BEYOND THE MISSISSIPPI.

ED. POST.—I parted with your readers while still a Cheyenne in the fall of '76. About this time I had the misfortune to be robbed of my over-coat, in the pocket of which was my diary—an article invaluable to me. I never got it either.

On Nov. 24, we had quite a fire in Cheyenne, and a great deal of valuable property was destroyed. While fighting the flames one of my acquaintances was killed by a beam falling on him. He was a poor but honest man and was the father of a family. In twenty-four hours after his death the family was presented with a purse of $500—a gift of the citizens. This is a specimen of our Western liberality—all of which is founded on the short creed of 'help for the living and hope for the dead."

Every man employed by the Union Pacific Railroad Company is obliged to be a member of the Relief Association by paying a monthly installment of 25 cents. One of their men here had his foot crushed some time ago. He was sent to the general Hospital at Denver, was kindly treated, attended by the best medical skill, and returned to his home without the cost of a penny to him. Any of the Company's men taken sick or disabled are immediately sent to the nearest hospital, which is the next place to home. Hotels are as a rule illy prepared to accommodate sick people, and the charges are outrageous. People coming here are invariably troubled with diarrhea—caused by the alkali in the water. It required some time till I was accustomed to it. A liberal use of nitric or muriatic acid will reduce the evil effects of the alkali.

I have not seen much of the interior of Wyoming Territory, but intend this spring to go up north or northwest to see the country and if I like may take up land and settle down. Of one thing I am satisfied, and that is that this Territory will never make a great wheat-gowing country. You can travel long distances over the road without seeing a cultivated field, but there is apparently no end to the number of cattle. Think of one company owning ninety thousand head! This party has thousands of acres of Government land fenced in. Millions of acres of government land is held by foreign capitalists for higher prices. This has a tendency to keep away genuine settlers, and I am glad to notice that Congress is contemplating measures to remedy the evil. The grass crop this year is sort and thin, though one not acquainted would hardly believe how well cattle thrive on it. There is not a particle of grain fed them—the grass on the plains seems their natural feed. The cow-boys are a rough and reckless set, but I have never known them to do harm when not imposed upon.

The climate here is not as rough as one might suppose on account of the high altitude. During some days in January it was 17 degrees below zero. We had many mild days during the month, but during the last six weeks we have had violent winds which some days blew at the rate of forty miles an hour.

I will close by saying that since I left my home in old Middleburgh in the spring of '83, I have traveled over a great deal of territory, seen many strange sights and met many strange people. I have never regretted the money I spent in my travels. It has been more benefit to me than the best school could be. I manage to keep my finances above par by work. I will close lest I weary your readers. You may hear from me again at some future time. Till then, Adieu.

JOHN R. GIFT.

An exchange says there are thousands of acres of good land in California that can be had for $1.25 per acre and nearly three years' time with a whole lot of climate, scenery and jackrabbits thrown in for nothing. Here is certainly a splendid opportunity for farmers, viater, truck-growers and the like. There is probably no State in the Union where the climate is more delightful, where there is a more luxuriant yield for the work of the husbandman than California.

To the Editor of the POST.

The time is rapidly approaching when the school directors will again be called to assemble in convention for the purpose of electing a Superintendent of our schools. The office of Superintendent is a highly important one, a fact which is admitted by all; indeed, so much import is connected with it, that the success and eficiency of our schools depends very largely upon the man who is selected to fill it. Among the various persons who have announced themselves as candidates for the position, is Prof. Charles W. Herman of Penn township, who is at present engaged in teaching the Grammar School in Adamsburg. Having known this gentleman for a number of years and therefore being fully acquainted with his character and qualifications, we feel free in heartily recommending him to the thoughtful consideration of our directors. That he is amply qualified and able to discharge all the duties pertaining to the office of County Superintendent there need be no doubt. He has had ten year's practical experience in the school room. He commenced teaching fifteen years ago at the age of sixteen; ever since he has continued at the same work, excepting five years during which he pursued his collegiate studies. He taught two years in Ohio, and the same length of time in Kansas as principal of the Monrovia graded school. During '85-6 he had charge of the Pottsgrove Academy, a private institution. Thus, it will be seen that he has had an extensive experience in practical school work, and that he has enjoyed excellent opportunities to observe the comparative merits of different methods of instruction and of various systems of schools. In point of education he is no less fitted for the place. After completing a full course of study, which required three years, in the Missionary Institute at Selinsgrove, he entered the University at Lewisburg and graduated two years thereafter—with the class of '85—receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Besides, he has had considerable Normal training, as he generally attended the "Normal Institutes" held between the school terms. As to his character—it is quite beyond reproach. Moreover, when we consider the disadvantages and adverse circumstances that he had to strive against, coupled with the fact that he has worked his own way unaided, we are forced to believe that he possesses more than a modicum of inherent worth and natural ability. His long service as a teacher also shows that he has a love, a natural inclination, for educational work. Indeed we are quite sure that all those who have any knowledge of his long and varied experience in the school-room, his extensive scholastic attainments, his uniformly successful work as a teacher, his steadfast character and general worth, consider him specially qualified for the office and should look upon his election with entire satisfaction. His lection would certainly bespeak wisdom and good judgment for the directors, and it would give us a man who would at once be recognized abroad by the educational world, on account of his certified literary training, as a promising and ruling educator.

"SAMANTHA AT SARATOGA."

Miss Marietta Holly, the distinguished humorous author known as "Josiah Allen's Wife," has just finished her new book "Samantha at Saratoga," in the inimitable mirth-provoking style of "Samantha at the Centennial," "Betsey Bobbitt," etc., and has sold the MSS for a good round sum to Messrs. Hubbard Bros., of Philadelphia, who are employing the best humorous artist in the country to illustrate it, and propose bringing it out this Spring at a popular price by subscription. Miss Holly spent all last season amid the whirl of fashion at Saratoga, and takes off its follies, flirtations, pug dogs, low neck dressing, etc., in a style that is overflowing with richest humor, and must create a great sensation.
