Call and see the finest assortment of fancy stand and hanging lamps. Something fine for Christmas at P. M. Schoch's. What will I buy for a nice Christmas present? This is a question that will soon be asked. For something useful, beautiful, and durable buy one of the fine Pianos, Organs or White Sewing Machines, of C. C. Seebold, Middleburgh, Pa. The editor of the Post last week drafter J. B. Reed of Sunbury into service and they in company with Eddie Rohrbach of the same place, on Friday, killed 1 wood-cock, 1 squirrel, 2 rabbits, 3 pheasants and 25 quail. Not so bad for scrubs! The iron bridge across Middle-creek 1 1/2 miles west of Middleburgh, which was partly constructed when the recent flood carried away the scaffolding, had to be returned to the manufacturers in Ohio for repairing before it could be again erected. "I use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral freely in my practice, and recommend it in cases of Whooping Cough among children, having found it more certain to cure that troublesome disease than any other medicine I know of."—So says Dr. Bartlett, of Concord, Mass. The Union, U. B., and Evangelical Sunday Schools in this place are each preparing for holding Christmas festivals, and our people are so trained that when they see two girls with a lead-pencil and paper, or a boy with a miniature barrel, they dodge into the nearest store and hide behind the counter. The Middleburgh party returned last Friday from a two week's hunt in the Seven Mountains and had a three-prong buck, shot by M. Z. Steininger. It was the largest deer brought to this town for many years. A large man could stand within the circle of his horns. It dressed 127 pounds. Week-before-last Frank S. Marr of Lewisburgh advertised for two girls to do house-work in his family, and before the ink was right dry on the advertisement Misses Alta Schambach and Avora Attig of Paxtonville responded and were accepted. That's what advertising in the Post does. John S. Hassinger, Millard Hassinger and Uncle Robert Middleburgh returned on Saturday from a two-week's hunt at the Tunnels, on the L. & T. road, with the Swengelville party. They killed two deer. One, a four-prong buck was shot by Robert Middleburgh and the other was a yearling buck and was shot by Daniel Knouse of near Swengelville. The first national bank of Middleburgh will open for business, November 27. Then the editor of the Post of that place will have a place to store his thousands.—Northumberland Press. Ah, Brother, 'tis most cruel to tamper with the feelings of a man on a subject so painful as this. Of all sad words of tongue or pen the saddest are these: "It might have been." CAN'T YOU DECIDE.—C. W. Derstine, the photographer of Lewistown, Pa., wishes me to say that if you desire to give a Christmas present that will be appreciated, a photograph will be just the thing, and the fact that he preserves all negatives, you could order from a negative taken in the past at less cost than by sitting for a new negative; by writing to him you can learn the prices, or, if a new negative is preferred, go early to his gallery, if the work is wanted for the Holidays. On last Wednesday morning W. W. Trout, editor of the paper, tendered his resignation as Deputy Revenue Collector of the Eleventh division in the ninth district, U. S. Int. Rev. There were sixteen applications for the appointment of the place, and A. C. Strode of Strode's Mills, this county, carried off the plum. We wish our successor our best wishes, and trust that he may find his duties easy and pleasant. We congratulate Mr. S. on his appointment.—Lewistown Free Press.

