Y., for book on Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Mention this paper.

Brother Lambard of the Tribune made some very complimentary comment concerning a ringlet on our test he had witnessed in the Post printing office. We thought he would raise the devil and it did as the following challenge will indicate:

To JOSEPH LAMBARD, Esq.—Sir: I hereby challenge you to meet me within three weeks at any place you may specify and contend with bare knuckles, or hard gloves, Police Gazette Rules, catch weights, for a seventeen cent purse and the championship of the printing business, over Chas. G Reigner, Esq. Charley Ruel stakeholder.

Your Satanic Majesty, DEVIL OF THE POST.

Simon Long, the obliging landlord of the Lochiel Hotel, McKees Falls, paid the POST a visit last week, paid his paper in advance for a fourth year, and then gave the editor of the POST a good sound tongue lashing for not being at home when he called, that he might get to see us before he crossed Jordan. We are sorry Simon was disappointed in not seeing us, but we were off fishing. We had to go. It was a providence. We were sent of most.

We are reliably informed that Prof. J. D. Daughtrey of Suffolk, Va., and Prof. W. A. Brown of Spruce Mills, Pa., are about forming a co-partnership and engage in the business of publishing band, orchestra, and piano and organ music, and will locate in Middleburgh. Both gentlemen come very highly recommended. Prof. Daughtrey is an excellent composer and arranger of music and instructor on the piano and organ which will afford our young people a rare opportunity to take lessons. He also gives lessons on the violin, clarionet, and cornet. Prof. Brown is, also, a teacher of reeds and thoroughly understands the mechanism of reeds in all its departments. Both gentlemen are honest and clean business. They are expected here by the 15th of June. It is hoped that the citizens of Middleburgh and the public generally will encourage this enterprise. Snyder county is known far and wide as a musical county; let it henceforth be a musical centre in the State.

Since the above is in type, we have learned that Mr. Daughtry has met with an accident which will probably delay his coming for several weeks.

BEAVERTOWN.—William Youngman has adorned his home with a new organ.

John Hetrick has erected an additions to the barn on his farm.

William Weaver is making preparations to erect a new house in the west suburb of town.

Rev. Mumma and his congregation had communion services on Sunday.

A new pavement in front of James O. Herbster's residence improves the sidewalk.

Charles C. Fees, a native of this place for the last sixteen years a resident of Wichita, Kansas, who is company with his wife, a native of Michigan, and two children has been visiting friend, here, will start westward to-day (Tuesday). They will visit friends in Michigan and Arkansas before returning home.

Bark in large quantities is brought to the tannery and stored away for future use.

The above locals were accidentally omitted in last week's paper.—Ed.

BANNERVILLE.—Allen Rothrock is at home at present and intends following the carrying business more extensively this summer than before.

J. O. Goss intends to haul his bark to Saylor's Steam tannery, he has about two hundred and fifty cords.

Mr. Romig of Adamsburg came here last week with his mammoth photograph wagon and is now ready for business.

J. O. Goss has his steam saw mill on the James Peter farm about 1½ miles north west of Bannerville.

The three sons of Lewis Treaster have returned home from the West on account of the ill health of their mother who is better now. They reside in Fillmore county, Neb., and two of them will return some time in June.

Decoration day passed off very quietly in this place.

Wm. H. Kline and family arrived here from Goshen, Ind., last week and intend to settle in this State.

Middlecreek for music,
Lowell for Jews,
McClure for busines, and Bannerville for bashful boys—say the West Beaver girls.

TRIP TO THE MOUNTAINS.—On Wednesay of last week the Ed. of the POST accompanied by B. F. Herman of Kratzerville, and John F. Statler of Middleburgh, shouldered their knapsacks with forty rounds of provisions and about a half a gallon of "political enthusiasm," boarded the train at Middleburgh and started for Traster Valley on a trouting expedition. At Adamsburg our company was joined by George Smith of the firm of Smith & Helfrich. We secured a team and drove to Little Valley, (or New Lancaster) and from there bundled it across Tuick Mountain, a distance of three miles to Buck-wheat shanty in Treaster Valley. The three miles required three hour's hard traveling—so rough and steep was the ascent. Upon reaching the shanty all haste was made to get to fishing and by supper time two hours later—over a hundred trout had been caught, cleaned, rolled in corn meal and ready for the skillet. By six o'clock supper was on the table and as jolly a crowd as ever swung a fly surrounded the board. Then talk of your royal feasts, your dinners at Delmonicos. All rules of etiquet were discarded. We were in a virgin forest—why should we not adopt the virgin customs and use the fingers when there wasn't a fork within ten miles of us? No one gave thanks, but we thought hard of Roby Burns' Selkirk Grace:

"Some have meat and canna eat,
And some wad eat that want it;
But we have meat and we can eat
And sae the Lord be thankit."

