Modern Artillery.

Lieut. hamilton, U. S.A in a recent article describing engines and impliments of war says:

Toward the middle of the last century, the true use of cannon in warfare was so well known that a special body of soldiers was made up to manipulate them. This body of cannon soldiers is called artillerymen.

Now, all artillery is divided into three general classes, according to the use the guns are put to

The first class is "Field Artillery," and this consists of the guns that are used on the field of battle, and are light enough to move around rapidly with the army.

The second class is called "Siege Artillery," and to this class belong all guns which are too large and heavy to move around rapidly, but which follow the army and are used in laying siege to cities of fortified places.

The third class is called "Sea-Coast," or "permanent," or "heavy" artillery. It consists of the immense guns too large to be moved around at all, and which are mounted in the great forts and fortifications at the mouths of rivers harbors, or near important cities.

Most all countries use breech-loading cannon, and the United States are making some, which, when finished, will be the best in the world. They are made of steel, and the carriages and limbers are of wrought-iron and steel.

In view of the anarchistic developments in our large cities during the past year the magazine or revolving cannon, has been brought into prominence as a mode of rapidly clearing the streets in case of a mob Only a well-disciplined, bravely officered army can stand up against its deadly shower of bullets To this class belong the Gatling gun, the Gardner gun and the Hotchkiss The Gatling shown in our illustration consists of a number of rifle barrels, generally ten. These are fastened so as to revolve around a central shaft, to which they are parallel. The barrels are turned by means of a crank handle, and, as each barrel comes uppermost, a breech-block slides back, and a cartridge falls from a feed-case placed above right into the breech. Then a little plunger pushes the cartridge way in, and draws back a strong steel pin, and as the barrel comes undermost, the pin is released and strikes the cartridge, exploding it. and the barrel continuing to revolve, another spring opens the breech and throws out the empty shell.

The crank which causes the barrels to revolve operates the entire machanism. Each barrel is fired once only during a single revolution; but, as there are ten barrels, it makes ten shots for just one complete turn of the crank. One man turns the crank and another holds the feed-case, full of cartridges, over the breech of the gun, and others keep this latter supplies with full feed-case.

This gun throws bullets and small shells a little over 1½ inches in diameter. It will throw a shower of projectiles at the rate of 800 a minute, and for a distance of nearly two miles.

The gun is much lighter and easier to move around than a field piece but its carriages and limber and caisson are nearly the the same.

The Maxim Machine Gun is another instrument famous for its destructive powers. The action of the gun is automatic, each cartridge being discharged by the recoil of the shot preceding. The cartridges are placed in a belt, and the empty shells are thrown out in front of the gun. The rate of fire is about 600 times a minute. With the shorter and smaller cartridges, such as are used in the U. S. army, the rate of firing would be about 700 shots a minute. The rapidity of the fire is such that at a thousand yards range twenty bullets will strike the target after the gun ceases to fire, while by giving the gun a very high elevation, five hundred rounds may be discharged before the first bullet strikes the ground.

The Gardner gun is something of the same kind, except that it has two barrels, and they do not revolve. First one fires, and while that is being reloaded, the other fires, and this firing is at the rate of 400 shots a minute. It is mounted on a carriage, like a Gatling. The lighter Gatlings are also mounted on tripods.

The Hotchkiss revolving cannon is like a large Gatling gun It has five barrels, and throws shot and shell weighing from about 2 pounds up to 6 pounds, at the rate of 30 and 40 a minute.

The English have made for themselves some guns weighing 80 tons, and for the Italians, guns weighing 100 tons; but Herr Krupp has made guns more powerful than any of them. And now Krupp is making for the Italian government two guns of 125 tons each, which will be, when finished, the most powerful in the world. They will require 600 pounds of powder to fire the shot, weighing 2600 pounds; but, when fired, that shot will go through any iron or steel plates ever constructed, even though they are ten miles off.

These large cannon are mounted on men-of-war, as well as on forts; so, as the United States possesses no strong forts, and no large or powerful guns, and nothing but wooden ships in the navy, it will be seen how easy it would be for a foreign ironclad to lie outside Coney Island and throw shells into New York city, ten or twelve miles distant.

"DON'T YOU WORRY"

HOW SHREWD BUSINESS MEN HAVE SOLVED GREAT PROBLEMS.

"Is there a fatality among our prominent men" is a question that we often ask. It is a question that perplexes our leading medical men, and they are at a loss to know how to answer it.

We sometimes think that if the physicians would give part of the energy to the consideration of this question that they give to combatting other schools of practice, it might be satisfactorily answered.

The flights of "isms" reminds us often of the quarrels of the old Indian tribes, that were only happy when they were anihilating each other.

If Allopathy makes a discovery that promises good to the race, Homœpathy derides it and breaks down its influence. If Homœpathy makes a discovery that promises to be a boon to the race, Allopathy attacks it.

