THE MIDDLEBURGH POST.

T. H. HARTER, EDITOR AND PRO'R.

MIDDLEBURGH, PA., APRIL 27, 1893,

The total amount of deposits January 1st, 1893, in the ravings banks of the State of New York was $710,454,662. The number of open accounts was 1,-

It is estimated that it would take an annual emigration of fifty thousand Hebrews from Russia merely to keep down the natural increase of population, if calculated at only one per cent. a year.

The entire report published by the Baltimore American of the inaugural ceremonies of James Madison consisted of five and one-half lines. Many papers devoted as many pages to the inauguration of Cleveland.

It is a rather striking fact, thinks the New Orleans Picayone, that all the members of President Cleveland's Cabinet are of Scotch or English ancestry. Colonel Lamont's name is the only one that suggests a different origin, and his ancestors were Scoten.

Koch's lymph has again been heard from, announces the Chicago Herald. A German doctor aunounced before a Berlin medical society that he had been using the lymph for two years, and that in no instance had his patients suffered injurious effects. "When the medicine was first invented," comments the Herald, "its a ivocates claimed that it would renew youth, and even confer immortality. This latest recommendation by the Berlin physician is a slight talling off, but it is something to know that a medicine is harmless."

That settling up a country diminishes the intensity of the winter's cold is proven, maintains the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, by the case of Canada, From 1828 to 1837 Hu ison's Bay was closed on the average 184 days in every year; during the last ten years it has been closed only 172 days in each year. Of course, there are some years when the closing is a little earlier and others when it is delayed a few days, but a period of ten years is long enough to give a fair average, and the mitigation of the temperature is thus shown to be quite per-

The old Politick Episcopal Caurch in Fairfax County, Virginia, for the rebuilding of which George Washington drew plans in 1773, is still standing. "The exterior," says the rector, "presents the same appearance it did when Washington drove up to it regularly on Sundays in his famous coach. The interior suffered severely during the late war. All the woodwork was destroyed except the cornice, which is the only interior work still existing from Washington's time. The roof was left in a ruinous condition after the war, but the old timbers are still there, well protected by a covering of good shingles. About eighteen years ago the church was put in good repair, though not restored to its original interior appearance, through the kindness of a gentleman then living in New York City. Much needs to be done to restore the church to its former antique interior, but it is comfortable and properly exted for."

The growth of electric traction in this country is one of the most marvelous developments of the century. A leading strees railway journal draws attention to the fact that in the last five years the mileage of street railways operated by electricity has increased from fifty miles to over six thousand miles, which is a greater mileage than that of all the other street railways in the country operated by animal and other forms of motive power. Of this large total nearly onethird was built in 1892. No estimate has yet been given of the aggregate increase in value of suburban property that has been improved by the running of new electric lines, but the amount must be enormous, as a large proportion of late installations has been in suburbin districts, particularly in the east. In July, 1890, the street railway mileage of the country was 8650 miles; at the present time it reaches a total of 11,655 miles, or an increase of 3000 miles in the last two and a half years. During 1893 there was an additional increase of 1065 miles. Some of these lines have been introduced in the most crowded parts of large cities, where it is admitted that cable traction would be more economical. The reason for this lies probably in the fact that it would be far less economical to change from electric to cable power simply for the short distance than to retain the system already in opention.

CITIE HALL-They say that Bushman ran away with another woman because his wife never did anything right and constantly irritated and annoyed him. Temple Court-That can't be the reason. Why, the other woman was his typewriter.-Truth.

SPRING CLEANING.

Yes, clean yer house an' clean yer shed An' clean yer barn in ev'ry part; But brush the cobwebs from yer head An' sweep the snow banks from yer heart. Jes' w'en spring cleanin' comes aroun'

Bring forth the duster an' the broom, But rake yer foggy notions down An' sweep yer dusty soul of gloom

Sweep ol' idees out with the dust An' dress yer soul in newer style, Ecraps from yer min' its wornout crust An' dump it in the rubbish pile. Sweep out the hates that burn an' smart,

Bring in new loves serene an' pure, Aroun' the herth-stone of the heart Place modern styles of furniture

Clean out yer morril chubby-holes, Sweep out the dirt, scrape off the scurn; Tis cleanin' time for healthy souls-Git up an' dust! The spring hez come!