Fine Plushes at 50c at P. M. Schoch's. Ed. Bower of Renova, visited friends here last week. Great bargains in Dress goods at P. M. Schoch's. Specialty in gents' furnishing goods at P. M. Schoch's. The Lewisburgh Local News has been improved almost beyond recognition within the last few weeks. Focht is a "boomer" from "way back. Institute has thus far been a grand success, and to-night will cap the climax with Steek's lecture on "Heroes recognized and unrecognized." On Monday night some unhung scoundrel cut up a harness for a young Mr. Bolig who had his horse hitched in front of the Washington House. Call early and select what piano, organ or sewing machine you want and have it delivered in time for Christmas. Leave your orders with Geo. R. Hendricks, Selinsgrove, or C. C. Seebold, Middleburgh, Pa. Prof. Bible is a whole circus by himself and a "barf" of pink lemonade in the bargain. As a fascial demagogue he is wonderful; an eloquent, perfectly irresistible. Our people have never seen so young a man with as many accomplishments, and they nearly went wild over his entertainment on Tuesday evening, which they consider the best we have had since he last appeared here—some eight years ago. SOLDIERS REUNION.—The survivors of the 131st Regiment, P. V., will hold their annual reunion at Selinsgrove on December 13th. All are not only cordially invited but earnestly requested to be present. Col. Allebach will be with us. We want to make this the most successful reunion the Regiment has ever held. Persons intending to attend are requested to notify the Secretary or President. M. L. WAGENSELLER, Pres. H. E. RICHTER, Sec. The First National Bank of this place opened for business on last Monday, Dec. 2, placing themselves upon record as doing a rushing day's work away beyond their expectations. The Cashier and the President were both busy taking in and waiting upon customers. Over thirty depositors left their funds and signatures. With this auspicious outlook we predict that the people of this place and vicinity appreciate a good thing, and the wonder is, among them all, that a Bank was not started sooner. A Bank at this place fills a long-felt want, and now administrators and executors can close out their entire business at the county-seat. The Bank officers are pleasant and affable and will spare no pains to make everybody feel at home socially, and safe financially. This is the Snyder County Teachers' week, and quite a large number of the instructors of the rising generation are in attendance at the Institute which is being held in the town. Among this large number are the teachers in this Borough, and as a natural consequence the schools are closed and the pupils are enjoying themselves in various ways, glad enough that they have a week's recreation to do pretty much as they please. But the teachers are fructifying their "knowledge box" with valuable information, so that when they return to their scholastic duties they will be enabled to impart at least a portion of their "pickings up" to the boys and girls attending school. What a great blessing it is to be a school teacher! How superior they are to the common people! "Their minds are fraught with learning's light, So pure, so beautiful and bright!" Surely, they are fortunate individuals to be able to take a week's pleasure from their irksome duties at school!

Institute Gleanings. It is reported that the ladies from Selinsgrove have turned their room at Bolender's into a portrait gallery. Who noticed that "great break" that Billhart made in the Institute? We would advise Supt. Herman to watch some of the promising young teachers of the upper end play euchre in No. 10. Thursby volunteers any information concerning Billhart's "great break." Miss Keller is looking just as bright and sweet as ever, and is still hunting a man. A white cap notice has been sent to the occupants of No. 10. For further particulars inquire of Wonder. We wonder why Wonder don't wonder around in search of some wondering girl. Surely he is old enough. It has been decided to tar and feather the occupants of No. 10, if they still persist in singing Wonder's favorite. Sheriff Bolender has two professional detectives dressed in citizens clothes to preserve peace and order in his house during Institute. We should like to have Thursby's grand parade repeated at an early date. Oh, That picture. Ask the Selinsgrove girls if he is handsome. Smith, of Selinsgrove has been appointed Major General, of the forces at Bolender's. And still the grand work of education goes on, and we hope it may not be long till the flag of education may proudly wave from every dome and housetop in this our beloved country. A vigilance committee has been organized at Bolender's and hereafter the culprit can expect to meet with the direst punishment. Willis has sworn eternal vengeance on the parties who kept him awake on Monday night. A dispute, arising from accession to our portrait gallery by one of our unpretentious young men, was settled in the parlor on Monday evening by Potter. Potter is losing his reputation as a disturber of the peace, and Walter and Herbster have taken his place. Since leaving the school-room some of our ladies are becoming melancholic. They divert their minds by playing catch with the Sheriff's