Night soon spread her sable mantle over the mountains and the full round notes of the oriole ceased. The whip poor will started up his "shrill call and in a minute the mountains rang with their music. They would sing all night and would keep any one but a very tired man from sleeping. Nobody one would perch on the comb of the shanty and start up a terrific serenade as if to welcome us new comers. One thump against the roof would send him a "skallyhooting" up the mountain where he would continue his serenade till the break of day.

The following day we found the brook bank high, and the water was colored by the terrific rains during the night. Fishing was done for that day and the continued rain all afternoon a narrow escape to many a frost that would have given way to the strains of the inspiring words of the treacherous fly. About 10 o'clock the second night while quietly chatting around the old Hathaway cooking stove, which one day must have been a noisy decree to the boy who had to supply it with wood, we heard a terrific yell on the mountain in the direction of home. Listen!

"What is it?"

"There it is again. Can it be a panther? Let us leave."

"Hallo!"

"What is it?"

"It's a human voice and coming in this direction. Something may have happened at home and they are coming for us. In a moment there was confusion and every one had his own idea of it sounding through some one more, but hurried in the direction of the voice. It is strange what peculiar fancies take possession of the mind on such occasions. The whole was over and we could distinguish the voice of two persons. Then came a few notes of a familiar tune and the general impression was that it became no bad news from home. In a short time the nocturnal visitors emerged from the thicket. They were strange faces to us and to the inquiry "what's up," they replied that they had brought us a lost man who was following in the rear. The "rear guard" soon came up and we recognized in him our sporting friend J. B. Reed, of Sunbury, who had been invited to accompany us, but owing to a press of business had been compelled to remain a day longer. He had secured the services of two guides in Little Valley who had planted him to our shanty. The meeting was akin to that of Stanley's discovery of Livingston in the wilds of Africa and a happier meeting on both sides is seldome witnessed. The guides, after eating a hearty supper, paired out for home at 1 o'clock over a rough, dense and pathless mountain in the midst of a terrific rain storm and dressed in nothing but a gingham shirt, a light heart and a thin pair of breeches!

The following nights and days were much like the first and soon grew monotonous—making it a pleasure to pack up on Saturday morning and strike for McClure to take the railroad home, strengthened and refreshed in body and mind.

The weather being entirely against us, our catch was light, only about four hundred trout being taken. During our stay in camp we met James Treaster, recognized as one of the most skilled bear and bear hunters in the State. We drew from him several thrilling bear stories which we will give with other interesting observations next week.

ASTONISHING SUCCESS.—It is the duty of every person who has used Buchee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croups, Asthma, Pneumonia and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate reliable relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptives, at least to try one bottle, as 50,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try, sold at 10 cents. Sold by all druggists and dealers, in the United States and Canada.

McCLURE.—On Saturday, May 28, a pitched battle took place between two females in this town in which some scientific slugging was indulged in.

Several more new houses besides there mentioned in our last are to go up this summer.

The members of the Evangelical church are having the church repainted and the foundation repaired.

Dr. D. R. Rothrock of New Berlin was here recently to see his mother who has been very seriously ill for a month but is now better. The doctor had his better half with him.

There are several cases of pneumonia in this vicinity but all are improving.

Memorial Day was observed in a becoming manner. The Grand Army, assisted by the Sons of Veterans and Sunday Schools decked the graves of our comrades with flowers and held appropriate services. The Sons of Veterans are growing in strength and usefulness.

This year our G. A. Post selected its memorial orators out of its own ranks, and we are happy to say, they all did well. I think this is the right way. None but comrades in misery have due sympathy for the dead who went shoulder to shoulder in defense of their country and it tends to strengthen the chain of friendship that binds them together here. Let the example be followed hereafter.

CENTREVILLE.—The cherry crop is going to be a failure here, having all dropped off the trees.

During the wet weather last week a large number of cabbage and tomato plants were set out in the gardens here, and if the season is favorable we may expect a full supply of cabbage and tomatoes.

Bark in large quantities is brought to Fessler's tannery and stored away for future use.

Quarterly conference was held here, Saturday. Rev. I. N. Pines delivered two good stirring sermons and Sunday morning administered the Lord's Supper to fifty-three persons of the Ev. congregation.

The Centreville Band furnished music for a festival at Laurelton Saturday evening.

J. M. Miller and wife Sundayed in Laurelton.

In town recently Henry Kerr and J. G. Gerlach, Beavertown; Jacob Lauver and wife Kreamer; S. P. Steary Lewisburg, G. W. Young, Harry Straub and wife Vicksburg, D. K. Smith Laurelton, F. E. Bower Middleburg, A. Heiser Kratzerville, N. Dubler Hummel's Wharf, John Cochran, F. Bailey, Thomas Bailey and their wives Sunnyside, Del.

The school board was reorganized on Monday. The following are the officers for the comming year: President, Jesse Hackenberry, Sec. A. C. Walter, Treas. Dr. J. W. Sampsel.