Clean out the corners of the brain, Bear down with scrubbin' brush an' soap, An' dump of Fear into the rain, Au' dust a coay chair for Hope.

Clean out the brain's deep rubbish hole, Soak ev'ry cranny great an' small, An' in the front room of the soul Hang pootier picturs on the wall. Scrubup the winders of the mint, Clean up, an' let the spring begin: Swing open wile the dusty blin1 Au' let the April sunshine in. Plant flowers in the soul's front yard.

An' let the soil once froze an' hard Sprout crocuses of new ideas. Yes, clean yer house an' clean yer shed, An' clean yer barn in ev'ry part; But brush the cobwebs from yer head An' sweep the snow banks from yer neart! -S. Walter Foss, in Yankee Biade.

tiet out new shade an' blossom trees.

REVENGED.

T was about half an hour after sunset, but an orange light still burned above the lonely southern valley. The trembling evening star was hanging over the green silence of the fragrant Tennessee woods. Vapor wreathed phantoms from the river course.

and from the dense thickets that skirted the camp ground came ever and anon the mournful sound of whippoorwills, sounding faint and low, like the remembered echoes of a dream. Yet Wallace Keene would have given well nigh all he was worth to exchange its luxuriant verdure one moment only for the pine clad heights and sait winds of Mainz, with russet winged robins chirping their familiar madrigals in the apple orchards

"Two years ago I left home," murmured Wallace Keene as he gazed thoughtfully out where the purple sky seemed to touch the waving woods. "Two years since young Harney told me he never would give Marion to 'a common mechanic,' yet the wound rankles sharply still."

"Captain-" "Is that you, Spicer? What now?" Captain Keene turned his face toward the opening of the tent, where Private Spicer's head was just visible. "Why, sir, our fellows have just brought in that lot o' men that was hurt in that scrimmage across the river this morning, and some on 'em is wounded

"I will be there directly, Spicer." There was a little crowd of men gathered on the river shore in the warm glow of the spring, but they silently parted right and left for Captain Keene's tall figure to pass through their midst.

Six or seven dusty, bleeding men were sitting and lying around in various postures, their ghastly brows made still paler by the faint, uncertain glimmer of the young ...oon. Keene glanced quickly around, taking in the whole scene in that one brief survey.

He stopped short as his eye fell on a new face, half shadowed by the green sweep of drooping alders-a pale, blood streaked face with a gaping cut on the forehead.

"This is not one of our ment" he exclaimed sharply. "How came he here?" "No, sir," exclaimed Spicer, stepping forward. "I think he belonged to the Eighth. I'm sure I don't know how he ever got mixed up with our fellows, but there he was, and I thought we'd better not wait for their ambulance, but bring him straight here.'

"Right," briefly pronounced Keene, stooping over the insensible figure. "Let them carry him to my tent,

Spicer." "I beg your pardon, captain-to your

"Didn't you hear what I said?" sharply interrogated the superior officer. "Bruce, make the others comfortable in Lieutenant Ordway's quarters. Tacre will be plenty of room for them there.' "Well, I'm beat!" ejaculated Spicer five or ten minutes afterward as he came out of the captain's tent scratching his shock of coarse red curis.

Meanwhile the dim light of a lamp swinging from the center of the little tent shone full on the singular group within its circling folds-the wounded private lying like a corpse, still and pale, on the narrow iron bedstead, the young officer leaning over him and supporting his head-and the brisk, gray eyed little surgeon keenly surveying both as he unfolded his case of phials and powders.

"He is not dead, doctor?" "No; but he would have been in another half hour. Your prompt remedies have saved his life, Captain Keene."

"Thank God! oh, thank God!" The surgeon looked at Keene in amazement.

"He doesn't belong to your regiment. Why are you so interested in the case?" "Because, doctor," said Keene, with a strange, bright smile, "when I saw him lying under the alders, dead, as I thought, I rejoiced in my secret heart. At first-only at first. The next moment I remembered that I was a man and a into the endowment fund.

