DEATH'S SHINING MARKS.

BRITAIN'S HEIR PRESUMPTIVE AND TWO GREAT CARDINALS DEAD.

The Grim Monster Invades Thre-Princely Homes. Duke of Clarance and Cardinals Manning and Simeoni No More.

London, Jan. 16-Albert Victor, the eldest son of the Prince of Wales, Duke of Clarence and heir presumptive to the throne of Great Britain, died Thursday morning at Sandringham. The night previous slight hopes for his recovery were entertained, but at 2 o'clock Thursday morning there was a change for the worse, and from that time the Prince sank rapidly until the end came. He was delirious during part of the night, but recovered consciousness before he died and knew his condition.

TRINCE GROUDE PREDERING PRINCET ALBERT, DUKE OF CLASSING

The official account of the death of the Duke says that the Rev. Frederick Hervey, domestic chaplain to the Prince of Wales, read the prayers for the dying when the end was near In the room were assembled the Prince and Princess of Wales, Prince George, the Duke and Duchess of Fife the Princesses Victoria and Mand, sisters of the dying Duke; the Prince and Princess of Teck and the Princess May, the Duke's betrothed. Along with these were three physicians and three nurses. The official account gives no description of the dying scene.

The Princess May is said to be almost on the verge of mental collapse. The worst sign is her restlessness. She wanders about in an aimless way through the house as if she expected to meet her royal lover somewhere alive, and be greeted by him in the old way. Her grief at the death bed was sonverwhelming that it attracted the attention of the Prince and Princess from their own. It is said that the dying Prince gave her a last look of recognition as she kissed his fore-

Queen Victoria, who is at Marlborough is said to be more prostrated than when she lost Alice and Prince Leopold. Albert Victor was of an especially amiable disposition and had won his way to his grandmothers'heart. had won his way to his grainfmothers heart. Indeed, the saying is ascribed to her Majesty that she looked on Albert Victor as she had on her first born son. When the sad news rame she wished at once to proceed to Sandringham. Even when her physician advised against in longueen could with difficulty be dissued. In the same hastening to the stricken box.

Her Majesty announced that the funeral of the duke would be a state function and that it would be held in St. George chapel, Windsor Palace. It was in this chapel that the Mary was to have taken place on February THE NEWS IN LONDON.

At 955 the Lord Mayor received the following: "His Royal Highness passed away at 915 o'clock." After this came the following dispatch from the Prince of Wales. "Our beloved son passed away at 9.15 o'clock to-

On receipt of the news the Lord Mayor at once gave orders to have the great bell in St. Paul's Cathedral tolled, and also sent the following message to the Prince of Wales. "We are profoundly moved by the sall news, and have communicated it to our fellow citizens. We tender our deep and respectful sympathy with Your Royal Highness in this great serrow and national

When the solemn tolling of the great bells when the solomn tolling of the great hells in St. Paul's Cathedral were heard this morning they conveyed to everyone within hearing of their dee monthest booming the fact that the Duke had passed away. The bells in St. Paul's are never tolled save on the occasion of the death of an heir to the throne, and therefore to further information was necessary for the people of London to make them aware that after a gallant struggle the heir presumptive had finally

The bells of the Westminster Abbey and of all the other churches throughout London and its suburbs took up the note of death soon after St. Paul's thundered forth the sad news, and one most have listened to the deleful tolling of these innumerable muffled bells to be able to thoroughly appreciate the air of sadness which they evoked and the feeling of depression which they conjured up. And then, as if under the influence of a magic wand, half-masted flags im many instances draged with cross, appeared from every building graced with a flagstaff, while other signs of mourning as promptly appeared in store windows, the windows of private houses and in all public places. Millions of pictures and photographs of Prince Eddie and Princess May, which were destined to be displayed drapped with wedding favors upon the occasion of the royal marriage, were soon encircled with crops and so displayed, forming said commentaries upon the weakness of human beings and proving another example of the fact that, though man proposes, God alone dispeases.

though man proposes. God alone disposes.

During the afternoon most of the theaters and other places of amusement in the city posted up notices announcing that there would be no performance tonight.

Telegrams from all parts of the Kingdom show that the news of the Duke's death was received everywhere with tokens of deep CAREER OF THE DEAD PRINCE Prince Albert Victor Christian Edward was born January 8, 1864. He was the eld-est son of the Prince of Wales and consequently in the direct line of succession to the throne. He was educated at Trinity college, Cambridge, and the University of Heidelberg. Previous to his entering as an under graduate, however, he passed two years as a naval cader on board the Britan na and in 1879 started with his britan nia, and in 1879 started with his brother rince George of Wales, on a voyage around se world in the Bacchante. He returned to England in 1882. On leaving the University Prince Albert Victor proceeded to Aldershot to prepare for the army. In 1883 he was invested with the Order of the Garter. He was created an honoracy LL. D. of Cambridge in 1888. In the spring of 1880 he returned from a visit to India, had on June 23 of that year took his seat in the House of Lords as Duke of Clarence and Avondale and Earl of Athlone, titles conferred on him by the Queen. On December 15, 1830, he was installed at Reading as Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master of the Province of Berkshire. His military rank was that of Major, he holding a commission in the Tenth Hussars of which regiment his father is Colonei.

In December was announced the marriage of His Royal Highness Princes Albert Victoria to Her Serene Highness Princes Victoria to Her Serene Highness Princes Victoria Mary of Teck, the betrothal of the royal lovers having been previously announced, would take place on Saturday, February 27, at St. George's chapel, Windsor Castle. The announcement was received with great favor, as the Princess is very popular. favor, as the Princess is very popular.

After the Duke of Clarence and Avondale ie next to person to the Prince of Wales in the line of direct succession is Prince George Frederick Ernest Albert of Wales, brother of the late Duke. He was born June 3, 1855. He soon displayed a predilection for naval affairs, and after serving in minor capacities was appointed, in March, 1800, to the com-mand of the new gunboat. Thrush, and while on this vessel he was attached to the British North. British North American squadron. In August, 1800, he was promoted to the rank of commander of Her Majesty's fleet. Prince George is popular, but it is known that he is not strong. There is talk of a match between him and the dead Prince's betrothed, but it is said he is a ready betrathed. If he should die without heirs it would come to pass that the baby girl of the Duke of Fife, who narried the Princs of Wale's daughter would be the successor to the throne. Thi would not please the royal family and its numerous connections, for the Dake is not of that rich, royal, blue blood distinguishing the wielders of England's scepter.

Kellog, W. Wa , Blow Up, Kill Five Man, Injure Two Fatally and Several Seriously.

Catlettsburg, Ky., Jan. 19-The Phoenix powder mills at Kellog, W. Va., blew up with terrific force, instantly killing five men and so badly injuring two more that they are not expected to live until night.

The killed are Archie Livingstone, Ed Winton, John Benton, Charles Scott, John Schauster. The injured: Ed Gook and John Crouse, fatally burned; Reese Estep. burned; John Justice, struck by timber; Charles Nally, cut on head. A number of others were injured. They were able to go to their homes.

It is impossible to say just how many are killed, but those named above were in the mills, which leaves no doubt as to their fate. It is estimated that at least 60,000 pounds of powder went off and the mills that cost in the neighborhood of $150,000 are damaged at least two thirds of that amount.

How the awful wreck was brought about will never be known because not a soul that was in the mill is left alive to tell the story-In Ironton twentyfive miles away was heard the terrible detonating roar. In Cered three miles away, windows were broken and wares in the stores were shaken from the shelves. In Caltettsburg, nearly ten miles away, the earth shook and the people were alarmed.
