is still kept busy taking pictures. Mr. Deibert is pronounced by all who have had dealings with him, as a No. 1 artist, and has been long enough in town to merit growing patronage without a word of commendation from us; but, then, as he will leave here in a very short time, do not be unmindful of your own interest and have your picture taken.

Frank Hendricks of Coburn, was the guest of Charles Hendricks on the 25th.

Peter Hartman is bound to build up Centreville. He is now getting the material on the ground on the south side of Main street for a fine large dwelling house which he expects to occupy about the 1st of October next.

Miss Alice Oberlin, an accomplished young lady of this place, is teaching school in East Buffalo, one mile south of Lewisburg.

The price of eggs has a downward tendency.

Mrs. P. Hartman visited friends in Middleburgh on last Saturday and Sunday.

We must now give way to the house cleaning brigade.

Miss Ella M. Sheary is at present with friends in Mifflinburg.

The dandelion fiend is now making his grand rounds.

John E. Bolig visited a friend at Buffalo X Roads on Saturday evening.

G. A. Stine a student at Union Seminary New Berlin, had his left arm fractured last week while accidentally falling from a swing. He is now at home and carries his arm in a sling, as a pet.

Sinc., says I like Emma and Ella, but they don't like me, notwithstanding, Spring is here.

REPORTER.

BEAVERTOWN JOTTINGS.

Wellington Smith has moved to the vicinity of Freeburg, where he has tenanted a farm.

James K. Aigler caught an otter in a fish-net one night last week. It evidently was in search of fishes, and remaining under water too long, was drowned. Mr. Aigler brought it to town, where it was viewed as a rare curiosity. It measured four feet and four inches from its nose to the tip of its tail.

The Match factory is fast approaching completion, and the company will soon occupy it.

John Boyer returned to the West recently.

According to present indications no new houses will be built in town this summer.

After long and impatient waiting the Brass Band has, at last, appeared on the street. Under the circumstances the boys do well. We admire their perseverance. "Genius is eternal patience." Come again.

Miss Annie Boyer has been confined to the house with sickness for several weeks past, but is out again.

Archie Middleswarth has placed a splendid new street lamp in front of the Central Hotel. Good! Let your light shine.

John P. Wetzel and William H. Coleman were elected Superintendents of the Union Sunday School, on Sunday.

John D. Kern is suffering from an ugly gash which he cut in his leg, two weeks ago.

Frail Stricker has gone to Mifflinburg to learn the blacksmith trade.

Master James Boush is learning to be an operator with F. F. Specht, the operator at this station.

Wheat fields in this section had a rather slim appearance in early spring, but at present, the prospects for a good crop are much more promising.

W. N. Heimbach, salesman for a grocery firm, is at present in Philadelphia selling goods to his patrons.

A large cow belonging to William Boyer strayed from her owner over a week ago. The cow is a whitish roan, of a wild nature, with large horns forming nearly a circle, and by this time may be accompanied by a calf. Any person informing the owner of the whereabouts of the cow will be rewarded.

The election for the formation of a new township out of parts of Beaver, West Beaver, and Adams carried by a large majority. Of the 358 votes polled, 287 were cast pro and 71 con.

The steam tannery is run on full time. It employs fifteen men.

Mrs. J. D. Rathbach is confined to a bed of sickness.

Farmers are plowing land for corn.

CITIZEN.

Pass the butter gently, Mabel,
Shove it lightly through the air;
In the corner of the dish, love,
You will find a nut brown hair,
What fond memories it awakens
[illegible]
When upon my fine coat collar
Oft was laid your little head;
Lovingly I stroked those tresses,
In the happy days gone by,
Now I strike them every meal time
In the butter or the pie!

Farmers should be on the lookout at this season for swindlers who offer patent machinery and prize seed for sale and get them to sign a note which is changed into a tight note and then collected.

The horses find it hard work to draw their burdens on the level road, without considering the up grades. Drivers cannot be too considerate in the management of their teams. There is a limit even to the drawing capacity of a dumb animal.

Sol. Oppenheimer, has now on hand a splendid stock of goods, and has engaged space in the Post to throw light on the subject next week. Look out!

Go to Salem & App's Music store, Selinsgrove, Pa., for all kinds of Musical instruments. Repairing and tuning a specialty. Notice by Postal card will bring them to your house.

J. P. Shirk of Beavertown has embarked in the hardware business. He has on hand a full line of all the goods generally sold in a first-class hardware store. Persons needing anything in his line will do well by calling on him. He is building a large addition to his store, making it, in all, ninety seven feet long.

We make the famous

"SWINGBEAM" SULKY

Illustrated below, also

"Garden City Clipper"

PLOWS,
Cultivators,
RAKES,
&c., &c.

This SULKY PLOW with its patent Tapered Steel straw shield, Wrench, and swinging beam is the most perfect Implement of the kind in the world.

THE BEAM can be fastened rigidly when desired, or left to swing sideways if it strikes a stump or stone, thus avoiding breakage; also nice for turning corners without taking Plow out of the ground.
