The State allows $150 per year, for the support of a soldiers' orphan over ten yerrs of age. By the recent disclosures as to the management of the schools it appears the orphans in some of them were kept or fed at the rate of three cents per meal, or nine cents per day. This for a year, 365 days, would amount to $32.85, leaving $117.15, of the $150 to go into the pockets of the managers, or somewhere else.

You have often seen women wich marked blueness or paleness of face, viciated appealtes, and a craving for unwholesome food. The e are signs of a disordered liver, and the trouble must be corrected or worse results are sure to follow. Husbands and fathers cannot afford to treat this matter lightly. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remody," which dispels liver disease, costs less than sick wives and daughters. You will find it a very o ofitable investment.
