The 18th Annual Convention of the Snyder County S. S. Association

HELD AT BEAVERTOWN, MAY 21-23.

"Oh a fair future stands firm and will abide: Legions of angels light upon its side."

The Association convened in St. Paul's Union Church, and at 7:30 p. m. Mr. M. L. Wagenseiler called the Convention to order. Rev. N. Young, of Beavertown led in devotional exercises. A. M. Carpenter welcomed the delegates in a neat speech and extended the hospitality of the citizens of Beavertown. Free Wagenseiler, responded in behalf of the Association. Rev. M. B. Spayd, of Middleburgh, spoke on "Advantages and Benefits of S. S. Conventions." The speaker discussed the topic very fully and very ably too, and won the plaudits of the large audience. Rev. Mumma of Adamsburg also spoke on the topic.

which awaited the case, his foe crept on his hunches. As the buffalo, upon him the bear threw himself down, and with a blow as quick as lightning to his antagonist's neck. A grizzly bear has been known to charge in quick succession four and even five big buffaloes, and to kill every one of them. It frequently happened however, that some younger and more active bull than his companions succeeded. In evading the fatal blow of the grizzly the bear frequently managed to give his foe a fatal thrust with his horn in the bear's side, penetrating the vitals, and making of the content a mutual slaughter.—New York Sun.

Lifting a Thousand Pounds. To lift 1,000 pounds on the health life is no very remarkable feat for a person of average strength, giving sufficient time daily for a few months to practice. Mr. Dinkie learned in this way, at the age of 17, to lift 1,000 pounds after only six months' practice. Those who prefer to lift an actually measured weight will find it necessary to employ the following framework to bear the weight and standing in its midst, so as to lift the weight by means of symmetrically attached straps. For the body cannot, when at all, bear such a weight as 1,000 pounds.

Whichever such exercise is good for the body as a whole depends on a good deal on the opportunities which a man has for correcting an abnormal development of the lifting muscles by means of other exercises, increasing the development of other muscles and giving activity as well as strength to the frame.—Richard A. Proctor.

Georgian and Circassian. The Georgian has a beauty quite different from that of the Circassian. The Circassian is dazzling, queen like and stately. She has a fair skin. She is elegant in form. She is kindly and without spite, but lazy in movement and without spirit. One of her own sex has said: "There is no soul in a Circassian beauty; and as she follows her pure, pale cheek upon her small dimpled hand, you feel no inclination to arouse her into exertion; you are contented to look upon her and to contemplate her loveliness." The Georgian is a creature with eyes like meteors and teeth almost as dazzling as her eyes. Her mouth does not wear the sweet and unassuming smile of her less vivacious rival. But the proud expression that sits upon her arched lips accords so well with her stately form and lofty brow that you do not seek to change its character.—Home Journal.

Origin of Color Blindness. That the origin of color blindness lies in the brain, and not in the eye, has been suggested by Professor Hamann. While engaged in teaching in Brooklyn some years ago, the principal of a school insisted in teaching every case of the sort as dependent on the will of the pupil. His remedy was the rod. This certainly seemed a tyrannical and unwarranted treatment, but the result was favorable to his theory. "Is it possible that a thorough examination will ultimately demonstrate that the fault lies very largely in the inefficient methods of observation, which have grown up under the old classical system of education, and which have to a large extent become hereditary?"—Science.

Strictly Anti-Sedentary. Friend (to congressman's wife)—Is your husband a man of sedentary habits? Wife—Of course not. He hasn't touched a drop in fifteen years.

Mistake of a Post. Sir Robert Ball, the Irish astronomer royal, has made scientific calculations, showing to his own satisfaction, at least, that the moon was far below the horizon on the night that Sir John Moore was buried and, therefore, Wolfe's famous poem is wrong in the stanza that has moonbeams in it.—Chicago Herald.

Tillie May Forney in Woman.

The Fat Man Trick. Stage tricks and illusions have an undying charm even when the veil of mystery is raised. It was the celebrated family of Revels that invented the fat man trick, and now we have an exposition of the manner in which that amazing marvel was accomplished. One of the actors in the pantomime sits at a table and ravenously eats dish after dish of food that is meant to be eaten by him. Presently the man, who has not evidently eaten was rather thin and ordinary, begins to grow plump. His chest is inflated snugly. His waistcoat steadily swells out under the very eyes of the audience.

Education of Arabians. "Educate a girl!" exclaimed a Mohammedan to Dr. Jessup, a missionary among the Arabs, who was urging him to place one of his daughters in a girl's school in Tripoli. "Educate a girl? You might as well try to educate a cat!" Several aristocratic Mohammedan gentlemen of Beirut were induced a few years ago to place their daughters in one of the Protestant schools there, and one of them remarked: "Would you believe it? I heard one of the girls read the other day, and she actually asked a question about the construction of a nose, preceded by a proposition! I never heard the like of it! The things do distinguish and understand what they read after all!" The other replied: "Mashallah! Mashallah! The will of God be done!"—St. Louis Republican.