Christian. For years I have carried the spirit of Cain in my breast toward that man; new it is washed out is his blood."

It was high noon of the next day before the wounded man started from a fevered doze into the faint dawn of consciousness.

"Where am I?" he faltered, looking wildly around him, with an ineffectual effort to raise his dizzy head from the pillow, "Now, be easy," said Private Spicer, who was cleaning his gun by the bedside. "You're all right, my boy. Where are you?" Why in the captain's tent, to be sure, and that's pretty good quar-ters for the rank and file, I should think."

"The captain's tent? How came I here?"

"That's just what I can't tell youyou'll have to ask himself, I guess. You ain't any relation to Captain Keene, be you?"

"Keene-Keene!" repeated the man, "Because," pursuod Spicer, "If you'd been his own brother born, he couldn't have taken better care of you. His cousin, maybe!"

"No! God forgive me, no!" faltered the wounded man with a low, bitter groan.

"Here he is now," said Spicer, the familiar accents of his voice falling to a more respectfully modulated tone as he rose and saluted his officer. "He's all right, captain-as clear headed as a "Very well, Spicer; you can go." The private obeyed with alacrity. When they were alone together in the tent, Wallace Keene came to the low bedside.

"So you're all right, Mr. Harney?" be asked kindly. "Captain Keene," murmured Harney, shrinking from the soothing tone as if it had been a dagger's point, "I have no right to expect this treatment at your hands."

"Oh, never mind," said the young man lightly. "What can I do to make you more comfortable?"

Harney was silent, but his eyes were full of the tears he fain would drive back-tears of remorseful shame-and he turned his flushed face away lest the man he had once so grossly insulted should see them fall.

The next day he again alluded to the home subject.

"Captain Keene, you asked me yesterday what you could do for me?"

"I want you to obtain leave for May to come and nurse me when I am transferred to the hospital."

Captain Keene turned toward the sick man a face white and hard as marble and said in a strangely altered voice: "Do you mean your sister?"

"My sister-yes." "Of course, if you wish it, I can obtain permission, Harney. But-"

Keene's cheek colored, and he bit his

"I should not suppose she would be willing to leave her husband for the very uncertain comforts of hospital life." Harney smiled, looking Into his companion's face with keen, searching eyes. "May is not married, Captain Keene.

"Not married!" "I know what you thought. She was engaged and almost married. We had nearly induced her to become Lisle Spencer's wife, but she refused on the very eve of the wedding day." Keene had risen and was pacing up and down the narrow limits of the tent with feverish haste.

She has no such appendage as a hus-

"Because," went on Harney, "she loved a certain young volunteer who left S- about two years ago too well ever to become any other man's wife."

"Harney-you do not mean to say-"I do, though, old fellow, and, what s more, I mean to say that since I've been lying in this teht my eyes have been pretty thoroughly opened to my wn absurd folly and impertinence."

Captain Keene wrung his companion's hand and hurried away, to mistake the bootjack for the inkstand and to commit several other no less inexcusable absurdities.

"I see you'll get nothing written tolay," sighed Harney as he lay watching Wallace Keene tear up sheet after sheet of condemned note paper.

"I shall, though," smiled Wallace. 'Only I can't tell exactly which end of my letter to begin at." Captain Keene did write-and if he inserted a little foreign matter into the epistle it didn't matter, for Harney, coniderate fellow, never asked to see it. Marion came, and when her brothe was promoted into the convalescent ward, and she went home again, it was only to lose herself in bowers of orange blossoms, forests of white satin ribbon and acres of pearly, shimmering silk, shot with frosty gleams of silvery brocade, for the course of true love, after all its turn and intricacies, had at length found its way into the sunshine and was running smoothly over sands of gold .-- New

The Mineral Palace Casket.

York News.

