is reported in Kansas that the flop grave. Vote for Atkinson.-Huntping of Domocrats to the Republican party in New York and Indi ana keeps up such a racket that the people in those States can hardly sleep nights.

S. D. Bstes, Republican candidate for Senator will be more than likely be elected. The district is Repubican and if defeated the fault lies with the Republicans. We have sent a Democratic representative from this district long enough. Now's our time to make a change. It is within our reach, "Guards, up and at 'em.'

Do not be mislead by false reports on the eve of election. The time for campaign issues sprung in the eleventh hour has ceased to defeat candidates. Republicans don't be mislead. If you hear reports that are doubtful don't allow them to lead by your colors. The Republican ticket is clean throughout and is worthy of your support. Don't trade. Go 'em straight.

When General Harrison, brave Union commander, is elected President there will be no danger of rebel flag orders, of insulting vetoes for bills pensioning disabled soldiers or the widows and children of Union veterans, of favoritism for Confederates, of Decoration day fishing trips, or of infamous orders to make war on women and children employed in United States arsenals. Harrison isn't that sort of man, and he won't have any Endicotts or Garlands in his Cabinet who are.

States Senator. Every Republican deceased. When and where you may street.

Workingmen intend to make the sixth of next November the Appomatox of free trade.

The Dollar a Day Lie.

Later in the campaign, when the silly dollar a day lie was circulated, the Times observed: "This is nothing more than a version of the remark so often and with some excuse attributed to Henry Ward Beecher. But it is safe to declare that General Harrison never made any such remark and never approved the utterance. Every man is entitled to all the compensation for his labor he can honestly gain. Gereral Harrison has never shown the slightest disposition to dispute so self-evident a proposition. If he were not a humane man he has been a politician with sufficient art to be discreet in his remarks when recklessness would only impede his own ambition. To attribute the remark to him is to launch at an early date a manifest campaign lie. The less there is of that sort of electioneering the better.

Dr. Atkinson, the crippled congressional candidate in this district, is one of the most popular and satisfactory candidate in this district before a constituency in this country to-day. He has been unusually well treated, but this is due to the fact that he has rendered especial good service to his people in the entire district, irrespective of party, religion or color. He is a crippled soldier, walks on a pair of crutches, and while it is true that he has bodily infirmities, we all know what a well balanced mind he possesses, stored with rare nuggets from the extensive field of literature, medicine, science and law. Mr. Atkinson has done much for the the soldiers. He answers every letter promptly, looks after the poor soldier's claim at the Pension Bureau, facilitates the granting of it so far as it lies in his power, and in addition votes for all legislation in the interest of the country's defender. Mr. Atkinson is not only serving his soldier constituents. He is alive to the great questions in which we are all interested. He is a Protectionist from away back. He voted against the Mills bill, spoke against it, and worked against it. He will do it again, and never will agree to vote the bread out of the poor Apprehension about General Harrison's fitness for a high trust long ago gave way to admiration for his wonderful fitness for any place in the gift of the people.

Apprehension about General Harrison's fitness for a high trust long campaign in which Mr. Atkinson has had a hand his majorities have increased. This year he will receive a bigger send-off than ever. The Democrats might as well jump into the At-kinson boat at once and save them-The Atchison Champion says, it selves from an untimely political ingdon Globe.
