The section of the high-license bill fixing the tax as finally adopted by the House places the license required at $500 for cities of the first second and third classes, at $300 for other cities $150 for boroughs and at $75 for townships. The reduction in the two last particulars was demanded by country members and will be generally accepted as wise.

"To discontinue an advertisement," says John Wanamaker, "is like taking down your sign. If you want to do business, you must let the public know it. Standing advertisements, when changed frequently, are better and cheaper than reading notices. They look more substantial and business like, and inspire confidence. I would as soon think of doing business without advertising."

It is a good sign that the Knights of Labor in Chicago are becoming disgusted with their Socialist brethren and that hereafter they will have nothing to do with the red flag. But it is a pity that they did not get into this comparatively healthful frame of mind until the people of Chicago pronounced their opinion of the labor frauds and demagogues at the polls. The Republican majority of 28,000 has clarified the Chicago atmosphere like a thunderstorm after a sultry day in midsummer.

It is believed that the sudden changes of temperature which have grown to be a peculiarity of our climate are largely due to the fact that the country is becoming denuded of forests. Cold winters and hot summers, drought and flood are much common than formerly in Pennsylvania, and they are attributed to the ruin of the timber that once covered the country. These facts should be considered and they should lead to a general movement in the direction of tree planting in accordance with the request of Governor Beaver in designating April 22 as 'Arbor Day.'

A contemporary says "the printing press has made presidents, killed poets, furnished busties for beauties and polished genius for criticism. It has made worlds get up at roll-call every morning, given the pulpit lungs of iron, and a voice of steam. It has set the price on a bushel of wheat and made the country postoffice the glimmering goal of the rural scribe. It has curtailed the power of kings, graced the pantry shelves and bursted, it has converted bankers into paupers and made lawyers of college presidents; it has educated the homeless and robbed the philosopher of his reason. It smiles and kicks, and cries and dies, but it can't be run to suit everybody, and the editor's a fool who tries."

Lincoln's Remains at Rest

The remains of the martyred President Lincoln and those of his wife were recently removed from their secred resting place at Springfield Ill., and deposited in the north vault of the Lincoln monument, in Oak Ridge cemetary, near that city. Since 1876 when an attempt was made to steal the remains for the sake of a ransom, the place of their deposit has been a profound mystery, securely locked in the breasts of the Lincoln Guard of Honor, which organization secreted the bodies and yesterday surrendered their charge. It is to be hoped that, now that the spot where the remains lie is known, love for the man who in life did so much for the nation and humanity will restrain even the ghouls, and that it will become a shrine toward which all who love honesty, patriotism, humility, virtue, patience, devotion, ability, and all the qualities that elevate mankind may turn their faces in gratitude

LETTER FROM HARRISBURG.

Editor Middleburgh Post.

Ex-Senator Lee and Willis J. Hulings from Venango county, former Legislators from their district, headed a delegation of sixty men-private dealers in oil-from the oil country, that came here on the evening trains from the west last Monday night to aid in the passage of the Billingsley Bill, which secures civilized rates for the storing and shipping of oil. The passage of the Bill was the occasion of much rejoicing on the part of the friends of the measure and the House saw fit to take a recess and give itself over to the feeling of enthusiasm which prevailed.

By a vote of 107 to 36 the Boyer Bill was passed in the House on Thursday afternoon. With the Senate to give its astute sanction and the signature of the Governor to be attatched to this needed provision it will become a law and the new Library Building soon will be a reality. Mr. Robinson made a warm speech in opposition to the measure.

"Echos from Round Top", was the subject of an interesting Lecture delivered to a large audience, in the House on Tuesday evening 19th inst by the Rev. Jesse B. Young pastor of the Grace M. E. Church of this city. Mr. Young is a popular preacher and a brilliant orator and was himself a participator in the greatest battle of the war. He was invited to deliver this Lecture to the Senators and Members prior to the proposed visit to the Field of Gettysburg by the Legislature on Friday.

Senator Cooper upon the adjournment of the Senate on Thursday last, threw off the habiliments of his official station and went to the hills of Berks county to fish for trout. The leader of the upper chamber is an ardent sportsman and fisherman and inaugurates the different seasons of recreation in field and forest, by hieing away from the cares of State to seek the life renewing pleasures which association with forest and stream alone can render. The red headed Chieftain returned with a string of speckled beauties that did credit to his skill as an angler and when asked how many rattlesnakes he had killed, he said that there was but one kind of snakes he killed, the copper head for which he had no fear and of which species he had slain many thousands in his career as a fisherman. No politics here however, in this. The call for the meeting of the State Convention, the Chairman intimates, will soon be issued.

