THE FIFTY-SECOND CONGRESS.

Proceedings of the Senate and the House Tarely Told.

THIRTY-SIXTH DAY. SENATE.—Mr. Chandler, (Republican, New Hampshire), stepped to the front to-day as an avowed Hawaiian annexationist and if not for the fact that he had been instructed by both houses to enter into negotiations with the representatives of the provisional government of the late kingdom of Hawaii and to submit the convention to congress for ratification by legislation, Mr. Chandler would have been a member of the House of Representatives.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Never Before Was the Distribution of Products so Large.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Actual business is surprisingly large for the season and yet fears about the future are also large. Congressional uncertainties cause the fears, but the prosperity and the needs of the people make business what it is and never before has the distribution of products to consumers been larger than it has been thus far this year. Yet it is probably safe to say that rarely, if ever, except in a time of panic has business been more cautiously and conservatively regulated. Monetary uncertainties are excused by the continued outgo of gold. But the passage of the anti-option bill by the senate has had no effect upon the markets as yet.

At Pittsburg the glass trade is fair, but trade in iron and its products is weak. Business in Cleveland is fairly good and at Cincinnati the demand for lumber exceeds the supply and prices are bright for trade in general. Prospects are bright for trade in Indianapolis and at Detroit exceeds that of last year. At Chicago receipts of cured meats and wheat are more than three times those of last year and considerable increase in corn, cheese, oats and rye, while in flour, lard and dressed beef, the increase is large. Trade at Milwaukee is increasing, though collections are retarded.

While there is much cutting of rates by the railroads, and the movement has been greatly interrupted in the West by severe weather, the general tendency is toward expansion. The movement of cotton is not large, but the great accumulation of stocks is felt in a decline of 4 cent with sales of 1,000,000 bales. The wonderful demand for textile fabrics is unabated. For brown and black goods the market is said to be the best for twenty years and some make the sheeting have advanced. The trade in low and medium grade of men's woolsens is about closing at the time it is usually opening and the market for fine goods is less strong, possibly because of anticipation of a tariff on the general tendency is clearly toward greater economy in many factors. Trade in boots and shoes is very active. Prices for manufactured products of iron and steel are depressed beyond all precedent and nevertheless the sales continue to be large and the volume of business greater than in any previous year. The stagnation in steel rails has been broken by the placing of orders for 60,000 tons by the Pennsylvania railroad, and in plates orders for 10,000 tons have been placed for the Great Lakes. Large structural steel contracts have also been placed for buildings in New York.

While $2,500,000 gold has been ordered for shipment to day, and the amount is larger, receipts from the interior are not so large. Produce exports are $10,000,000 less than last year since January 1, and there is also a decrease at cotton ports in spite of the advance in prices. The uncertainty about the monetary future retards business engagements and in the future, before they are satisfactory and the feeling of the most and healthy for the feeling of caution that prevails.

The business failures number 301, as compared with a total of 336 last week.

ENGLISH PARLIAMENT OPENED.

The Queen Refers Especially to the Irish and Egyptian Questions.

Parliament convened with the usual formalities Wednesday morning, and after the noon recess, Premier Gladstone and the other Ministers took the oath of office. The Queen's address was the only other event of note. In her address, the Queen said: "In view of recent occurrences in Egypt, I have determined upon making a slight augmentation in the number of British troops stationed in that country. This measure does not indicate a change of policy or a modification of assurances my Government has given from time to time respecting the British occupation of Egypt. The Khedive has declared in terms satisfactory to me, his intention to follow henceforth the established practice of previous consultation with my Government in political affairs, and his desire to act in cordial cooperation with it."

"I have observed with concern the wide prevalence of agricultural distress in many parts of the country. It is to be hoped that among the causes of the present depression some are of a temporary nature, but without doubt you will take this grave matter into your consideration and make it the subject of careful inquiry."
