Rev. J. M. Pines, of Lewisburg, held a quarterly meeting in the Evangelical church over Christmas. He preaches a genuine straight forward gospel. John P. Kearns offers two acres of the land which he purchased of Henry Ester gratis to any person or persons who will establish thereon any factory that will employ fifty hands. He will also give it in smaller portions, viz., one acre for a factory that will employ 25 hands, one half acre for a factory that will employ 13 hands etc. This is an excellent opportunity for persons embarking in such an enterprise and Beaver town is a good place for various kinds of factories. Mr. Kearns thinks a hard wood furniture factory or a soap factory would do well here. The rest of the land he intends selling for building lots.

Published every Thursday. Our friends throughout the county will oblige by sending us the news in their respective towns, villages and localities. Send the news plain, and we will dress them up, if need be. Our columns will always be open to those who wish to speak through the general of local questions of public interest; but we will not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions they may express.

Second handed sleigh for sale cheap, apply to A. K. Gift, Middleburgh, Pa. Rev. Spayd commenced a protracted meeting in the U. B. Church, Middleburgh, Sunday evening. The Jury Commissioners are filling the box this week with the names of Snyder County's substantial citizens for Jurors.

Louis Kahn, clerk for H. Oppenheimer, Selingsgrove, desires to inform the public that he will buy in all kinds of furs and will pay the highest cash price for the same. At the sitting of the County Auditors in the court-house on Wednesday, Louis King, Esq., occupied the Judge's seat. Louis, by the way, would make a very good-looking Judge.

Boys, how is it about that bear killed near Troxelville very recently which had hoofs? We had a dream about it; but, "mehby" we were with John on the Isle of Patmos and saw a dragon. The new county officers were sworn into service at the Court House on Monday morning. The board of Commissioners started into business by electing Jacob Aurand Clerk, Horace Alteman, Esq., Attorney, and John S. Stetler, Janitor of the Court House.

All persons interested in music are requested to meet in Seebold's Hall, Monday evening, Jan. 9, 1888, at 7 o'clock sharp, to organize and complete a class for the coming convention. All those who have books called the "Herald of Praise" are requested to bring them to the Hall. Our correspondents crowded in on us this week and occupy the major part of our local columns with communications from various points of interest in the county. We are always glad to give every section of the county room for its news—even though it cramp us for local space.

The Sunday School festivals in Middleburgh on Christmas were as usual, very well attended, and the exercises were interesting while the decorations were profuse and beautiful. Middleburgh was crowded with visitors during the holidays and it would be a useless attempt to chronicle the names of all the welcome guests here, hence we wont attempt it. MIDDLEBURGH MUSICAL ASSOCIATION.—The association has agreed upon holding a Convention in Seebold's Hall, commencing Monday evening, Jan. 30, 1888, and closing Saturday evening, Feb. 4. Under directorship of Prof. Paul Billhardt—a graduate of the Leipsic University. The Association has engaged a large amount of talent to assist, and promises a week of profit and enjoyment.

The Snyder County Teachers' Institute during Holiday week was one of the most interesting as well as the most instructive held here for years. The instructors and lecturers were all of the very highest order, and the interest manifested by the public in general and the teachers in particular, with the satisfactory results attained during the session, will no doubt encourage Superintendent Herman in the attempt to keep up the high standard of his first effort in conducting a Teachers' Institute in Snyder County. We are sorry that space does not permit us further comment on this subject in this paper, but may do so in a future issue.

The wasted form of old '87, wrapped in a winding sheet of snow, has been buried, like its predecessors, in the cemetery of departed years. The past twelve months have brought to each and all of us a measure of experience. Sunshine and shadow have been blended, and joy and sorrow have in turn been tempered by the changing lights. Pleasure unalloyed has been the lot of few, while the bitterness that comes from blighted hopes and cruel disappointments have entered into many lives. Weal and woe in equal parts have been meted out, and the burdens that many have been called to bear have weighed them to the earth. Yet the year just ended has born its fruitage, and not unlike the orchard's autumn crop, it has dropped to some the golden pippins of pleasure, while to others only the guarded, unhealthy has fallen. But to what purpose do we ruminate upon the unhappy past? Let the dead year bury its dead, and let the helpful angel of hope usher us into a new life the new year, and forgetful of the misfortunes of the past but mindful of the lessons they have taught us, we may make the future brighter than our past has been. That health, prosperity and pleasure may fall to the lot of the Post's readers in 1888 is our sincerest wish, and may it prove to be a verity a Happy Year.