The mineral palace casket is an exhibit for the Pair of which the Colorado women are very proud. It is said to be the most richly decorated and elaborately fluished piece of work ever furnished by a manufacturing jeweler. It is a huge asket, an exact fac simile of the Colorado mineral palace, made from the precious metals of the State. Pure gold, silver finished like satin and alabaster form the swells and pillars of the casket, which are ornamented with garnets, turquoise, moonstones, topsz, carnelian and moss agate. Mrs. W. D. Thatcher has had the supervision of this ornament, which is also to serve the practical use of a receptacle for the hammer and golden nail to be the last used in the completion of the Women's Building.

The Methodist Orphanage in Philadelphia last year received $50,719.15, of which sum over $30,000 have been put LATER NEWS WAIFS.

LEGISLATIVE.

The newspaper circulation bill introduced in the New York assembly by Daniel F. Martin at the request of the "World," has passed the legislature. The bill is designed to protect advertisers from mendacious persons interested in the welfare of newspapers. It provides that every proprietor or publisher of any newspaper or periodical who shall wilfully or knowingly misrepresent the circulation of such newspaper periodical for the purpose of securing advertising or other patronage shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

The Wisconsin legislature adjourned sine

The Delaware Legislature, which adjourned sine die on Saturday, passed a law compelling all those who sell cigarets to pay a license fee of $100 and prohibiting the sale to persons under 17 years of age.

An act was passed by the Legislature of Tennessee and since approved by the Governor giving authority to State banks to issue a circulating medium. The act requires a deposit of United States, State of Tennessee or county bonds, and currency will be issued for the bank on these securities not in excess of 90 per cent of their market value. The act limits currency to be issued by the State to $25,000,000.

WASHINGTON.

Secretary Gresham has received a report from Commissioner Blount of his action in Honolulu. Mr. Gresham states that he has nothing to give out about it.

President Clevela nd sent a personal letter to Mr. William Walter Phelps, the late United States Minister to Germany, thanking him for the zeal and success with which he has discnarged his diplomatic duties,

The crowds of officeseekers who have warmed through the White House at all hours for the last few weeks, have made life miserable for the President and Mrs. Cleveland. Such a thing as privacy was unknown. No callers could be entertained and even the reception of foreign dignitaries have been broken into. Saturday the President announced that he had made arrangement to prevent this in the future. He has secured the handsome suite of offices in the War Department, belonging formerly to the Secretary. It is there he will in the future transact all business and receive all

At Bloomington, Ill., a blizzard prevailed on Friday, It snowed incessantly for over 24 hours with a southwest gale. The thermometer registered 29 above and at noon it was at the freezing point. Oats, which are about six inches high, are done for, and what little corn has been planted will rot Early apples and cherries have been killed, as well as many vegetables.

CROPS.

DISASTERS, ACCIDENTS AND PATALITIES. A cyclone passed over the northern portion of Franklin county, Ark. Three dwellings and a school house were demolished. The 12 year old daughter of Jerry James was killed and Mrs. James had her skull fractured.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

The union plumbers of Louisville, Ky., to the number of 150, are out on a strike be cause the master plumbers will not recognize their rules regarding the employment

Over $100,000 were distributed among the 1.500 employes of the Pennsylvania Steel Company at Steelton, Pa., on Saturday. It was the largest semi-monthly pay roll in the history of the plant, and the prompt payment of the men restored confidence in the ability of the company to recover from its present embarrassment, James M. Swank, secretary of the American Iron and Steel Association, said that there was no doubt that the Pennsylvania Steel Company's embarrassment would only be tem-

FOREIGN.

The Belgium senate has approved the compromise granting universal suffrage, accompanied by plural voting based on education and property as adopted by the chamber of representatives.

At a cabinet council held in the Elysee Paris) it was decided to give notice to all workingmen in the employ of the French government that they are forbidden to take any part in the coming celebration of May day by the working classes.

SERVIAN COUP D'ETAT.

Alexander Arrests His Regents and Assumes the Crown,

KING OF SERVIA

One of the boldest political strokes that tas startled modern Europe was the coup l'état of young Alexander, King of Servia, by which, in one night and without bloodshed, be arrested the three Regents who were administering toe Government during is minority, and had himself announted King in the cathedral at Beigrade. He is only seventeen years old, but is a well-developed and sensible lad, who seems to thoroughly appreciate the high responsibility sesting upon him. esting upon him.

