BEAVERTOWN.—Z. P. Gross sold his farm one mile west of town to John Hetrick for $10,000.

Rev. J. G. M. Swengel commenced a protracted meeting in the Evangelical church on Sunday evening.

A. M. Carpenter had a valuable bull killed by a freight train last week.

Prof. Billhart has a class in instrumental music in town. Philip Herbster is "daubing" his house with paint.

Daniel F. Hassinger returned from Kansas after an absence of over one year.

Miss Mary Dreese of Dayton, Ohio is visiting friends in town.

PAXTONVILLE.—Misses Alta Shambaugh and Evora Attig went to Lewisburg last week where they intend staying till they are homesick.

Ira L. Attig is visiting in Tyrone. We congratulate the Y. P. Mite Society on having received such a beautiful name as some of our people have been pleased to give them, viz. "Angel." They couldn't have found a better name.

Mrs. S. Bowersox and Mrs. Attig took a business trip to Middleburgh on Tuesday.

Miss Dolice Attig occupied the teacher's chair in Moyer's school last week. She can teach school as well, if not better, than trim hats.

Miss Jane Bruner from Union Co., is visiting her parents.

Butchering is the order of the day, and good sleighing for Institute week, the desire.

LOWELL.—Our town can boast of more mud than money at this writing.

If those two boys from Adamsburg would subscribe a little towards an electric light, they would not need to borrow lanterns along the road on their way to Bannerville. So the young ladies report upon whom they could.

John P. captured two foxes and one skunk the other morning in his traps.

The latest swindle is a man going around selling cellar holes. He sold one at McClure, and got the first payment and will have it sent C. O. D. The balance to be paid when the hole arrives.

I see James Wagner's name mentioned in last week's Post as one among the number of hunters who had fun to the amount of $200. I have an idea that Jim's gun missed fire, or the venison would have been divided in larger shares.

A. A. Ronig & Co., killed their last beef on last Friday, for this season—having slaughtered about 75 head of cattle—hogs, sheep, and calves not counted. An early settlement will be expected on all outstanding accounts, as they expect to start on a larger scale in the spring. The "Squire" returns his thanks to his many customers, and hopes they may all live to hear the sound of his bell next season.

"Trapper" Jim, is the happiest man in existence. He shot a wild turkey that measured seven feet from tip to tip of wings and weighed 40 pounds, that is if his judgment is accurate.
