Different Ideas in Style. The beauty of Catherine of Russia, it is said, consisted in her green eyes. A damask cheek, history says, is about all that was required to captivate the poet Cowper. Queen Elizabeth had red hair-not the gorgeous Titian red-but an outand-out carroty red.

Lucretia Borgia was a model of beauty in her time, and is said to have had scarcely any neck at all. A Kamskatdale belle is four feet high, and one of Patagonia ranges anywhere from six to seven feet.

Lady Jane Grey had a long, thin neck and a multitude of suitors who were always discoursing on her beauty. The Circassian beauty is a young woman with dark, piercing eyes and kinky hair, standing straight out around her head. Ben Johnson was inspired to write of a beauty with "flowing hair, a sweet neglect, and a faco marked with simplicity.

The beauty Byron dwelt on most is said to have had glossy hair, slanting eyebrows, glowing cheeks, and constant blushes,

MUSICAL.

There seems to be little going on in musical circles of late, but there is much talk, among 1. usical people, of the marvelous cure of Miss Bthe high contralto singer, who has long suffered from a severe throat or bronchial affection, superinduced by Catarrh in the Head, and who has been perfectly cured by the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, coupled with the use of Dr. Piepce's Golden Medical Discovery, For all bronchial, throat and lung affecits use should be coupled with the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, Of all druggists. HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

WASHING WHITE EMBROIDERED DRESSES. White embroidered dresses should be washed through two clean, soapy waters, then rinsed through two clear waters and through pale indigo water. Mark the word indigo, for if you use Prussian blue the dress will be yellow before spring. Then they should go through a very thin gum arabic water, this also slightly blued. Dry them in the hot sun, sprinkle, fold smoothly and roll up tight over night. Next morning have ironed on the wrong side over a piece of flannel. In this way all the figures will be pressed out in bold relief and the gown look just as well as new-Washington Star.

CLEANING COFFEE POTS.

There is always a disagreement among housewives about how the coffee pot should be cleansed. Some women take a great pride in washing theirs both mside and outside every morning with hot soapy water. Some authorities say, however, that sosp should not touch the inside of a coffee pot. One good way is to wash the outside, and then rinse the inside thoroughly with clean hot water. It may then be put on the stove to dry, and when dry may be rubbed well with a clean, dry cloth. The brown sediment may be rubbed off in that way, without the aid of a soapy dish cloth. I, however, take a medium course, as once every week I wash the inside of my coffee pot out thoroughly with clean, hot soapy water, and then rinse several times with clear, hot or boiling water. After this, however, regularly every morning, I use only clean, hot water, etc., as I I have just described, as "a good way" to do it. If after breakfast you have coffee remaining in the coffee pot that you desire to use again, put it, grounds and all, into a bowl, so that you may cleanse your coffee pot out as usual .--New York News.

HOW TO TREAT A SILK DRESS.

Get a good silk, but don't trim it to death, that is, not expensively, at first. Its gloss and freshness carry themselves well enough, but when it begins to show wear the velvet and passementoric will be kind to its failings and give a new respectability.

But if there is a certainty of a silk gown later, our little matron will do just as well, so long as there is a baby in the case, to have something more youthful, a dark clear blue cashmere, or dahlia faced cloth, with the braided or embroidered sleeves, belt and border to the skirt. Velvet sleeves and girdle would probably be more convenient under the circumstances. Or a gay little gown of check wool, in dark red, blue and black with bourette threads of vertical lines of golden russet, made with plain skirt, slightly draped in front, and coarse silk open stitch above the hem, and a dashing little Norfolk jacket and belt with blue velvet collar and facings to the cuffs would be stylish and becoming, while it would bear the rough handling certain to come later with the invincible baby.

It is plain that this juvenile mamma is inclined to take things seriously, and wishes to dress with gravity beyond her years, perhaps to increase her dignity. Married and a mamma at twenty is enough to give one serious views of life, but it is a mistake to mope in grave

There are local diseases of various characters for which nature provides positive reme-dies. They may not be included in the regudies. > Delicious Steamed Pudding--Half a cup of sugar, half a cup of butter, one egg, one cup of butter milk, one teaspoonful of soda, add flour until stiff as cake, then a cup of stoned and chopped raisins, or any fruit you have. Pour it into a two quart basin and steam an hour and a half. Serve with boiled sauce.

Bread Fruit Cake-Two cups of bread dough, very light. Add to this one cup of butter, one cup of sugar, three egga one nutmeg, one teaspoonful of alispice, one and a half teaspoonfuls of soda, a cup and a half of raisins stoned and chopped and two tablespoonfuls of jelly. After putting it in your tins let it rise half an hour before baking.

Baked Bean Soup-Put about half a can of baked beans in two quarts of hot water over the fire and boil them until they can be rubbed through a sieve with a potato-masher. Meanwhile mix to a smooth paste a heaping tablespoonful each of butter and flour, and after the bean pulp is returned to the saucepan stir in the paste and let the soup boil until it is smooth; season it highly with salt and cayenne.

Cranberry Jelly-Pare, quarter and core twelve good-sized tart apples (greenings or any juicy apples preferred); place in a porcelain kettle with two quarts of cranberries, cover well with cold water and stew until soft, then strain with a jelly bag. Add to this juice two pounds of coffee and boil as you would any jelly until it falls from the skimmer when you dip it in. Skim off any froth that arises while boiling. Pour in moulds and let it get firm before using. This seldom, if ever fails, and the color is Leautiful.

Omelet with Jelly-Heat a smooth, clean omelet-pan with enough butter to cover the bottom; beat the yelks of three eggs for half a minute, and the whites to a stiff froth; gently mix both, put them into the hot pan, keeping it over a moderate fire; gently mix them with a fork, lifting the cooked part from the pan and piling it in a heap until the omelet is sufficiently done; put a tablespoonful of jelly in the middle, double the omelet over, loosen the edges and bottom, and turn it out upon a hot dish; dust it with sifted powdered sugar and serve it at once.
