Sir Henry Hawkins was once pre iding over a tedious and uninteresting trial, and was listening, appar ently with absorbed attention, to a tedious and uninteresting speech from a counsel learned in the law. Presently he made a pencil memorandum. olded it, and sent it by the usher to the counsel in question. This gen-tleman, on unfolding the paper, found these words: "Patientse Competition.

the house, with no action had when the house adjourned.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

SENATE—Mr. Voothees (Dem. Indiana) Chairman of the Finance Committee, addressed the Senate in advocacy of the bill reported by him last Friday discontinuing the purchase of silver bullion. The speech was listened to with the greatest interest and attention. Nearly every Senator was in his reat, and the galleries contained the largest crowd of the session. At the conclusion of Senator Voothees' effort Mr. Dubeis spoke in the interests of the silverites, Mr. Palmer argued in the support of repeal. The bill was then laid aside and the Montaina Senatorship case taken up, but on a motion by Mr. McPherson it was laid aside and the national bank bill considered. Mr. Stewart antagonized the position taken by Mr. Voothees in a brief speech. A motion was offered by Mr. Peffer, and went over till to motrow, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for a report as to whether national banks in Bosten, New York and Phili delphia were being conducted in violation of law. After a short executive session the senate adjourned.

House—The silver debate was continued until adjournment.

House—The silver debate was continued until adjournment.

FIFTEENTH DAY,

SENATE.—Mr. Pasco (Dem), of Florida, gave notice in the senate to day of a substitute to Mr. Vest's minority bill for silver coinage at the rate of 20 to 1. The substitute proposes a commission of three citizens of the United States to be appointed by the president to ascertain and determine by the first of January next a test and just ratio between the actual intrinsic value of silver and gold as a basis for the tree coinage of silver. After the result is reported to the secretary of the treasury, the weight of pure secretary of the treasury, the weight of pure and standard silver to be contained in doland standard sliver to be contained in dol-lars, nalves, quarters and dimes is to be fixed and determined by him, and silver is to be coined. The resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Peffer calling on the secretary of the treas-ury for information as to whether the na-tional banks of New York, Boston and Philadelphia were conducting their affairs Philadelphia were conducting their affairs at present in violation of law regarding the amount of their reserve, the payment of checks and the rates of interest charged was then taken up on a motion to refer it to the committee on finance, made by Mr. Hoar, kep., of Massachusetts. A number of Senators talked on the subject and the debate was the livelest of the extraordinary session. Mr. Hill undertook to draft some modification of the resolution, but before he had completed it the morning hour expired and the resolution went over without action. It took is place on the calendar where it can only be reached again in regular order or upon motion supported by a majority vote. After some routine business e senate adjourned.

House.—The silver debate was continued during the entire day and night session, without any definite action being taken, when the House adjourned.

SESATE—The great financial question was debated until adjournment.

House-The noted silver debate was continued at both day and night sessions.

SEVENTRENTH DAY.

SENATE.—The speech made by Mr. Hill, of New York, in the Senate to day was remarkable in many respects. The speech occupied in its delivery a little over an hour and a half and attracted close attention. After a few introductory words Senator Hill began by enumerating the causes of the present distress. One is the panic fear that falls upon nations every 20 years and which no prudence will avert. Another was the flooding of the money centers with watered stock by persons in a haste to get rich. A third has been overproduction and an unfavorable balance of trade. A fourth is the unessiness of the protected industries. A fifth was the concerted action of monometalists to disgrace and degrade silver. A sixth is the Sherman silver purchase law. tinued at both day and night sessions. A sixth is the Sherman silver purchase law. As to the trouble caused by the fear of tar-As to the trouble caused by the fear of tar-iff changes, he said, there is no relief for it "unless the dominant party abandons its principles and surrenders in advance to the The Democratic party is pledged election. The Democratic party is pledged to tariif reform, and it must redeem its pledge, come what may." He adds that, of course, there will be some friction, "but the people perfectly understood the question last fall, and they voted with their eyes pecpie perfectly understood the question ast fall, and they voted with their eyes open. Our course is onward, and we shall not retreat." As to the Sherman law, he said that no one defends it and few apologize for it. On the question of ratio he said that when the policy of bi-metallism is definitely settled it will be time enough to take up that subject. He was of opinion, though, that any change should be in the way of a diminished ratio, as 15 to 1. which would enable us to recoin at a profit and place our silver pieces on a level with those of other countries. He concluded his speech with a criticism of the President's special message as not explicit, and as leaving the impression that he was aiming to establish a single gold standard. Upon the conclusions of Mr. Hill's speech Mr. Stewart, Republican, of Nevada, spoke on the silver question. He declared that the bill of the Finance Committee was to practically demonetize silver. No man should be deceived on that point. The promise in the bill was an insult to the intelligence of the American people. The Sherman act had not been executed according to its spirit. If it had been, it might have done good it certainly Sherman act had not been executed according to its spirit. If it had been, it might have done good; it certainly would not have done harm. This bill, Mr. Stewart exclaimed would not pass. No Scinator could vote for the unconditional repeal of the Sherman act without violating his pledges to his constituents. They had declared on all occasions that they were bimetallists; but this bill was menometallism. And when under it he price of silver was brought down to 20 and 30 cents an ounce, there would be nothing left for the people but to rise in their might and break the chains with which the might and break the chains with which the make their own money. It might not be siver; it would not be gold. Notice was given out that one or the financial meas-ares would be pressed to a vote next week, and the Senate adjourned until Monday. House, Nothing sensational transpired in the house today. Aside from the speeches by Messrs Burrows and Springer, there were none that commanded the attention of the members, and after a dull session the house adjourned. EIGHTEENTH DAY.

