

The "Cheap" Clothing Cry.

A deal great has been said about cheap clothing for working people. Take, for instance, a carpenter in New York who gets $21 per week; in 52 weeks he earns $1,092. He purchases for himself during a year clothing to the amount of $65, which is a very large sum. He has left $1,027.

A carpenter in England receives $72 per week for 52 weeks, which amounts to $411.84. Take from that $43 for his clothing in England, for himself he has left $368.84, while the American carpenter has $1,027.

Now, can any Free-Trader make any figures that will enlighten the American workingman any better than these facts?

Beware of silly stories against the Republican candidates set afloat on the eve of the election. They are intended to deceive. The Post has used all the candidates of both parties as gentlemen, while supporting those who carry the banner of sound principles—the Republican candidates.
