MARCH, APRIL AND MAY

Is the Time for Catarrhal Dyspepsia—The Blood Must be Cleansed.

The symptoms of catarrhal dyspepsia are: Coated tongue, pain or heavy feeling in the stomach, sour stomach, belching of gas, dizzy head, sometimes headache, despondent feelings, loss of appetite, palpitation of heart and irregularity of the bowels.

For this condition Pe-ru-na is found to be an admirable remedy. In all cases it brings prompt relief to the painful symptoms, and in a large per cent. of the cases it makes a permanent cure. Pe-ru-na soothes the inflamed mucus surfaces, and thus strikes at the root of the disease. In cases where the inflammation has been so severe and continued as to produce extreme irritability of the stomach, the remedy may be taken in small doses at first, diluted in water; but as soon as the improvement is sufficient to permit the full dose to be taken undiluted, it is a better way, and the cure is much more rapid. Pe-ru-na is also a spring medicine which at once removes the cause of all affections peculiar to the spring season by purifying the blood of all contaminations, and invigorating the whole system.

Two valuable books, No. 1, setting forth in detail the treatment of catarrh, coughs, cold, sore throat, bronchitis and consumption, in every phase of the disease, and No. 2, on spring remedies and diseases, will be sent free to any address by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Ohio.

Well Seasoned.

Wood for tennis rackets requires at least five years' seasoning: that is to say, it requires to be kept for five years in the rough timber state before being cut up for use. Wood for pianos is kept, as a rule, for forty years before it is considered sufficiently in condition to be used.

THE U.S. FLAG ORDERED DOWN

IT NO LONGER WAVES O'ER

Honolulu and the Protectorate is Declared Off.

On Commissioner Blount's arrival at Honolulu he ordered the American flag, which for two months has floated over the government buildings, hauled down and the United States cruiser Boston's forces sent aboard. A crowd of 2,000 saw them go There was consternation among the American party and rejoicing among the royalists. Blount is a good questioner, but gives little information. Minister Stevens had less than twenty-four hours' notice of what was done.

The chief apprehension here is Japanese interference, and it is feared the queen may appeal to the captain of the Japanese cruiser. Commissioner Blount, Minister Stevens and Admiral Skerrett have agreed it is stated, that Japanese interference would be an act of hostility to the United States, and will act accordingly in an emergency. The Japanese consul and the commander of the cruiser deny any hostile intentions.

The officers of the Japanese cruiser called on Admiral Skerrett a few days ago and assured him no hostile intentions were entertained. The admiral responded good naturedly but dryly, and invited the attention of his visitors to official data containing a comparative statement of the power of the guns of the Naniwa and Boston nonchalantly remarking as was said by another naval officer on some similar occasion, "that the United States is making some of the best guns in the world."

The consul stated positively that neither he nor any attache of the consulate had received any overtures from the queen, though he admitted he suspected the deposed sovereign had leanings towards Japanese assistance.

Commissioner Blount has been receiving much attention from Hawaiian residents, who are frequent callers upon him.

The provisional government has been notified that the American protectorate will be declared off May 1 on the ground that it is not necessary and is incompatible with any diplomatic negotiations that might be arranged between the two countries. The United States, however, would brook no hostile interference in Hawaiian affairs by any foreign power. The provisional government is consequently preparing to order out its force to maintain peace and order.

The scene at the hauling down of the flag was dramatic in its very quietness. The provisional government forces and the provisional government were present, and throngs of natives, Chinese, Japanese, whites and half castes on foot and horseback. At the sound of the bugle call blown by Lieut. Draper the flag was drawn down by unseen hands and the Hawaiian flag run up over the government buildings.

Previously Commissioner Blount had answered the address of a delegation from the Annexation club in these words:

"Gentlemen, you will very readily understand that I can make no reply to this address. My negotiations will be conducted entirely with your government."

BLOUNT CONFIRMS THE NEWS.

United States Commissioner Blount's dispatches from Honolulu were received Saturday by Secretary Gresham at Washington. Mr. Blount confirms the reports from San Francisco that he had ordered down the American flag and that the marines had been relieved from duty on shore and returned to the warship Boston. While explaining in full the reasons for his action, he says that he found everything quiet there, and that the majority of the people seemed to think that there was no necessity for a United States protectorate. Secretary Gresham said that he expected [illegible] full details from Mr. Blount [illegible]

Get Away From the Crowd.

The advice which Robert Burdette gives to boys may well be taken, not only by them, but by older persons—"Get away from the crowd," he says, "for a little while every day, and think. Stand on one side and let the world run by, while you get acquainted with yourself, and see what kind of a fellow you are. Ask yourself hard questions about yourself; find out all you can about yourself. Ascertain, from original sources, if you are really the manner of man you say you are; and if you are always honest; if you always tell the square, perfect truth in business deals; if your life is as good and upright at 11 o'clock at night as it is at noon; if you are as good a temperance man on a fishing excursion as you are at a Sunday school picnic; if you are as good when you go out of the city as you are at home; if, in short, you are really the sort of man your father hopes you are, and your sweetheart believes you are. Get on intimate terms with yourself, my boy, and believe me, every time you come out from one of these private interviews, you will be a stronger, better, purer man. Don't forget this, and it will do you good."