The drought in Mexico has not broken, and the crops will be a total failure again this year. The supply of water from the Nazos River gave out last September.

KEYSTONE STATE CULLINGS

CRUSHED URDER THEIR HOUSE.

ESTE—Another gale struck this section of the country Thursday, blowing at a fifty-five mile an hour rate. Great damage was done to buildings, forests and truit trees. The only casualties reported occurred at Johnsonburg, a town on the line of the Philadelphia & Erie railroad. Harry Hutchinson, finding a gas leak under his new house which was set upon temporary blocks, crawled under to investigate. His wife started under the house to deliver a wrench to her husband, when the gale struck that section and threw the house off its pins, crushing Hutchin-on and his wife to death,

THREE MEN DROWNED. Leck Haven—The steam scow owned by the Queens Run Brick Company, while re-turning from Queens Run to Lock Haven, loaded with 20 cars of clay and carrying nine men. became unmanageable from high wind soon after starting and overturned. Thomas Reed and Frederick Sonn, of Lock Haven, and an unknown man from Philipsburg, hunting work, were drowned. The bodies have not yet been recovered, as it is dancerous to venture on the river common skiffs.

TWO MINERS INSTANTLY KILLED,
WASHINGTON.—Dell D. Burler and James E. Wilburn were killed and William Hart and a man named Carson serionsly, if not fatally burt by a fall of slate at the Champion mines, near Woods Run. Saturday, Coroner
Johnson of this county, held an inquest.
The verdict was accidental death, caused by the miners' own carelessness.

LIVES LOST BY GROSS NEGLIGENCE, HAZELTON—The coroner's jury appointed to enquire into the Laurel Hill disaster, by which three miners were drowned, rendered the following verlict: "That the said Wm, Trembath Richard J. Williams and Thomas Hodgeson came to their death through the gross negligence of the operators—A. Pardee & Co."

A NEW SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT. HARRISHUM:—Governor Pattison has appointed Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, principal of the State Normal school at Kutztown, Superintendent of Public Instruction, to succeed Dr. D. J. Waller, Jr., whose term expired

DRANK LYE AND DIED. Greensnum. - A 2-year old child of Jacob Burke, of Shafton, got hold of a quantity of lye which its mother was using in making soan and drank a portion of it, dying in great agony a short time after.

Maj. R. J. Phirps, superintendent of the Forest Oil Company's wells in the Butler district, shut down the production over Sunday as an experiment. So far he is satisfied, for no diminution but some increaso was shown in the daily production of the wells. Next Sunday the shutdown will be extended to the Big and Little Creek fields, and will embrace 200 wells. Other operators in the vicinity shut down their wells last Sunday, and others are expected

THE State Typographical Union in session at Harrisburg. has adopted resolutions fa-voring legislation to protect union trade-marks and labels, and indorsing the Sunday iaws affecting the publication of Sunday newspapers. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, J. Kre ter, Harrisburg, secretary and treasurer, R. D. Lowry, Pittsburg, organizer, Eli J. Davis, Scranton

THE Eric Presbytery, in session at Greenville, has adjourned, after approving all the proposed revisions to the Confession of Faith. The Edinboro case was referred to a commission of seven, with power to act. The Sandy Lake trouble was laid over until the fall meeting, with the understanding that the Rev. Mr. McDowell would resign

PATRICK HANLEY, a section boss on the Baltimore and Ohio road, and six men were run down by a shifting engine near Union town. The men were on a handcar and all jum; ed out of danger except Hanley, who was struck and probably fatally injured.

ISAAC ROBERTS, a young farmer of Huntingdon county, committed suicide by blow-ing his brains out. He was worried over a "green goods' transaction he had been

NEAR New Castle, a gipsy passing a school house, infuriated by taunts and be ing struck by a stone, leaped from his cov-ered wagon and stracked the children with his horsewhip. One little girl was seriously injured and has been in convulsions.

