A Word of Caution.

In time of battle the line most fiercely attacked is the more strongly supported. In politics it is much the same. The Republican line in this county is most savagely attacked at certain points by the opposition this fall who hope by enlisting the sympathies of Republicans to defeat some of their candidates. It is but natural that they should put forth every effort to accomplish this end and it is the duty of every Republican to be on his guard. You voted at the primary. The judges depended upon your honor as a man to vote for the nominee of the party or duty would have compelled them to challenge your vote. Can you now as honorable men allow your sympathies to get the better of your word? Will you now allow your word, which you say is as good as your note, go by default and betray your most sacred trust? There is not a word of criticism to be made on the conduct and character of any of the Republican candidate. Shall they be made victims of your betrayal? We hope not. Let every Republican be on his guard. Stand firm for your men and support the attacked portion of your lines all the more strongly. Vote a clean ticket and fulfill your promises.

The canvass between the rival candidates for Senate is making things lively in that particular portion of the ticket. Capt. Bates, the Republican, lives and carries on business in Lewisburg, and Judge Hoffa, the Democratic candidate, lives in Kelly township and carries on business in Lewisburg, as well as at his home. Both are men of honesty and general good repute, and both are bright, intelligent men. Politically is where the rub comes in. Capt. Bates is a thorough Protectionist, because he is confident that Protection is the safeguard to American industry and prosperity; while Judge Hoffa, who can hardly fail to see it in the same light, follows the leadership of pronounced Free Traders, whose principles, if carried to a finality, could not fail to work mischief in American industries. In choosing, therefore, between these two gentlemen, you should drop the man and vote for the principle. There can be no personal conflict in this case.—Lewisburg Chronicle.

Cleveland and the Boys in Blue.

We are opposed to the re-election of Grover Cleveland as president of the United States solely because we are convinced that such re-election would be very prejudicial to the best interests of the veterans of the Union. It is because veterans have been harshly and unjustly treated by him since his induction into office, and because we firmly believe that his re-election would be accepted by him as a public endorsement of his course toward them and an encouragement to still greater harshness and injustice. There is no politics in this. It is simply following the dictates of Nature's first law—self-preservation. There is no politics in pensions—in paying the honest debts of the nation to the men who saved it. There was no politics in duty and necessity of defending the country. There was no politics in the blue uniforms the defenders wore, in the muskets they carried, Republicans, Democrats, Whigs, Protectionists; Labor Reformers and Greenbackers alike wore the one and carried the other. There was no politics in the sufferings they endured, the wounds they received, the deeds they performed. All shared alike in these, without reference to the ticket they voted when at home. No one inquired into the politics of the man who was the first over the enemy's works. The President has been amusing himself for years writing vetoes. The veterans now have a chance to try their hands at vetoing. Let them improve the opportunity.

When you go to vote see to it that the names of the electors on your ticket correspond with those found in the first column of this page.

Political pointers; some distance after the Catechism: Name the three greatest speech-makers of modern politics: Lincoln, Blaine and Harrison. What were their great themes? The Union, Protection and the Home.

H stands for Harrison, happiness, and home; while M is for Morton, with ability and wealth; P's for Protection, Pie, Plenty, and Pelf; and together they're all for Pork, Potatoes, Peaches, Preserves, Potpie, Pudding, and a whole lot of good things, that the Emigrant come to Protected America to get.
