

SHAMOKIN DAM.—Dr. John A. Strouse, only child of Elias and Sarah Strouse, was born in Monroe township, Oct. 22, 1868, died Nov. 11, 1889, aged 21 years, and 20 days. He was a prominent young man well educated and well liked by all who knew him. Besides a common school education, he attended Selinsgrove Institute for four years and graduated. He taught two terms of school at Shamokin Dam with good success. He read medicine under the direction of Dr. Sheets of Northumberland, and was attending lectures this fall at the Jefferson Institution at Philadelphia where he contracted the sickness which proved fatal. He took sick on the 21st of October, one day before his birthday, with malaria symptoms which turned into typhoid. He was somewhat neglected while in Philadelphia, but after his return he had all the aid through Drs. Hottenstein and Sheets that could be given, but his time had come. He was a pious young man and belonged to the Lutheran church of Shamokin Dam. He was buried last Thursday afternoon at Schnee's church where Dr. Dimm, his former teacher officiated. The friends of the deceased have the sympathy of the entire community. A FRIEND.

CENTREVILLE.—Thanksgiving day is coming around rapidly. Prepare to give thanks for we have much to be thankful for. It is also not too early to look around for Thanksgiving day invitations to dinner.

County Supt. Herman visited our town schools last week.

I noticed what was said in last week's Post about Joel Grohs' turnip that measures 26 inches in circumference. This is rather small in comparison to one raised by Jacob Shell on his land about 1 mile southeast of this place. We hope to be pardoned for knocking the props from under Mr. Grohs' big turnip and claim that the belt belongs to this end of the township.

Wm. H. Hartman and wife were among friends in Fremont on Sunday.

Everybody of any account nowadays has a cold.

Rather cold on Saturday night for gate hanging. Why is it that you don't keep company in the house with the young man instead of spurning him at the front door or on the street. If he is worthy of your company he is worth a seat in your parlor, instead of being out on the street these chilly evenings—provided the old man would not interfere.

Judge Furst on Coroner's Inquest.

In refusing to approve nine of the inquisitions held by the coroner and justices of the peace of Centre county, Judge Furst concludes his reasons therefor in the following words:

When a coroner, or a justice in his absence, is called upon to view a dead body, he should make some reasonable inquiry into the circumstances of the death before proceeding to summon a jury and hold the inquest. This preliminary inquiry would have in all their cases developed the fact that there were either witnesses present or that death was produced by natural causes. When the surrounding facts do not show violence, and there is no reason for supposing a felonious destruction of the person there is no necessity for an inquest. But where the contrary appears or the death is enveloped in mystery, it is a proper case for an inquest. Death by suicide may or may not be good ground for an inquisition. Violence is present in such cases. If, however, the facts are known which clearly show the case to be suicide, it is improper to summon an inquest. The inquest would simply declare what was previously known.

If an employer desires an inquest in order to establish the fact that he was not responsible therefor, such inquest is held in his interest, and not for the public good; he should be willing to pay the expense incident to the same. It is very clear that it should not be held at the expense of the county.

We have thus stated the principles which should govern the holding of an inquest, for the benefit of all persons who may be interested herein, and if the officers of the county observe the same in the performance of their respective duties, fewer inquests will be held, and when so held the presumption will arise that the officer holding the same had reasonable cause for so doing.—Centre Reporter.

Painting and Papering!

To perfect the appearance of a room by papering, it is essential to have proper designing, and in the PAINTING of a house it is essential that taste is used in the selection of colors. For this reason I have concluded to take contracts for painting and PAPERING myself furnishing the material and doing the work. This will enable me to guarantee my work, and afford me an advantage to reduce the general price. I have a large stock of paint on hand and the finest line of wall paper in the county. I am a specialty of UPHOLSTERING and will guarantee old work to look as well as new. Old signs taken in exchange for new. No extra charge for contracts from a distance. Write for prices.
