A LAST APPEAL.

Before the next issue of the Post reaches you, dear readers, the election will be over and the battle won or lost. A few words as a last appeal and we submit the issue to you for a final hearing at the polls.

The prospects are very fair for Republican success on the National ticket. The State and Judiciary tickets are safe though a terrible pressure is brought upon Henry Brown, our candidate for Associate Judge. There is no earthly reason why he should not pull through with the majority of a full Republican vote in his favor. He is poor, but competent, was a soldier and is a Republican. He is entitled to the office and must be elected. The county ticket is safe to all intents and purposes. Lewis E. Atkinson will poll his usual heavy majority in this county. Samuel D. Bates, candidate for Senator, must have every Republican vote in the county to secure his election. He will get them for he is entitled to them. Take care of his interests. Aaron S. Helfrich, for Assembly, is the regular Republican nominee, is not only entitled to a second term, but he is deserving of it. His character is above suspicion and few men in public life as long as he, have so clean an official record. He carried out Republican principles. Let us endorse him. When a man behaves so well in office that the opposition fail to nominate a man against him, all questions as to his fitness are set aside. Such a man is W. W. Wittenmyer, our candidate for Prothonotary. The Republicans will all vote for him and the Democrats should do the same. Henry J. Duck, our nominee for Register and Recorder, is an able officer and a good citizen. Our people like him and ask to have him retained in office. Z. T. Gemberling, candidate for Jury Commissioner will receive a full Republican vote, for there is no one on the ticket more deserving of the honors—though light they be—than he.

In short, there is, fortunately, no mistake in the whole Republican ticket. Every man on it is deserving of the full Republican vote. Therefore be on your guard. Don't trade. You have all to lose and nothing to gain. Stand up for your nominee. See that your ticket is right and then put it through without a scratch.

We are pleased to learn that Hon. Louis E. Atkinson, of Juniata county, Pa., has been again nominated for Congress from the Eighteenth district, and hope that he will be returned to a position he has filled with so much honor to himself and benefit to his constituents. Mr. Atkinson is not an ultra partisan, but has the courage to stand up for the right under all circumstances. That he is the firm friend of the farmers is clearly demonstrated by his unswerving support of every measure introduced into the Lower House of Congress for the advancement of agriculture. His record is before the people of his district, and it is one, we are glad to say, of which any member may well feel proud, and we hope that he may be returned to his seat in the House of Representatives in the interest of the great cause of agriculture.—Farmers' Friend and Grange Advocate, October 27, 1888.

To The Voter.

Our country is now in the whirlpool of politics, and the main questions for discussion in the workshop, on the street, and even in the family circle, is the attitude of the two principal political parties and their claims to public favor. In the hub-bub and turbulence incident on occasions of this kind the attention of the voter is often drawn to the excitement and turmoil on the surface of these troubled waters, and many seldom give a thought to the deep undercurrent which they should by all means fathom. This is the way that "wire pulling" politicians would mislead the majority of our citizens, and continue to stir up these troubled waters, rather than pour oil on them to calm the emotions so that all could see clearly what is the drift of the current beneath. In this campaign mighty questions of a national character loom up prominently before the public gaze, before which party lines and party issues should dwindle and sink into insignificance.

A large following represented by Grover Cleveland proposes to introduce an entirely new order of things with regard to the government of our industries and manufacturing institutions. Let the voter look beneath the troubled surface and consider these questions. Is it safe to adopt these measures? Will it jeopardize or sustain our industries? What are the motives of those who wish to introduce them?

On the other hand comes Benjamin Harrison representative of another multitude who hold just the opposite views to the above. Let no hastily-formed opinion guide you but delve into the history of our country and gather facts for your direction. Be at it. The time is short.

Our national prosperity is the marvel of the age, attracting the attention of the whole civilized world. We have existed under free trade, and for many years had the arms of protection thrown around us, to which of these can our prosperity be attributed? No room for neutrality at this time, ponder over them carefully and studiously, and having formed your opinion come out squarely for home and country against party interests or issues.