It is absurd that these schools should fancy that all of good is in their methods and none in any other.

Fortunately for the people, the merit which these "isms" will recognizeby the public, and this public recognition taking the form of a demand upon the medical profession, eventually compells it to recognize it.

Is it possible that the question has been answered by shrewd business men? A prominent man once said to an inquirer, who asked him how he got rich, "I got rich because I did things while other people were thinking about doing them." It seems to us that the public have recognized what this fatality is, and how it can be met, while the medical profession have been wrangling about it.

By a careful examination of insurance reports reference to examination (and that no man can now get any amount of insurance who has the least development of kidney disorder) because they find that sixty out of every hundred in this country do, either directly or indirectly, suffer from kidney disease. Hence, no reliable company will insure a man except after a rigid urinary examination.

This reminds us of a little instance that occurred a short time ago. A fellow editor was an applicant for a respectable amount of insurance. He was rejected on examination, because unknown to himself, his kidneys were diseased. The shrewd agent, however, did not give up the case. He had an eye to busines and to his commission, and said: "Don't you worry; you get a half dozen bottles of Warner's safe cure—all dealers keep it—take it according to directions and in about a month come around, and we will have another examination. I know you will find yourself all right and will get your policy."

The editor expressed surprise at the agent's faith, but the latter replied: "This point is a valuable one. Very many insurance agents all over the country, when they find a customer rejected for this cause, give similar advise, and eventually he gets the insurance."

What are we to infer from such circumstances? Have shrewd insurance men as well as other shrewd business men, found secret answer to question Is it possible that our columns have been proclaiming, in the form of advertisements, what has proven a blessing in disguise to millions, and yet by many ignored as an advertisement?

In our files we find thousands of strong testimonials for Warner's safe cure, no two alike, which could not exist except upon a basis of truth, indeed they are published under a guarantee of $5,000 to any one who will disprove their correctness, and this offer has been standing, we are told for more than four years.

Undoubtedly this article, which is simply dealing out justice, will be considered as an advertisement and be rejected by many as such.

We have not space nor time to discuss the proposition that a poor thing could not succeed to the extent that this great remedy has succeeded, could not become so popular without merit even if pushed by a Vaderbilt or an Astor.

Hence we take the liberty of telling our friends that it is a duty that they owe to themselves to investigate the matter and reflect carefully, for the statements published are subject to the refutation of the entire world. None have refuted them; on the contrary, hundreds of thousands have believed them and proved them true, and in believing have found the highest measure of satisfaction,that which money cannot buy, and money cannot take away.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

WHY IS IT

That rheumatism and neuralgia are so prevalent? This question has not been satisfactorily answered, but it is certain that these diseases are not only the most painful but among the most common, and some member of nearly every family in the land is the victim of one of these dread tormentors. Ladies seem to be peculiarly liable to neuralgic attacks, which, in the form of neuralgic headache, pain in the back, or nervous pains are of constant occurrence. Not until the discovery of Athlophoros had any remedy been found for either rheumatism, neuralgia or nervous headache, and they were generally conceded to be incurable, but Athlophoros has been proved to be not only a certain cure for these diseases, in all their varied forms, but a safe remedy. If, in the use of Athlophoros, the bowels are kept freely open, its success is certain, and to aid this Athlophoros Pills are recommended which, while providing the necessary cathartic, will be found to be a valuable aid to the action of the medicine. Athlophoros is no experiment, it has been tested and has proved its wonderful efficacy.

The Athlophoros Pills were originally prepared as a remedy for use in connection with Athlophoros, for rheumatism and neuralgia and kindred complaints. Used in connection with that remedy, they are a certain cure for either of these very common and distressing diseases. They have also been found to be an invaluable remedy for any and all diseases arising from vitiated blood or general debility. They are especially valuable for nervous debility, blood poisoning, dyspepsia, distress after eating headache, constipation, loss of appetite and all stomach or liver troubles. For diseases of women they are invaluable These pills are perfectly harmless and may be safely used by adults or children.

Testimonials of those who have been cured will be sent free on application.

☞Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist, the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

Interesting Experiences

Hiram Cameron, Furniture Dealer of Columbus,Ga., tells his experience, thus: "For three years have tried every remedy on the market for Stomach and Kidney Disorders, but got no relief, until I used Electric Bitters. Took five bottles and am now cured, and think Electric Bitters the best Blood Purifier in the world." Major A. B. Reed of West Liberty, Ky., says: "Nothing has ever done me so much good as Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by G. M. Shindel.

A Captain's Fortunate Discovery.

Capt. Coleman, schr. Weymouth, plying between Atlantic City and N. Y., had been troubled with a cough so that he was unable to sleep, and was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Dr. King's New Discovery is now the standard remedy in the Coleman household and on board the schooner. Free Trial Bottles of this Standard Remedy at G. M. Shindel's Drug Store.