chickens. Thursby says, when he is 10 miles from home he is not married. We noticed on Tuesday and Wednesday that quite a number of our young teachers both male and female were looking quite sleepy. They opened their organs of speech quite frequently and so wide that we thought they looked not unlike gaping sepulchres. Among those we noticed most were Smith, Hendricks, Walter, Herbster, Livingston and Glover. They must all have been badly stayed with. Who was that fellow who wanted to see the ladies on Tuesday night at 2 a. m.? The next time this thing occurs, we are going to ride the offending party on a rail. Poor fellow; hopes blasted and expectations gone forever. Prof. Billhart certainly deserves commendations for the successful manner in which he is conducting the music of the Institute. Who made that dis ha bille parade on Tuesday night? Ask the ladies. Centre County to Have a Neck-tie Festival! Seeley Hopkins, who last September killed his wife and mother-in-law at Phillipsburg, was last week found guilty of murder in the first degree and will no doubt speedily be introduced to the "Dance of Death." The plea of the defense was emotional insanity, but it would not go down with the jury who had the following confession before them, made by prisoner immediately after the arrest: "I left Houtzdale on Saturday night (Sept. 21, '89) about 11 o'clock p. m., walked down the railroad until I came to R. B. Wigton's brick yard where I left the railroad and took the board walk to Phillipsburg. Went up Maple St., to second, then down Second to Rose Prines and went into the alley and then into the back of the house. I broke in the window of the cellar and laid on the bank in the cellar all night. I could not sleep; heard them get up, (meaning Mrs. Wigham and my wife); waited a while and then went up steps that lead from the cellar to the kitchen, but before going up took off my shoes so that they could not hear me. When I got in the kitchen my wife was washing the dishes. I walked up to her and put my arm around her and she said "you s—of a b—! get out." I drew my revolver and she saw it and said "Oh! Cele don't." I fired at her head when she screamed; I fired another and she fell. I did not see whether she was dead or not. I then went up stairs and saw the old woman at the head of the stairs. I fired at her—she turned in the room. I followed her in, she was laying on the floor and begged of me not to shoot her. I turned around and shot her in the head again and then went down the stairs and out of the back door to Allports' livery stable. There I tried to kill myself. I fired two shots, the first did not knock me down, but the second did. Thought I had one more shot, but had not, or I would have died with them. An Angel in Disguise. MR. HARTER: Looking over the Post of last week I observed in the Paxtonville items that the Y. P. Mite Society had received such a beautiful name, viz. "Angel." We never heard that name applied to the Mite Society or to any other society composed of such different matter. But we have heard that name applied to some individual, perhaps belonging to the Mites. The word Angel, both in Greek and Hebrew language signifies "a messenger." The original word is often applied to men: 2 Sam. 2 chap. 5th v. Luke 9 chap. 52nd v. but when the term is used, as it generally is, to designate spiritual beings, it denotes the office they sustain as God's messengers, of the agents through whom he makes known His will and executes the purpose of his Government. But there are other Angels who would like to have all the Angelic Honor; like to sit in the front seat in the temple, or at the Altar—giving a smile to the audience; like to have long conversations with the parson; love a warm shaking of hands; have a word in all church affairs, such as controlling meetings and Sunday Schools; walking through the audience with a sweet smile; and have the same desire as Absalom had when he stood beside the way of the gate stealing the hearts of the Israelites with a sweet embrace and a kiss. And we fear that soon this lovely angel will take up arms and fight against her mother kingdom, riding on a mule like Absalom when he fought against his father. But we hope her hair won't catch at the limb of an oak, and she be left hanging between heaven and earth—the deserved fall of all who fall from grace. DANIEL. "Heroes Recognized and Unrecognized," to-night.

Our "Roll of Honor" is getting to be recognized as reliable authority by business men who desire to see an enrollment of honest men who pay their honest debts, and it is growing in interest every week. Last week we sent statements to all persons who are in arrears over one year on subscription, and though we recognize that some people are "ticklish" on that subject, we had to resort to this mode of collecting, and ask them, before they take offense, to place themselves in our shoes. Should a man owe you three or six dollars honest money for four or five years, and he would get angry if you asked him for it, what would you think of him? Answer the question in your own mind. We have over $1,000 out in small dribs of from $1.00 up. Come, pay up, and get on the largest "roll of honor" next week that was ever published in the Post. MARRIED. Nov. 28th by Rev. J. F.
