I WONIED.

He kissed me, and I knew 't was wrong
For he was neither kith nor kin,
Need one do penance very long
For such a tiny little sin?

He squeezed my hand, that was not right—
Why will men have such wicked ways?
It was not for a minute quite,
But in it there were days and days.

There's mischief in the moon I know;
I'm positive I saw him wink,
When I requested him to go,
I meant it too—I think.

But after all I'm not to blame
He took the kiss,—I do think men
Are born without a sense of shame,—
I wonder when he'll come again.

JOHN S MOSBY.

I am told that John S. Mosby, the guerrilla general and ex-Consul to Hong Kong, has agreed to deliver fifty lectures, for which he gets $300 a night. This will make $15,000 for fifty lectures, or for fifty utterances of one lecture, and it is by no means bad pay. "John Mosby," said an old Confederate friend of his to me last night, "is as poor as a church mouse and he will give these lectures because he wants the money. He came out of the war without a dollar and I don't think he saved abroad. His son graduated with high honors at the Virginia University this year and I think he has other children. His beautiful and talented wife is dead, and I doubt whether he has a home he can call his own.

"John S. Mosby is a slight, bent, blonde man, with a cold gray eye containing no more expression than a boy's marble. He talks slowly, never gets excited, and does not know what fear is. He loves his friends and hates his enemies, and he carries his fight to the death. I lately heard a story from a captain in the Union army of a scene in which Mosby took part during the war. A Union regiment had driven him with a small body of his men into a ten-acre field about which was a high board fence. They could see him plainly within it, and they surrounded the field and began to close in upon Mosby. They wanted to capture him, as he had already killed nearly half their regiment. They closed in upon him slowly, his handful of troops still firing. They had backed him up close to a fence, and they apparently had him in their grasp, when he drove his spurs into his horse and went over the fence like a flash, and as he did so, turned in the air upon his saddle and shot a soldier through the head with his revolver. There are few such shots as Mosby, and during the war he shot to kill.

"At the close of the war Horace Greeley wanted Mosby hung. He denounced him as a guerilla and murderer, and published article after article calling upon the President to hang him. Mosby fled to the mountains and he told me he intended to fight to the last. General Grant was in Washington at the time. Mrs Mosby came here with a sucking baby on one arm and these papers of Horace Greeley under the other. She called upon Grant and laid the papers before him. Grant told her to go to her husband and to tell him that he would protect him if he would surrender, that he should go to the nearest station and give himself up and he would protect his parole as much as he would that of General Lee. Mrs. Mosby carried this news to John S. Mosby in the mountains. He surrendered and Grant protected him. Mosby never forgot it and when the campaign of 1872 came around, in which Greely was pitted against Grant, Mosby stumped the State of Virginia for Grant. He carried Greeley's papers around and told the people how Grant had treated him. The result was he carried Virginia for the Republicans the first time in its history.

Interesting Experiences.

Hiram Cameron, Furniture Dealer of Columbus, Ga., tells his experience, thus: "For three years have tried every remedy on the market for Stomach and Kidney Disorders, but got no relief, until I used Electric Bitters. Took five bottles and am now cured, and think Electric Bitters the best Blood Purifier in the world." Major A. B. Reed of West Liberty, Ky., says: "Nothing has ever done me so much good as Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by G. M. Shindel.

The editor of an Iowa newspaper bought the flowers for his grave before he committed suicide.

Four of the prettiest girls in Caledonia, Mich., were caught stealing watermelons by moonlight.