Two Weddings.

The late Duke Maximilian, father of the Empress of Austria, was one of the most simple and affable of men. One day, as he was traveling on the train between his country residence and Vienna, he fell into conversation with a banker from Stuttgart.

"Are you going to Vienna?" asked the Duke.

"Yes; to see my daughter. She has just been married."

"Ah!" said the Duke: "mine has just married, also. Was it a good match?"

"Excellent! And that of your daughter?"

"Not bad, either."

"My daughter married the Banker Goldschmidt."

"Mine, the Emperor of Austria."

She Dresses Dogs.

A dog tailor flourishes in Paris. This tailor is a woman, and her reception rooms cunningly cater to both mistress and pet. Here Prince Bow-wow has rugs, water bowls and biscuit jars, to refresh him during the trying-on processes. Here are the daintiest water-color pattern books to choose from, and anything from sealskin to chamois is provided. A green broadcloth lined and edged with seal, is a blanket that especially becomes milady's greyhound; but scarlet, edged with silver cordings and lined with quilted satin, is a gay coat for the toy terrier. A tailor-made doggie, with a gold clasp under his chin and a monogram well toward his tail, is a sign of the times in France.—Detroit Free Press.

More Flattery than Truth.

One day as Sir Isaac Heard was with George the Third, it was announced that his majesty's horse was ready to start for hunting. "Sir Isaac," said the good monarch, "are you a judge of horses?" "In my younger days, please your majesty," was the reply, "I was a great deal among them." "What do you think of this, then?" said the king, who was by this time preparing to mount his favorite, and, without waiting for an answer, added: "We call him perfection." "A most appropriate name," replied the courtly herald, bowing as his majesty reached the saddle, "for he bears the best of characters."

Creede's Prosperity.

Creede, Colo., the wonderful mining town which attracted so much attention about a year ago, is by no means dead, though its remarkable boom has long since waned. The idea was pretty general that Creede burst with the boom, but that is not the case. The solid business men of the town regard the collapsing of the boom, with all its spectacular features, as a very good thing for the business interests of the place.

The New Bread.

The favor with which the new bread, made with Royal Baking Powder instead of yeast, has been received by our best housekeepers and most expert bread makers is really wonderful. "It saves all the hard and tedious work of kneading and moulding," writes one. "Less than an hour from the dry flour to the most perfect loaf of bread I ever saw," writes another. "Fresh bread every day," says another, "and that the lightest, finest and most wholesome, is something to live for." "We relish the bread better than the old kind;" "it is ahead of any yeast bread I ever baked;" "the bread was whiter and softer." "Best of all," writes an enthusiastic housewife, "we can eat the Royal unfermented bread when freshly baked, or even when warm, with perfect impunity. It is actually an anti-dyspeptic."

"This bread has a 'nutty' taste, that is peculiarly pleasing," writes still another. This is owing to the fact that the active gas-producing principle of the Royal is derived from the pure grape acid.

The great value of this bread arises from the fact that in it are preserved all the most nutritive elements of the flour, some of which are decomposed and destroyed by the action of yeast. The loss of these properties is what makes fresh yeast bread unwholesome. The use of the Royal Baking Powder instead of yeast is found to make a finer, lighter bread, devoid of all dyspeptic qualities. The same gas—carbonic—is produced as where yeast is used, but it is evolved from the baking powder itself and not from the flour. Thereby the bread is made more wholesome and actually anti-dyspeptic. The greater convenience, where a batch of the finest bread can be made and baked in less than an hour with no danger of a sour or heavy loaf, must be appreciated by everyone.

The receipt for making this bread is herewith given, and housekeepers will do well to cut it out and preserve it:

To make one loaf—One quart flour, one teaspoonful salt, half a teaspoonful sugar, two heaping teaspoonfuls Royal Baking Powder, half medium-sized cold boiled potato, and water. Sift together thoroughly flour, salt, sugar and baking powder; rub in the potato; add sufficient water to mix smoothly and rapidly into a stiff batter, about as soft as for pound cake; about a pint of water to a quart of flour will be required—more or less according to the brand and quality of the flour used. Do not make a stiff dough, like yeast bread. Pour the batter into a greased pan, 4½x8 inches, and four inches deep, filling about half full. The loaf will rise to fill the pan when baked. Bake in very hot oven forty-five minutes, placing paper over first fifteen minutes baking, to prevent crusting too soon on top. Bake at once. Don't mix with milk.

Perfect success requires the most careful observance of all these details, and the author of the receipt emphasizes the statement that Royal Baking Powder only can be used because it is the only powder in which the ingredients are prepared so as to give that continuous action necessary to raise the largest bread [illegible]

To every reader who will write the result of her bread making from this receipt to the Royal Baking Powder Co., 106 Wall street, New York, that company announce that they will send in return, free, a copy of a most practical and useful cook book, containing one thousand receipts for all kinds of baking, cooking, etc. Mention this paper.
