LOWELL.—News is scarce and of no importance at this writing.

Sausage and buck-wheat cakes are the chief diet at present.

A few middle-weight hogs have been killed. Robert Goss one 350. Adam Baumgardner one 359.

J. J. Stealy of Mifflin county, Sundayed with some of his old friends.

Tine, your best plan would be to have those two young ladies to fight for a prize, and the one that can pull the most hair, and do the fastest scratching is the one to keep away from—for you are a little to short to handle that kind of an animal.

Thanksgiving is past and gone, no sleigh ride and no turkey, as the latter roosted to high for me, and I am a poor climber after night.

TROXELVILLE.—Last Thursday Isaac C. Swartz moved into his new house, and now occupies the handsomest residence of any living man.

The Lowell scribe has a wrong idea concerning James Wagner's gun missing fire. Jim never carries a gun when out for deer, but uses a bow and arrow. Jim's chance for increasing the shares of venison were good, and as the deer was running away from camp, and the idea for carrying the deer back over the same ground is not pleasant, and Jim in his great hurry to get the animal as quick as possible, broke the raw-hide string to his bow, and the deer went scott free. That is the reason the piles were not higher.

Owing to the advertisement in the Post, and the shrewd detective ability of David Middleswarth, little "Singwell" was recovered in Little Valley on Monday of this week.

Bully for the Post man and detective Middleswarth.

James H. Fetterolf, a classical student of the Missionary Institute of Selinsgrove is at home attending conference.

CALIFORNIA JOE.

CENTREVILLE.—It is reported that C. W. Walter shot the boss turkey gobbler of the season, weighing 20 lbs. and having a beard something less than 20 inches long. I do not know how many pair of boots and how many half-soles he wore out before he captured him. He got $2.50 for the bird.

Our Sunday schools are preparing for Christmas.

For a wonder we had beautiful weather for Thanksgiving day, and the people with well-filled stomachs spent or misspent the day in various ways. It appeared to be every one's desire to get as much pleasure out of the day as it was possible.

W. P. Thomas of Lewisburg, was in town on business on the 28th ult.

Our school children are having a vacation this week. The teachers are attending Institute at Middleburgh.

It is not too early to get your New Year resolutions ready. You will need them by and by.

Mr. J. A. Wiest of Dalmatia, smiling and good natured as usual, was in town on Monday looking up the business interests of his calling.

BANNERVILLE.—The Selinsgrove sportsmen went home on Saturday, taking no game along, and reporting deer scarce.

Miss May Rishel, formerly of Lewistown, is at home at present.

Calvin Knepp had intended going to Oakland, Juniata county, on Saturday last, but owing to some other arrangements was not permitted to come. She will be at home next time. Try it again.

Strangers in our town last week were: Mr. Wagenseller of Selinsgrove, Mr. Schoop, Mr. Jno. Schoch, Mr. Jacob Schoch and Mr. Thomas, of New Berlin.

One of Ammon Bowersox's little boys was sadly disappointed by drinking some lye, thinking it was molasses water.

Mrs. Jacob Kemmerling died last Monday noon at about 1:30, after suffering for about twenty days. She was attending her daughter, (Mrs. Jno. D. Goss of Middlecreek,) just before she took sick. She died at a good old age and leaves a worthy record back—one that all her relatives may be proud of. A good neighbor and a christian mother—which has left some good impressions on all who knew her. "On the happy golden shore, Where the faithful part no more, When the storm of life is o'er, meet me there. When the night dissolves away Into pure and perfect day I am going home to stay, meet me there. Meet me there, meet me there, Where the tree of life is blooming, meet me there. Where the storms of life are o'er, On the happy golden shore Where the faithful part no more, meet me there."