The Coolies of Trinidad. The coolies work excellently. They are picturesque additions to the landscape, as they keep to the bright colors and graceful dexterity of India. The grave dignity of their faces contrasts remarkably with the broad, good humored, but common features of the African. The black women look with envy at the straight hair of Asia, and twist their unhygienic wool into knots and ropes in vain hope of being mistaken for the pure race; but this is all. The African boy, the Asiatic will not mix, and the African being the stronger, will and must prevail in Trinidad, as elsewhere in the West Indies. Out of a total population of 170,000 there are 25,000 whites and mulattoes, 10,000 coolies, the rest negroes. The English part of the European shows no tendency to increase.—J. A. Froide.

Belief in the Moon's Influence. Men are not superstitious nowadays. Oh, no! but some of them kill their hogs only in the light of the moon, and plant their potatoes when it is full. One of our citizens relates a remarkable instance in proof of Luna's effects upon madhouse affairs. He says that in Pennsylvania, before he left that state, two men put new roofs upon their houses. One house was roofed while the moon was new, and the other while it was either dark or full. Before he came away the roof of the former house had drawn up till a full story had to be cut underneath, while the roof of the latter had passed the building down till the lower story was under ground!—American Magazine.

Water in the Bivalves. "Always have your oysters opened while you wait," said a Brooklyn dealer. "Why? Because, although you pay five cents a quart more for them, you will save money. It is the custom of oyster dealers who open oysters the night before they are sold to throw them into water. An oyster will absorb about one-third its weight in water, and so the purchaser pays one-third of his money for water, which he can add to the oysters himself if he wants his bivalves watered."—New York Evening Sun.

denied aim. 2d, The aims of the S. S. are: first, The diffusion of moral and Christian knowledge; second, To create a reverence for the Sabbath; third, To lead young men and young women into the Church; fourth, To develop the highest type of Christian manhood and womanhood. C. W. Hermann spoke on "How to make the S. S. attractive." 1. All life is influenced by its environments; 2, Rooms should be ornamented and adopted to the work. 3, The work should be thoroughly systemized; 4, Officers should be courteous; 5, Teachers should make the instruction attractive and ought to be living lessons. Like teacher, like pupil. Rev. Young, D. S. Boyer, Wm Moyer, and J. A. Smith spoke on the question.

On motion of Rev. Mumma all S. S. workers were received advisory members of the convention. The President announced the following committee: On Resolution—J. C. Mumma, D. S. Boyer, M. B. Spayd. Executive—Rev. Yutz, S. A. Aund D. S. Boyer. Auditing—C. R. Erdley, Wm Schnee, N. Young. Vice Pres—D. S. Boyer, J. A. Smith H. I. Romig

Wm Moyer opened the discussion "How to reach the scholar's mind." Skill in conducting recitations; Consistency between the teacher and his counsels, were the points brought out J. A. Smith and Rev. Spayd also spoke on the subject.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON. "The best method of Developing Christian Liberty in the S. S.," was discussed by Rev. Yutz. Selfishness is the great besetting sin of the world; No man can get through life without self-denial; The tendency of this age is to accumulate money; We must restrain ourselves; Rev. Yutz is a clear, logical thinker and is vigorous in presenting his arguments.

The discussion was continued by Rev. Aund and Wm Moyer. The children's meeting was addressed by D. S. Boyer and I. N. Johns. Christ's love for little children and their dependence on God were presented in a pleasing and entertaining manner. Old and young enjoyed the meeting.

Reports of schools were given at this time by the different delegates.

THURSDAY EVENING. The church was packed. Every available space was occupied. After and excellent selection by the choir which awaited the case, his foe crept on his hunches. As the buffalo, upon him the bear threw himself down, and with a blow as quick as lightning to his antagonist's neck. A grizzly bear has been known to charge in quick succession four and even five big buffaloes, and to kill every one of them. RESOLUTION. Only about one fourth of the schools of the county are represented at this convention by delegates. This is not in harmony with that spirit of union, nor with that zeal which should characterize the Sabbath Schools this county which has attained so creditable a name and a rank in the S. School work of our State: therefore Resolved, That this convention regrets that so small a number of schools was represented, and most earnestly requests that in the future each S. School in the county will be sent at least one delegate to the annual convention. Resolved, That the President returns the thanks of the convention to the people of Beavertown for their kindness and hospitality, and to the choir for their excellent music rendered. Resolved, That the Vice Presidents be requested to make special efforts to hold district conventions throughout the county. Resolved, That the secretary be instructed to send a copy of these resolutions with the preamble to each school in the county. J. H. MUMMA, M. B. SPAYD, D. S. BOYER, Committee.

The Democratic State Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday of last week and nominated Judge J. Brewster McCollum, of Susquehanna county, for Supreme Judge. The Convention also indorsed the position of the National Administration on the question of tax reduction and tariff reform.

The salary of a Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United is $10,000. The Lord Chancellor of Great Britain gets $50,000, has less responsibility and far less work. Englishmen do not think their Lord Chancellor overpaid. What is more, even though he resigns after holding office only a single week, or months or year, he draws a pension of $25,000 a year thereafter.
