United States is under mortgage.

There is one very important exception to the statement, the State of New York, which Mr Coleman, Commissioner of Agriculture of Agricul-tore, in an official report says has not one-third of its farm-land under mortgage. Whatever may be the proportion of farm land under mortgage in the country, two important facts should be kept in view. One of these is that a very large number of the mortgages are owned by farmers who have made farming a suc-
