

A Young Father's Excitement

The story is on a young Chicago father. The baby was his first, and he wanted to weigh it.

"It's a bouncer!" he exclaimed. "Where are the scales?"

The domestic hunted up an old-fashioned steelyard that had come down from a former generation. It was the only weighing machine in the house. The baby, wrapped in the fleecy folds of some light fabric, was suspended from the proper hook, and the young father assumed charge of the exercises.

"I'll try it at eight pounds," he said, sliding the weight along the beam to that figure.

"It won't do. She weighs ever so much more than that!"

He slid the weight along several notches further.

"By George!" he said. "She weighs more than ten pounds! Eleven—twelve—thirteen—fourteen! Is it possible?"

He set the baby and steelyard down and rested himself a moment.

"Biggest baby I ever saw!" he panted, resuming the weighing process. "Fifteen and a half—sixteen! This thing won't weigh her. See! Sixteen is the last notch, and she jerks it up like a feather. Go and get a big pair of scales at some neighbor's. I'll bet a hundred dollars she weighs over twenty pounds. 'Millie,' he shouted, rushing into the next room, 'she's the biggest baby in this country! Weighs over sixteen pounds!'"

"What did you weigh her on?" inquired the young mother.

"On the old steelyard in the kitchen."

"The figures on that are only ounces," she replied, quietly. "Bring me the baby, John." — Chicago Tribune.

LOWELL.—The Lowell butchers are about winding up business for this season.

The party of hunters, who left this end of town last week report game scarce in Poe Valley. A. A. Romig says they had a good time and were treated to the best market afforded by the citizens of that country. The Squire was considered the best wing shot, so he was called upon to shoot what was supposed to be a big brown bear, and it turned out to be a big brown stump. He would have been entitled to the skin if he had skinned it.

Jacob Erb's new house is now ready for the painters.

As far as heard from Peter Goss wears the belt for big hogs at this end. Two dressed almost 800 lbs. Age 1 year.

John I. Erb has been retailing pigs at three dollars per dozen. He says he has more pigs than rats.

Ulysses Herbster is still confined to his bed with fever.

Your scribe can boast of having a brown leg-horn hen that has been laying an egg every day since it was five months old. [Has she laid it? Ed.]

Petty thieving still seems to be carried on a great deal in the west end.

Squire Romig is under the impression that some rascal gave his dog a dose of poison, but it was not the right dose as it did not kill. He says he has a loaded gun ready for some fellows who make it their business to prow around at night.

BROOKLYN, Conn., May 5, '90.

Dr. J. J. Kendall, I cured a Curlew on my horse with your celebrated Kendall's Spavin Cure and it was the best job I ever saw done. I have a dozen empty bottles, having used it with perfect success, and every time I tried it on my neighbor's horse, a broken one, it cured it. I would like to have a bottle with a very bad spavin that made him lame, and would like to have you send me a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure. He cured the spavin in just three weeks.

Yours respectfully,
