THE NATIONAL GAME.

St. Louis has signed Cateber Gunson.

Ewing, of Cleveland, leads the League in base running.

Hinkle, of the New Yorks, leads his club in base running.

Anson, Chicago's Captain, has been twenty-five years in harness.

The New Yorks lost eleven out of the twelve games they played away from home.

Carberry and Dalby, a young pitcher from Philadelphia, have been released by Cincinnati.

Cleveland has strong hopes that a little more practice will make Hastings one of the leading pitchers of the League.

Carter, of Yale, has the "strike-out" record for the season. He retired sixteen Princeton batsmen. He has struck out 137 men already this season.

The best base running nine in the League would be Doyle, catcher; Stratton, pitcher; Beckley, Ward and Latham, basemen; Dublin, shortstop; Brown, Hamilton and Ewing in the field.

Tiersan, of New York, is making quite a record as a home run batter, he having made four in three games. His hitting record in those three games was seven hits with a total of nineteen runs.

No matter how strong the pitcher, most of them feel the disadvantages of the new rules and lose their effectiveness in some part of the game. The large number of games being lost or won in one inning shows this.

One of the greatest dangers to ball players is in sliding to the home plate, where the catcher are allowed to deliberately block the runner off. The base runner should be entitled to a chance to reach the base.

The old timers this year dating service back to 1853 are Bennett, Brothers, Dalby, Richardson, Stovey, Stricker, Ewing, Anson, Mulane, Comiskey, McPhee, Latham, Keefe, Clements, Thompson, Connor, Ward, Kelly, Pfeiffer, Weikoh, Glasscock, Larkin, Radford, O'Rourke and Wick.

At Brooklyn 8621 persons paid for admission to the Sunday game played between the New Yorks and Brooklyns for the benefit of Darby O'Brien, the player who is ill with consumption. More than $3000 will go to O'Brien. The Brooklyns won by thirteen to seven. The clubs exchanged batteries.

Captain Tereak is well pleased with a new Cleveland catcher, Boyd. He is a marvelously speedy and accurate thrower, and backs up a pitcher with a nerve and certainty that give confidence not only to the pitcher but to all the nine. This gives Tereak plenty of catchers for almost any contingency in Zimmerman, Ewing, O'Connor and Boyd.

The Forty-acre Farmer.

"My father used to tell me about the richest man he ever knew," said a steady young fellow a few days ago, says the Detroit Free Press. "That man had a wife and three children on a cozy little forty-acre farm. He had a few hundred dollars in the bank and was always adding to it, for his expenses were far below the profits of his little place. That man had a sickness in his family. He was happy. He had everything that he wanted and was independent. So he was the richest man my father ever knew. I cannot say that I agree with my respected ancestor," continued the young man, "for that man never knew of the modern luxuries of life, those thousand and one little improvements and conveniences that go to make ease for man, the gradual working-out of the theory of the eventful complete mastery of mind over matter."

"You are looking," said the older man, "to that time when the mind will sit in an inert body and do nothing but command. True it is that the tendency is in that direction; but it is a matter of grave question whether the good of the human race calls for the fulfillment of the plan. The mind of man is the master, but the man who looks forward to the hour when he can sit and by the pressing of a button have the world at his feet is not the man who will bring these things about. We yearn for improvements that will make life easier; yet with the time-saving methods of to-day the race is busier and less rest-taking than ever. I agree with the old gentleman who thought the forty-acre farmer with happy surroundings the richest man he ever knew."

Slaves That Do Not Work.

Englishmen are apt to confound African slavery with the forms of slavery known to European Nations. One of the curiosities of domestic slavery in darkest Africa pointed out by the St. James's Gazette is that, while the native slave owner can, by custom, compel his slaves to fight for him and possess other extensive powers over them, he cannot "legally" compel his slaves to work for him. On the Congo and its affluents native (not Mohammedan) slave owners pay wages to their own slaves whenever the latter are required to transport ivory and produce to the coast. Even Tippoo Tib pays his numerous slave soldiers under such peaceful circumstances. The explanation of this anomaly seems to be that war is a far more ancient and primitive institution than labor. When domestic slavery was "first introduced" into Africa regular labor was unknown; the right to monopolize the slave's labor was therefore never incorporated among the slaveholder's privileges and prerogatives. It is white men who have really introduced and acclimatized the idea of work or "labor" in Africa. When Pharaoh compelled the children of Israel to "work" for him he was considered a dangerous revolutionist by Egyptian conservatives. The Spaniards first introduced slavery in the western world. Moderns have completely forgotten that the slave was originally in the main a fighting retainer, nor a working man.

Real Fighting Derivatives.

It is easier to turn a hungry tiger aside from his prey than a thoroughly excited dervish from his swoop on an enemy, says a military correspondent. His half brother in fanaticism and creed, the Indian or Afghan Ghazi, is terrible, but the African and Arab dervish is superlatively awful, with an incurable delirium in his opponent's gore. Howling and whirling dervishes, such as travelers are "specially conducted to see when visiting the East," are a comparatively harmless sort of lunatics compared with those types of African bigots who, "converted" to Mahdism, burn to run amuck with the rest of unbelieving humanity. Once fairly bitten with the tarantula of Moslem sectarian zeal, the proselyte is consumed with the belief that the delights of the seventh or any number of heavens await him if he can only engage in sturdy, steady butchery of "infidels" of his own or any race. It is a matter of indifference to him if in the operation, while he sheathes his sword in his and his prophet's enemy, the latter is doing the same to him. Quick and happy translation he holds as his sure reward.—London Telegraph.

Tricked by the Jolly Tars.

A pretty good story is told of the way in which the officers of a certain sloop-of-war of the North Atlantic squadron succeeded in getting their ship's slow and antiquated steam launch replaced by one of a later and more fashionable type. It happened that the vessel hauled into a navy yard for its periodical repairs. While there the launch was loudly complained of as too heavy and unwieldy for a sloop-of-war to carry, and a careful weighing by the yard authorities verified the complaint. Thereupon a new and swift little craft which cost Uncle Sam ever so many hundreds of dollars was substituted, and the sloop-of-war steamed exultantly away. But when the old launch was sent to the boat shop for overhauling the workmen found snugly stowed away out of sight along the keelson nearly a thousand pounds of superfluous ballast iron. The apparently unaccountable weight of the rejected boat was readily explained.—Boston Journal.

Backward.

Little Peter is slow at school, apparently bright enough everywhere else. The other day at table his mother alluded to him as a "backward boy."

The next morning in dressing he but his jacket on by accident the wrong side before, and instead of removing it and readjusting it, he had his sister button it up at the back, and went down to breakfast thus.

"Why, Peter!" his mother exclaimed. "What do you mean by coming down in that way?"

"Oh," he said, "I got it on that way, and as you said I was a backward boy, I thought maybe that was the best way to go!"
