The New-Born Year.

Written for the Post.
Another milestone on our life's journey has been passed, and we begin the journey of another year. Eighteen Hundred and Ninety-Two is now numbered among the years of the hoary past and its records are filed away in the archives of eternity, and we welcome with delight the new-born son of Time. Eighteen Hundred and Ninety-Two has chronicled important events, and has wrapped up in its folds deeds that will bring us a harvest of rejoicing or of sadness. We are undeniably and inseparably connected with the past and the future. Time has been defined as a fragment of eternity, but these declarations are too ambiguous and do not seem to be sufficiently clear for a correct comprehension of the subject. They confound time with eternity, in a measure at least. Time is a measure of duration of created things, or the measure of successive changes of changeable things. Our idea of it is derived from the movements or changes of material extended things. Without these movements and changes we could acquire no idea whatever of time. Time is divided into a past, present and future. These divisions are essential to the idea of it. Take them away and the idea of time is taken away, and is replaced by that of eternity. Eternity is one unpassing and unpassable moment, indivisible—having neither past nor future. It is the incomputable, real, actual now. A person's life-time on earth is divided into days, months and years for convenience of reckoning and remembering the dates of events, as well as to measure our earthly life. Our individual career on earth may end with this New Year. It is a truism known to all thinking beings that "Time rolls his ceaseless course and waits for no man." It is impartial, being no respecter of persons. Like the wind it flies between birth and death like a weaver's shuttle runs through the loom, leaving its impress behind. Human life on earth, comparatively speaking, covers but few years. Those who are upon the stage of action now will soon give way to an oncoming generation, even as the leaves of the tree which fell last fall were crowded out by the buds of the oncoming leaves. There are many wasted years for many of us to lament over. Who has not sighed: "Give me back my wasted years!" Let us not repeat the folly by adding other wasted years to those which are already standing on record against us. For some of us the past and the future carries in its bosom many precious years. The past years provoke to thankfulness and rejoicing as well as to lamentation. What joy we did realize in the luxury of doing good? What decisive battles were fought and what glorious victories were achieved? What deeds of love and philanthropy have been crowded into those years? To some of us this may be our last year on earth, and it may bring with it special opportunities and experiences.

Improve time in time while time doth last. For all time is no time when the time is past.
We should this year live, think, speak and work as though we realized that it may be our last year on earth. Time is short, eternity is long, yet the enjoyment of eternity depends upon the improvement of time. Come, let us anew our journey pursue. Roll round with the years and never stand still, till the Master appears.

The Odd Fellows at Portland.

"Trainloads and trainloads rapidly whirled their precocious burdens through the vast wheatfields of Eastern Oregon, along the picturesque bluffs in the shadow of the towering domes of the Cascade mountains, and into the wide, rolling valley of the Willametta till they reached Portland. The magnificent steamer 'Potter,' of the Union Pacific fleet, laden from stem to stern with its crowds of human souls, swiftly ploughed the waters of the grandest river in the world, bearing its enthusiastic and admiring passengers through the scenic grandeur of the gorge of the Columbia and up the placid waters of the Willametta."

DR. R. A. SIMPSON'S WILL BE AT Home Office, Jan. 1 to 16, 1893.
Eagle Hotel, Middleburgh, Pa., from Friday, Jan. 20, at 10 o'clock a. m. to Saturday noon.

Dr. Simpson will examine any one who may call upon him free of charge. Knowing that hundreds are living out a miserable existence with, out medical aid, some because they have passed through the "old riddle" without relief, and some perhaps, because they may not know where to apply, he feels justified in making these facts public. Satisfied that a number will seize upon these plain truths and be fully rewarded by a cure.
Our system of practice may need some explanation. The remedies are principally vegetable in their nature, and free of the use of Mercury, Tartar, Rnistic, Arsenic and Antimony because they are disease-creating agents of the worst description. We are opposed to the use of general blood-purifiers, believing it to be injurious to the constitution and often dangerous to life.
Dr. Simpson treats successfully chronic or long-standing diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs, Kidney and Heart complaints; Invertebrate diseases of the Stomach that have defied all other methods; those fearful diseases of the nervous system arising from what we call Scrofula, Dropsy, Fits, Fever, Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, In Conditioned Liver, Cancer, rheumatoid without the use of the knife and cured. Asthma, Hay Fever, Rose Cold, Winter Cough, Chronic Diarrhoea, etc. All may be cured by this wonderful System, if not too far advanced. It is a cure for all diseases of the blood when all other methods have failed.
Ladies who are suffering with diseases strictly confined to their sex, can consult the Doctor themselves to the very end without unnecessary examination. The doctor particularly invites all cases that have been given up by other physicians.

TESTIMONIALS.
Mr. Reuben Grubb, of Liverpool, Perry county, Pa., had a cancer on his face for several months and was completely cured by the treatment of Dr. R. A. Simpson, of York, Pa.
Miss Anna Koehl, of Liverpool, Perry county, Pa., had for many years a malignant ulcer on her lip near the ankle, and although under the treatment of different doctors, the sore grew worse. It was cured by Dr. R. A. Simpson, of York, Pa., in four months. No scraping of the bone or cutting.
For many years Mr. Charles Allison, of Glen Rock, York county, Pa., had a cancer on his face below the eye. Dr. R. A. Simpson, of York, Pa., removed it by his chemical process. He is now well.
Dr. Simpson invites any one who doubts any of these statements to write to the parties and ascertain for themselves. There are only a few of the many testimonials obtained. The Doctor invites correspondence from a distance. If you write enclose 4 cents in stamps. Remember the dates and call early. Jan. 3, 1893.

SHOEMACKER CO.'S Electro-Gold String Pianos.

AMONG the most important points of superiority of these magnificent Pianos is, that longer than those of other makes they remain in tone, and that, while many instruments, which at first give satisfaction, become flat and wiry, the Shoemaker Piano is still staunch and true. It is impossible to overestimate the advantages derived from the use of the Electro-Gold Strings. The ordinary iron-wrapped or so-called "waffle" metal-plated strings, which all other makers are still compelled to use, are immediately affected by atmospheric action, gradually destroying the power of the strings to prolong and sustain the tone, rendering them liable to easily snap and break. The remedy of this has been successfully accomplished by the use of the ELECTRO-GOLD STRINGS, which are proof against rust and emit a superior quality of tone.
I do not present the Shoemaker instrument in competition with the low-priced and absurdly misnamed "cheap" Pianos, this country, which are inacceptable of further improvement—an instrument to do credit to its taste—I confidently offer the SHOEMACKER PIANO as unexcelled by any in the world and at the best prices, which will yield me a just profit.