Col Quay reached Harrisburg late on Monday night of last week upon his return from the trip he took to Florida some months ago. He was accompanied by Col A. K. McClure of the Times, who is as ubiquitous in his perambulations about the country as he is curt in his editorial expressions. Mr. Quay's arrival in his stronghold has set the political pot to boiling and new candidates for the Treasuryship are peering up in places hitherto unknown. Speaker Boyer denies that he is ambitious of becoming the chief of the Treasury Department while Capt. Harry Greenawalt, the present efficient Corporation Clerk, to which position he has lately been promoted and Capt. Wm. B. Hart, once an unsuccessful candidate on the Republican ticket for Treasurer will cross swords in their efforts to win favor from him who is the dispenser of political power. Both are excellent men, with many warm friends to aid in pushing their respective claims and the distinction of being well qualified to assume the responsibilities connected with the guardianship of the State's money, is readily pronounced upon each of the aspiring men, who are striving for the prize. It is however reasonably safe to say that the coming man is apprized as to which way the wind is blowing the shaft of political fortune.

The resolution adopted by the Senate fixing May 5th., as the time for final adjournment, has been amended in the House to May 19th.

Walworth.

The bill prohibiting the acquisition of government land by aliens, which passed both houses of Congress but did not receive Cleveland's signature, is a commendable measure, and will without doubt, be revived in the Fiftieth Congress next winter. Another piece of legislation in the same direction is needed, to prevent capitalists of our own country from obtaining great areas of the public domain. Not long ago an Eastern syndicate bought 80,000,000 acres in one tract. It can readily be seen that this policy will soon result in levying an oppressive tribute on the westward flow of our population, and it is a signal instance of the utter lack of foresight and judgement of Congress that the practice is not stopped at once.

DESPONDENT MORMONS.

Vainglory and boasting, such as have heretofore been noticable in the addresses of the heads of the Mormon Church, are noticably absent from this year's address. On the contrary the address is full of meek humility and self-sacrifice. The "affliction of the saints" caused by the enforcement of the anti-polygamy law, is called "the scourage of the Lord" for past remissness and disregard of his will. The Mormon chiefs comfort themselves with the assertion that the law is the work of the devil, of "the adversary of souls," and in mournful tones they say "no such law was ever enacted before." This attempt to pose as martyrs will fail. It is doubtful if the Mormon elders can ever persuade their followers that Senator Edmonds, the author of the law, is the devil, or if they do the Mormons, as a class, must realize that they are between the devil and the deep sea, and that they must walk in a straight line, and not do anything which will lead them into the power of one or the other. Mormonism is doomed, and the address of the church this year shows that the leaders of the polygamists are realizing that they can no longer propagate their nefarious belief with safety.

Overlooking an Important Fault.

Some one has prepared a printed petition and distributed it among the Patrons of Husbandry in which a protest is made against the exemption of manufacturing companies from taxation under the proposed new revenue law. These petitions or protests are just now being sent into the Senate in great numbers from all parts of the State. They read as follows:

We consider it unjust to exempt certain classes of property, leaving the burdens which they should bear as their proper share to be borne by others, and we demand, as a matter of right, that every industry be required to contribute its even-handed portion to the support of the Government which protects all alike. We confidently appeal to you, therefore, as representing our interests, as well as all other interests, to see to it that no such injustice is done to the people."

When it is remembered that there is no State tax on real estate, which constitutes the principal capital of the farmer this petition seems to be a little inconsistent. The State revenue are principally the result of taxation of corporations. The proposition to omit manufacturing companies grew out of the fact that they are in these days absolutely necessary to the prosperity of a community and through them the farmers are supplied with a market.

Statistics are often presented showing the enormous size of the nation's liquor bill, but few persons comparatively are aware how much is annually on another luxury—tobacco. The American Grocer has made a careful estimate of the nations tobacco bill for 1886, and places it at $250,500,000 about $3.44 per capita. As not more than one-fifth of the population, probably, makes use of the weed, the average expenditure of each user is about $17 per year, an amount that put at compound interest for fifty years at 6 per cent, would buy a house and lot. Of course this amount is nothing like so large as that spent for liquor—only a little over one-third, in fact, for the nation's annual liquor bill is about $700,000,000—but still a sufficiently formidable sum for an article that is, to say the least, not an absolute necessity of life. More money is spent for tobacco than for sugar; almost twice as much for those other luxuries, tea and coffee; and two and a half times as much as is spent upon schools. For cigarettes alone the sum of $6,500,000 is spent—and wasted; for, of all the ways of using tobacco, cigarette smoking is the most injurious, the most insidious, the most disgusting and offensive. Twenty million dollars are spent upon smoking tobacco, and $50,000,000 upon chewing tobacco—so the chewers have more to answer for than the pipe smokers. Of course the largest item in the list is for cigars. More money is burned in the shape of tobacco than is consumed by all the accidental fires in the United States, and tobacco costs almost as much as fuel.

Freeburg Items.

The family of E. B. Bassler who have been spending some time in Toledo, Ohio, returned to Freeburg to make it their future home.

The firm of Bassler and Strayer has been decolved, and is now carried on by Mr. Strayer alone.

Garden making, has been the order of the day, for the last two weeks. And shortly little onions will be on the bill of fare.

Our Merchants are busy laying in their Spring goods.

Miss Lizzie R. Dill, at the urgent request of the citizens opened a select school on Monday.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
