To The Farmers.

For the Poor.

Don't your taxes keep you down any more? If not take some more on the township, but don't sign the "snow-bin" fence act. It is a Tool to mislead the farmers. We want to build fences but we want to boss the job. Sometime ago I looked to the south and saw a black cloud approaching. It threatened evil. I looked at the weather indicator in the paper and saw "pleasant to-day and to-morrow." What did it mean? It was the coming of the objectionable bill. In dismay I exclaimed "where will we get legislators who will not misrepresent our people?" My wife quietly replied, "In Sunbury where you get your judges."

Who pays for the land that is taken up by our public roads? Why the farmer, of course. If so, will we permit them to be turned into public stock yards? I can't see who pushes this unless it be the phosphate houses—in order that there may be scattered on the road that which should be deposited on the farm. There was a time when all the domestic as well as the wild animals roamed at large, and the ox, the slow-mover, was used as the propelling power so that the rest could get out of the way. Next we had the horse, then the steamer, and I don't hope to goodness that we will again be put back to the ox-ge.
