

SHAMOKIN DAM.—We noticed our merchants E. R. Hottentine and G. M. Gross departing for Philadelphia this morning. We suppose they will come home with a large supply of Spring and Summer goods.

The Lutheran Sunday school was organized and we hope will be well attended. P. S. Ritter is the Superintendent.

Geo. Hane has erected a beautiful monument for his murdered son, Charlie. The monument is headed with the following epitaph "Chas. W., son of G. H. and Alice Hane, assassinated Sept. 29th, 1889, aged 21 years, 5 months and 13 days. Text: Psalms, VII, 9, viz:

"O that the wickedness of the wicked come to an end, that establish the just; for the righteous tread upon the heads of the wicked and ruin them."

The foot-stone bears the simple inscription "Charlie." We hope that ere long there will be a grave or two to contain the perpetrators of this crime, dug in some secluded swamp where civilization never reached.

The river is very low at present and sailing is stopped after a pretty lively time this spring. A good many sails have passed this spring.

Fishing is poor and yet most any one can get a mess of "meal rollers" or "black heads."

Emmanuel Vager had a freight loading fall on him at Sunbury a week ago, and is now nursing a week's lock and back.

Prof. D. S. Boyer is teaching the high school this week. Prof. Eisenbarber being absent—one of his children having died.

Prof. Benj. Costley the champion pilot of this place can talk more railing in ten minutes than he can do in a month.

Sam Sear's early flax is all frozen and he is turning the ground and planting beans instead. Ten acres of beans will take a good bit of picking. We hope it will pay you, Sam.

Some fellows around here should have their hair cut. We will not give names now but let this be a warning.

"Beksy" and "Hime" are again up to some devilry which should be exposed.

The WATSONTOWN Mrs. Kate Mattern is on the sick list.

Trapper Jim and Irvin Fetterolf opened the trout season on Tuesday of last week by catching 147 trout—total weight 13 pounds.

The Seven mountains are on fire and are burning fiercely at this writing. Serious damage is anticipated if it does not rain soon.

Peach trees are in full bloom and promise to supply us with their precious fruit. The cherries are also about to be plentiful.

J. O. Goss of the firm of Greenhoe & Goss, is in the city buying their summer goods. Trapper Jim is also in the City of Brotherly Love, making arrangements to supply the market with furs. Jim knows how to handle his fur after some other fellow catches the animal.

D. A. Mattern and his brother Jas. A. will send to Michigan for a carload of shingles.

The white rats which "Whacker" brought from the coal regions are "sleeping under the daises." They could not stand the climate and died. That settles the meangery question.

It has just leaked out that three of our young gallants were recently drawn over to Beavertown by the tender cords of love wound around them by some of the many fair damsels of that town. The gallants in question numbered three and when the critical moment came to enter into the presence of their enamored-as-the-earl heart failed him just then and he refused to enter. The other two plead, prayed, and prevailed upon him to "screw his courage to the sticking point" and follow. But he would not. His heart was in his boots. Just then a lot of town boys began a racket near the premises which brought old Moses out of the bull-rushes, brandishing a club six feet long. He found the trio on the back porch (where they had expected to be received) and thinking they had occasioned the racket, demanded their desites. This was too much for their now thoroughly weakened condition and they retired out of the magic reach of the staff of Moses with blighted hopes and broken hearts. As Jim and Dan and Joe are all friends of ours we will not give them away and will stop right here and now.

McClure.—The St. Mathews congregation celebrated the Lord's Supper on Sunday.

Mrs. Deliah Baker of Bannerville moved to McClure to live with her sister Mrs. Tobias Baker.

Mrs. Kate Arnold of Ryde, Millin county was visiting friends here last week.

The Grip has found another victim in the person of ex-Sheriff Middleburgh who has been confined to his bed for several days but is better at this writing.

Ner Vanormer of Juniata county was visiting relatives here last week.

He was on his way to Danville to work in the asylum of the insane.

Mrs. Cyrus Gearhart of Yeagers-town is visiting relatives here this week.

H. H. Smith is putting a new fence around his house which adds greatly to its appearance.

Miss Lottie Wagner of Yeagers-town has returned home and will remain a week or so.

Dr. Rothrock has become tired of kindling fire with wet wood and has built himself a wood-shed.

W. H. Ush will soon be able to attend to his business again.

John Felker, Jr., is on the sick list.

School closed to-day and the juveniles are happy.