MRS. GEORGE FINE of Irwin gave her 10months old son a dose of landanum Tuesday physicians worked with the child for hours before it died.

Four boys escaped from the Huntingdon Reformatory Wednesday night, Crow.Shar-per, Matlick and Pickering. Crow, who is from Pittsburg, and the two last named, who are from Philadelphia, were captured.

At Burgettstown John Perry beat his mother insensible and then fired three shots at her. He was jailed at Washington The woman is 87 years old, and will probably die. THE opera house in Clarendon burned. Loss $5,000. The center of the town barely escaped destruction.

THE 7,366 claimants of the defunct American Life Insurance Co., of Philadelphia, will receive 242 per cent at the first distribution, and perhaps 71 per cent at the final distribution.

EDWARD SEIGLE, a young man about 22 years of age, was drowned in the Shenango a: New Castle while attempting to cross in a rickety boat.

All travel on the Franklin branch of the Lake Shore road has been interrupted by the burning of a bridge over Sandy creek, a-few miles from Franklin, Saturday.

THE Lewistown ax works were destroyed by fire Thursday night, Loss $75,000; in-surance unknown. At New Wilmington Thursday night four masked men entered the house of Squire Johnson, and after gagging the old man, took $45 and decamped.

New Hore, has an epidemic of twins.

MORE EARTHQUAKES AT ZANTE. Historic Houses Wrecked. Frightful

Tidal Waves. English Send Relief. Zante was shaken by another severe earthquake at midnight Thursday. Slight disturbances were felt almost thourly until noon, when another violent shock caused a repetition of the recent panics. The historic houses of the poets Poscilo and Salome were tumbled into ruins. The telegraph office was partly wrecked, but clerks remain at their posts. The harbor was thrown into violent commotion and enermous waves broke over the water front. The British warship Inflexible, of the Mediterranean squadron, has arrived with food and tenis Over 150 dead bodies ; have been recovered from the ruins caused by the shocks of Seven Killed in a Cyclone. News was received at Little Rock, Ark., of a fearful cyclone in Fourche Valley, Scott county. The town of Boles was almost entirely destroyed. Seven persons were killed and a large number injured. The path of the storm was a half mile in width and everything was swept before it.

Pennsylvania Legislature.

Sixviers Day—In the Senate to the these bills passed finally: To recover desages to trees along highways by telegratelephone and electric light companies authorize the erection and maintenance cel weirs and fish baskets in streams three months in the year, for four red House bill to prevent auperintendent schools from teaching for profit during the terms of office; to authorize Councils cities of the second class to fix the sa ary the Board of Assessors; to enable second class to contain the second class to fix the second class the Board of Assessors; to enable she railway companies to begin the circumstance of the change the original place of beginning a make other alterations, provided they make other alterations, provided they not change the incorporated report to premit chemical companies of the States to erect establishments in Penhyania, to prevent the spread of tubercolous to prevent the adulteration of honey make dying deciarations in cases of abitions, where death results, admissable evidence; to extend the law prohibiting a sale of articles of traffic within one mile campmeetings, to any religious meeting. In the House the Governor was sustain in his veto of the bill to secure uniform of proxies. These bills passed finally lating to corporations organized for a lous, educational, literary, scientific charitable purposes; authorizing the cost to issue a decree permitting the increase the amount of real and personal properheid by the corporation. To provide a pensation for physicians and surgeons a may be called in to attend paupers emergency cases. Forbidding insunction of the particles of the provide agents and in the paupers of the provide agents and the paupers of the provide agents and the paupers of the provide agents and the paupers of the paupers of the provide agents and the paupers of from doing business in Pennsylvania en through agents or officers residing w this State. Senate bill to confer of Board of Public Education or any bo school directors power to sell public property and to provide for applicate the proceeds to school purp see to auth notaries public to administer oaths and affidavits in proceedings in divorce.

