THE ANARCHISTS

Celebrating the Memory of the Harmarket Murderers.

The first anniversary of the hanging of the Atarchists was observed by the Chicago sympathizers, but not within the limits of the city. Police regulations prevented a procession or flying of red bunting and there was no outbreak of any kind, About 5,000 people-men, women and children-gathered individually at the depot and two big trains carried them to Waldheim cometery. On the way to the cemetery, the crowd resembled anything rather than people bent on a melancholy errand. Joking and chaffing was the order of the day, all the way out. None of the persons who gained notoriety through connection with the Anarchists' trial were present, except Spies' sister, Gretchen, and the daughters of George

The feature of the proceedings was the reading of a letter from Albert Parsons to his children, addressed to them with a request that it should not be opened or read until the first anniversary of his execution.

most disasterous fire experienced at Rochester, N. Y., occurred at the works of the Steam Gauge and Lantern Company, s building of seven stories with two basements, situated near the Geneses Falls. The fire broke out at 7:35 o'clock, when about forty people were at work, mostly on the third floor. The smoke was very dense, and as the men could not reach the fire-escapes, they were forced to jump from the third story. Fourteen jumped on the west side of the building and were frightfully injured, six of them dying within an hour. Four others

The names of the dead are: Joseph Darner, John Gremour, Joseph Webber, Harry Schneider and John Gail. The fatally injured are Richard Pasch, Frank Siddons, Daniel Watkins and John Gern. It is thought that five or more bodies are in the ruins, in cluting one or more girls.

The loss on the building is $65,000; insured for $40,000. The loss on the lantern plant is $175,000, with insurance on plant of $170,000.

SNOW-STORM IN KANSAS.

Trains Delayed and Havoe Played With the Telephone and Telegraph.

The most phenomenal snow-storm that ever occurr d in Northern Kansas began Friday morning and continued furi at-ly all day. The trains are delayed and the telegraph wires are prostrated in all directions with the exception of one line to Kansas City, In Atchison over 200 telephone lines are broken and so tangled up with the electric light wires that the electric light works have suspended to prevent necidents. The snow-storm is the heaviest that has occurred here at any season of the year since 1878.

THE BALLOT BOX.

SERMON BY REV. DR. TALMAGE,

Subject: The Ark of the American Covenant.

TEXT: "Two cubits and a half was the length of it, and a cubit and a half the breadth of it, and a cubit and a half the height of it."—Exodus xxxvii, 1.

height of it."—Exodus xxxvii, 1.

Look at it—the sacred chest of the ancients. It was about five feet long, three feet wide and three feet high. It was within and out of pure good. On the top of it stood two angels facing each other with outspread wings. In that sacred box was the law, and there were in it a great many precious stones, With that box went the fate of the nation. Carried in front of the host, the waters of the Jordan parted. Divinely charged, costly, precious, momentous box. No unholy hands might lay hold of it. It was called the ark of the covenant. But you will understand it was a box, the most precious box of the ages. Where is it now? Gone forever. Not a crypt of church or museum of the world has a fragment of it.

But is not this nation God's chosen people! Have we not passed through the Red Sea! Have we not been led with a pillar of fire by night? Has this nation no ark of the covenant? Yes, the ballot box, the sacred cnest of the nation, the ark of the American covenant.

In it is the law, in it is the divine and the

In it is the law, in it is the divine and the human will, in it is the fate of the nation. Carried in front of our host again and again the waters of national trouble have parted.

the waters of national trouble have parted.
Mighty ark of the covenant, the American bailot box! It is a very old box.

In Athens, long before the art of printing, the people dropped pebbles into it to give expression to their sentiments. After that teams were dropped into it—a white beam for the affirmative, a black beam for the negative. After that, when they wished to vote a man out of citiz aship, they would write his name upon a shell and drop that into the box.

O'Connell and Grote and Cobden and Macaulay and Gladstone fought great battles in caulay and Gladstone fought great battles in the introduction of the ballot boxes in Eng-land, and to-day it is one of the fastnesses of that nation. It is one of the corner stones of our government. It is older than the constitution. In it is our national safety. Tell me what will be the fate of the American ballot box, the ark of the American covenant, and I will tell you what will be the fate of this nation. Give the people once a year, or once in four years, an opportunity to express their political sentiments, and you practically avoid insurrection and revolution.

avoid insurrection and revolution.

