Judge Stetson, of Harrisburg

The bill to prevent the sale of intoxicating drinks

James G. Blaine, with several members of his family

John Wannamaker, the Philadelphia merchant

We enter the spring of 1887 under auspicious encouragements

Eleven years ago Maine abolished capital punishment

Every now and then some legislator proposes to change the State Capital

In spite of many denials, reports continue to come of terrible and disastrous loss of cattle

Joseph Howard Jr., well known for the past twenty-five years as a brilliant and acceptable writer

Fay Teachers Liberally

The bill requiring school directors and controllers to pay teachers for the time spent attending annual county institutes

As a matter of fact there is no element in a community so generally deserving and poorly appreciated as the school teachers

The reasons that recommend the law in question to favorable consideration are numerous and obvious

Protect the Forests.

Professor Edmund James says that "in the interests of agriculture and good health, at least twenty per cent of the land ought to be wooded"

Of course Professor James' argument was not so comprehensive as this. His purpose was simply to show the relation of agriculture to the forests and how many its sources depended upon their maintenance

There is now a bill before the Senate, introduced by Senator Harlan, intended to attract attention to the subject and make it an object to the land owner to grow trees

Joseph Howard's 'Life of Beecher' is rapidly growing in importance

PENSION FRAUDS

There is a great deal to cry about "pension frauds." Men and newspapers make a great fuss and cry out with a loud voice

The pension laws have been so completely overhauled that it is not possible to furnish the most conclusive evidence of his disability before his claim was allowed

Last week a Union county jury brought in a verdict of guilty against Daniel Seybert, of Columbia county

Bucklen's Arnica Ointment

The Best Ointment in the world for Rheumatism, Sprains, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Clapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all skin eruptions