SIXTY-FIRST DAY, -In the Senate to these bils massed finally: To designate several judicial districts of the State regulate the sale of baking powders; to the date of the commencement of t of office of constables; to provide licensing and regulation of bouveboarding of in.migrants; to authorize denosit it with corporations for the ance of owners of real estate, etc., from combrances; to provide for the paymen fees of justices of the peace and const-in civil suits; to allow Sheriffs not exce-50 cents a day for boarding prisoner empower Chief Purzesses to press borough Council meetings and to give the rights of memoers of Councils; to the act which prohibits borough from receiving any compensation for services; to empower courts to grant fers of licenses for the sale of intox liquors; to authorize trustees or other officers of any church, congregatives bytery, to abandon school hor land conveyed for school purposes sell the same in fee clear of all restricted prevent school officers and other particles. officially connected with the corm a system to become agents for the school books, charts maps, school apor stationary; to authorize certain tions, not for profit, to issue shares of a tal stock; to restrict electric light, best power companies in constructing lines.

public streets and highways.

The senate concurred in the amendm of the house to the bill constituting rence county a separate [indicial d The bill to establish a liquor license was passed second reading. A bill introduced providing for the appoint by the Governor of a commission persons whose duty it shall be to nto the sources of the water supplies chief cit es of the State, with a view purification of streams. Soon after reduction of the measure Senator !

ported it favorably.

The Fenrose bill to abolish the building commission of Philadelphia up the greater part of the time of the li to-day and was finally agreed to or reading. The bill introduced by Mr authorizing county treasurers, inst the courts, to issue licenses to wi liquor dealers and brewers. was athrmatively. The House to-day finally the bill to provide for the ment of a receiver in cases where tions have been dissolved by judg onster in proceedings of quo warrante

SIXTY-SECOND DAY.—In the Senate day a majority of bills on third real were passed finally, after which many the bills on first and second reading disposed of. Among the bills passed ly were these: Giving husbands the rights as wives in cases of divorces on count of brutal freatment; to provide the assessment, for special benefits, lands of cemeteries for municipal in ments; to empower cities and borous appropriate money for the payment of men disabled in the performance of duties; to provide that municipal of tions shall not be required to file of defense in actions or assumpsit. vide for the licensing and regulation ing in hospitals; for the better protection pipe lines and telegraph lines and t punishment of persons damaging stroying the same; to repeal the act ing the duration of lien of county borough, cownship and school taxes municipal improvement claims. Finn made an unsuccessful attempt to have the tommittee on vice and ality discharged from further consider of the bill to repeal the act of 1855 re to the violation of the Sunday law in Allegheny county. It was stated Flinn that the committee stand for four. The senate adjourned until Mot evening.
In the House Mr. Boyer of Philadelp

introduced a supplement to the wholes liquor law to require druggists to pay a ceuse fee of $250. The Boyer bill to # ride revenue by the taxation of banks passed second reading. The bill to tax beers 16 cents a barrel passed second real with an amendment that all the nues derived from the tax shall be paid the State twasury, the bill originally a ing the counties one third. In the to-night Mr. Kline, Chairman of the ing Committee offered a concurrent retion which was adopted, instructing chief cierks of the Senate to arrange postage for the Legislative Record, the master General having finally decided it is not a newspaper and cannot go use newspaper rules, which decision will of the State about $15,000 additional a sess

SIXTY-THIRD DAY .- The Senate wasnet In the House Mr. Ritter, of Lycom offered the following resolution, which

WHEREAS, the national celebration the four hundredth anniversary of the covery of America is to be begun by a gen naval parade in New York, Thursday, As 27 next; and.

Whereas, This naval parade will be control of the covery of the grandest spectacle of a century, and event of great political significance and ternational comity, in which all America and their representatives must be sented; therefore, be it.

"Reselect, If the Senate concur. that deem it a patriotic duty that this Legislan adjourns from 10 o'clock p. m. Wedness 23, to 9 o'clock a: m.. April 28, and that committee of five, three on the part of House and two on the part of the Senate appropriate to the senate of the Senate appointed to make arrangements for the tendance of members of the Legislature the atoresaid naval review, which also once which shall not be at the expense the State."

On motion a special order was secure! the consideration of the bill providing the purchase of tablets to mark the forth the revolution of this State. The ballourned until Monday evening.