Either give them the ballot or they will take the sword. Without the ballot box there can be no free republican institutions. Milton visiting in Italy noticed that on the sides of Vesuvius gardeners and farmers were at work while the volcano was in eruption, and he asked them if they were safe. "Y.s." said the farmers and the gardeners, "it is safe; all the danger is before the eruption; then comes earthquake and terror, but just as soon as the volcano begins to pour forth lava we all feel at rest." It is the suppression of political sentiment, the suppression of public opinion, that makes moral earthquake and national earthquake, Let pubquake and national earthquake. Let public opinion pour forth, and that gives satisfaction, and that gives peace, and that gives permanency to good government. And yet, though the ballot lox is the sacred chest and the ark of the American covenant, you know as well as I know it has its sworn antigonists, and I propose this morning, in God's mame and as a Christian patriot, to set before you the names of some of the sworn enemies of this sacred chest, the ark of the American covenant, the ballot box. First, I remark, ignorance is a mighty foe. Other things being equal, the more intelli-gence a man has the better he is qualified to exercise the right of suffrage. You have for the personal pronoun. He could not tell on which side of the Alleghery mountains Ohio is. Educated canary birds, educated horses know more than he. He will cast his vote and it will balance your vote. His ignorance is as mighty as your intelligence. That is not right. All men of fair mind will acknowledge that that is not right. Until a man can read the Declaration of Independence and the constitution of the Units! States, and calculate the interest on the American debt, and know the difference between a Regulièrem form of government and tween a Republican form of government and a monarchy or a despotism, he is unfit to exercise the right of suifrage at any ballot box between Key West and Alaska. In 1872 in England there were 2,600,000 children who ought to have been in school. There were only 1,353,000, in other wor is, about 50 per cent., and of the 50 per cent. not more than 5 per cent, got anything worthy the name of an elucation. Now, take that foreign ignorance and add it to our American ignerance, and there will be in November thousands and thousands of people who are no more qualified to exercise the right of suf-frage than to becture on astronomy. How are these things to be corrected? By laws of compulsory education, well executed, 1 go in for a law which after giving fair warning for a few years, shall make ignorance a crime. There is no excuse for ignorance on these subjects in this land, where the common schools make knowledge as free as the fresh air of heaven. I would have a board of ex-amination scated beside the officers of regis tration, and let them decide whether the men who come up to vote have any capacity to be monarche in a land where we are all mon archs. One of the most awful foes of the American ballot box to-day is popular ignorance. Educate the people, give them an opportunity to know and understand what they do. If they will not take the education, deny them the vote.

Another towarful enemy of this special Another powerful enemy of this sacred chest, the ark of the American covenant, the ballot box, is spurious voting. In 1850, in Brooklyn, there were a thousand names recorded of persons who had no residence here, and if there were a thousand attempted fraudulent votes in the best city on the continent, what may we expect in cities not so fortunate? What a grand thing is the law of registration? Without it elections in this country would be a farce. There must be a scrutiny on this subject. The law must have keenest twist for the neck of repeaters. Something more than slight fine and short imprisonment. It is an attempt at the assassmation of the Republic when a man attempts to put in a spurious vote. In olden times when men laid unboly hands on the ark of the covenant they dropped down dead. Witness Uzzah. And when men attempt to put unholy hands on the American ballot box, the ark of the American covenant, they deserve extermination.

Another powerful for of this sagged chest thest, the ark of the American covenant, the serve extermination

Another powerful fce of this sacred chest is intimidation. Corporations sometimes demand that their Corporations sometimes demand that their employes vote in this and that way. It is skilfully done. It is not positively in so many words demanded, but the employe understands he will be frozen out of the establishment unless he votes as the firm do. So you can go into villages where there are establishments with hundreds and thousands of employes, and having found out the polities of the head men in the factory, you can tell which way the election is going. Now, that is damnable. If in any precinct in the United States a man cannot vote as he pleases, there is something awfully wrong. How do you treat that employe who votes differently from what you do? Oh, you say you do not interfere with the right of suffrage. But you call him into your private office, and you find fault with his work, and after a while you tell him there is an uncle.

or an aunt, or a niece, or a nephew that must have that postion. You do not say it is because he voted this or that way, but he knows and God knows it is. If that man has given to you in hard work an equivalent for the wages you pay him, you have no right to ask anything else of him. He sold you his work; he did not sell you his political or religious principles. But you know as well as I do there is sometimes on that sacred chest, the ark of the American covenant, a shadow corporate or monopolistic.

Another powerful foe of that sacred chest, the ark of the American covenant, the ballot box, is bribery.

Very often it is not money that bribes, but it is office. "You make me President and I'll make you a Cabinet officer; you make me Governor and I'll make you Surveyor-General; you make me Mayor and I'll put you on the Water Board; you give me position and I'll give you position." That is the form of bribe offen and often in these great cities. I do not say it is in our city, but you know again and again throughout the land these have been the forms of bribe offered. So it is often the case that by the time a man comes to an office to which he has been elected he is from the crown of head to the sole of foot mortgaged with pledges, and the man who goes to Albany or to Washington to get, an mortgaged with pledges and the man who goes to Albany or to Washington to get an office is applying for some position which was given away three months befor the elec-tion. Two long lines of worm fence, one worm fence reaching to Albany and the other to Washington, and there a great many citizens astride the fence, and they are equally poised, and they are waiting to see on which side there is most emolument, and to-day you will a lmit to be one of the might-iest foes of the American ballot box. iest foes of the American ballot box.

Another great enemy of that sacred chest is defauntion of character. Can you find out from the newspapers when two men are running for office which is the best! flow often in the autumnal elections the good man is denounced and the bad man applaused, so that you can come sometimes to no list opinion as to who is the best man, and there are hundreds and thousands of electors who go up to vote so utterly befogged they know not what they do. Is not that a fearful influence to be trought upon the ballot box of this country? It has been so ever since the foundation of this Government.

Defamation: It is the curse of the American ballot box. Just as soon as in the great cities a man is put up for office he is made the target. The fact that he is up is prima facie evidence that he must be brought down. His public life and his private life are scruting face evidence that he must be brought down. His public life and his private life are scrutinized, and all the electric lights are turned on. How often it is that men have gone down under such things. In every autumnal election the air is filled with carrion crows scenting carensess. Caw! Caw! Caw! Caw! There are newspapers in the United States that in the great autumnal elections take wild license for liberty. They are filled with calumy. The editorial columns of such papers reek with it; their columns are stuffed with it. There are newspapers in the United States which in the great popular elections breakfast and dine and sup on the United States which in the great popular elections breakfast and dine and sup on indecency. They wailow in it. Swine like the mire. They give more for one quill full of it than a whole hogshead of decent product. There are in these great autumnal elections men sitting in editorial chairs who write with a quill, not plucked from the stupid goose or the sublime engle, but from a turkey buzzard! Ghouls! Ghouls! They lin the city swer into their editorial into turkey buzzard! Ghouls! Ghouls! They tip the city sewer into their editorial ins-stands. Vefamation of character is one of the curses of the American ballot box to-day In your great presidential elections who can tell from what he reads who is the man he ought to vote for! Bad men sometimes ap-plauded, good men denounced. Another powerful foe of the sacred chest, the ark of the American covenant, the bal-lot box, is the rowdy and drunken caucus.

The ballot box does not give any choice to a man when the nominations are made in the back part of a groggery. When the elector comes up he has to choose Letween two evils. Is some of the cities men have come to the been ten, fifteen, twenty, thirty years studying American institutions, you have canvassed all the great questions about tariff and home rule and all the educational questions, and everything in American politics you are well acquainted with. You consider yourself competent to cast a vote next Tuesday, and you are confident. You will take your position in the line of electors, you will wait for your turn to come, the judge of election will announce your name, you will cast your vote and pass out. Well done.

But right being you there will come a man who cannot spell the name of comptroller, or attorney or mayor. He cannot write, or if he can write he uses a small "1" for the personal pronoun. He could not tell on which side of the Allegheny mountains of property—a certain amount of real estate—he is financially interested in good government, and he becomes cautious and conserva tive. I reply, a property qualification would shut off from the ballot box a great many of the best men in the land. Laterary men are aimost always poor. A pen is a good imple-ment to make the world better, but it is a very poor implement to get a livelihood ordi-narily. I have known scores of literary men who never owned a foot of groun band never will own a foot of ground until they get under it. Processors of colleges, teachers of schools, editors of news ages, ministers of religion, qualitied in every possible way to religion, qualitied in every possible way to vote, yet no worldly success. There has been many a man who has not had a house on earth who will have a mansion in heaven. There are many who through accidents of

There are many who through accidents of fortune have come to great success while they are proband in their stupidity, as profound in their stupidity as a man of large fortune with whom i was crossing the ocean, who told me he was going to see the dykes of Scotland! When a member of my family asked a lady on her return from Europe if she had seen Mont Blane, she replied: "Well, really, I don't know; is that in Europe!" really, I don't know; is that in Europe?"
Ignorance by the square foot, Property qualification will not do. The only way these evils will be eradicated will be by more thorough legal defense of the ballot box and a more thorough moralization and Christianization of the people. That ark of the covenant was carried into captivity to Kirjath-jearim, but one day the people hooked oxen to a cart, and they put this ark on the cart, and the cart was taken to Jerusalem—the ark of the covenant coming with the shouting and the covenant coming with the shouting and thanksgiving of the people. And though the American ballot box, the ark of the American covenant, our sacred chest, has been carried again and again into captivity by fraud and iniquity and spurious voting, I believe it will be brought back yet by prayer and by Christian consecration, and will be set down in the midst of the temple hristian patriotism. Whose responsibility

Yours and mine.
You have not only a vote, you have a prayer. The prayer may be mightier than the vote. Oh, as citizen's of this beautiful city, and of this State, and of this nation, let us do our whole duty. We cannot live under any other form of government than that which God has given us in this country. The which God has given us in this country. The stars on our flag are not the stars of a thickening night, but the stars sprinkled amid the bars of morning cloud. We are going to have one government on this entire continent. Let the despotisms of Asia keep their feet off the Pacific coast and let the tyrannies of Europe keep their feet off the Atlantic coast. We are going to have one government. Mexico will follow Texas into the Union, and Christianity and civilization will stand side by side in the halls of the Montezumas. And if not in our day, then in the day of our children, Yucatan aed Central America will come in dominion, while on the north Canada will be ours, not by conquest—oh, no, American and English swords may never clash blades—but English swords may never clash blades—but we will woo our fair neighbor of the North, and then England will say to Canada: "You are old enough for the marriage day," and tien, turning, will say: "Giant of the West, go take your bribe." And then from Baffin's Bay to the Carribean there will be one government under one flag, with one destiny—a free, undisputed, Christianized American continent. God save the city of Brooklyn God save the commonwealth of New York! God save the Upion! English swords may never clash blades-but