SFRATE.—Not in session.

House.—This was a day of giants in the house, and all Washington arose early and flo ked to the Capital to witness their majestic play. There were in the arena such men as Reed, of Maine, a gigantic saulas one prophets; Bourke Cockran of New York, marvel of orators: John Allen, the State-man of Tupelo, whose dry and caustic wit and humor charm the imagination and provoke laughter. Bland, the apostle ton and provoke laughter, Bland, the apostle of free coinage, whose rugged honesty of conviction and vigor of expression command the admiration of his opponents, DeArmond, the keen and incisive jurist of Missouri; the weighty legal light of Texas, Judge Culber-son; the scholastic free trace chairman of the Ways and Means Committee who prefers to be a congressman rather than a college president, Mr. Wilson of West Virgina; the polished Fellows, of New York, and the impassioned prairie orator, Williams, of lilmois. With such an array of talent, with lilimoir. With such an array of talent, with the promise of coruscations of genus. passages of purest English, jewels of studious research and flights of inspired eloquence, it is no wonder that if e scene in the Honswas one seldom paralelled in the history of Congress. So ce forbids giving even a fair su emary of what the eloquent speakers said on both sides of the noted subject, closing one of the most memorable congressional debates of recent times, and at its end the conviction is deepset that it has been anything but a waste of time, but that it will lead to action of lasting benefit to the country. At the close of the debate the House adjourned at a late hour Saturday night until Monday.

FIVE THOUSAND HOMELESS.

BOUTH CHICAGO SWEPT BY FIRE

Half a Million in Property Lost, 50,000 Panie Biricken Inhabitants. Five Blocks of Homes and Bustness Houses Laid Wante.

A fire which, in the extent of the territory it covered, rivals Chicago's historic conflagration, began in South Chicago Thursday evening. The 50,000 inhabitants were precipftated into a panic second only to that which characterized the conflagration of 1871. The loss is estimated at $300,000. Two hundred houses were de-troyed and 5,000 people were made homeless.

The fire started in a three-story brick building at the corner of Ninety-first and Superior avenue. Within two hours it bad consumed 3) buildings and five blocks of the greatest industrial suburb of Chicago. Among the first buildings to fall were the First Methodist Church and the German Lutheran Church. Then the fire was detected burning in a dozen places further

After Superior avenue the flames crossed Ontario avenue, Buffalo avenue, shockinaw and Green Bay avenue to the lake. The dis-trict between Superior avenue, and the lake was filled with frame structures and burned rapidly, as the strong wind carried clouds of smoke, laden with sparks and embers in all directions.

The whole area of five blocks was full of small fires. As the pine structure in which lived the workingmen employed in the large steel mills, and in which the smaller merchants of the place made their lannes were leveled, those whose homes had not yet failen fled with their goods and household chatters to other portions of the city, Before the scores of engines had made the least appreciable effect upon the progress of the flames the immense docks of the Sun-day Creek Coal Company were burning. Over 100,000 tons of coal were stored in the immense bins. At the same moment the A E Beck lumber yards were found to be When the fire broke into the coal yards every engine that could be spared and the powerful steamer Vosemite as soon as it reached the harbor, was brought to fight the conflagration.

When a dozen houses in the vicinity of Superior avenue and Ninety first street had been swept away in the whiriwind of the fire, the early fright of the people t van to give way to the panic, which in another hour precipitated a flying army toward the other portions of town Fannes by a Hiff gale from the east the fire swept on until more than 280 wellings and buildings were in ushes making 5,000 people homeless and entailing a loss of at least $750,000.

The fire staried, it is supposed, from a moldering; hondre started by two boys playing as the yard in the rear of William Gillis's house.

EAT EVEN THE FENCES.

Verscious Grasshoppers Devestate All of Western New York.

Reports from all the counties in Western New York agree in the respect that the ravages of grasshoppers are unprecedented. Farmers in Niagara county complain that the insects are so greedy that they not alone devour oats, buck wheat, corn, and vecetables, but are eating the folinge of the trees and attacking fences. They are so ravenous as to eat weeds and even the bitter purdock.

in Chautauqua county the vineyards are suffering from depredations of grasshoppers. Bushels of grapes can be picked up where the stems have been eaten in two by the hoppers. Florists and negticulturists have tried poisonous washes for the leaves of their plants, farmers have set ducks, turkeys and chickens toose in the fields, but no has done more than to turn, the posts the grounds of his neighbors. ! the grounds of his heightour. Thousands of dollars worth of damage will be done in this part of the State.

FAIR PEOPLE FEEL BETTER.

The Attendance at the White City is Growing Larger Day by Day.

Everybody interested pecuniarily in the Fair is feeling better. It seems now as if expectations of a better attendance will be realized. The hotels in the vicinity of Jackson Park are filling up rapidly, and the restaurants are reaping the long waited for harvest. From 120,000 to 150,000 visitors can be counted on now on ordinary days, just as 20,000 or 30,000 could be counted on in the discouraging times of a month ago, Consequently things are loosening up all around. The concessionaries are offering extraordinary attractions. The manage ment is spending money liberally on special amusements. Day by day the peca-liar features of the programme are getting more interesting and the greatest show or earth is deemed by old visitors to be greater than ever.

Total admissions on Tuesday were 182,75;

of which 152,380 were paid.

THE MONEY SCARE ABATING. Bank Failures Have Ceased, Gold is Coming Back and a General Feeling of Confidence Is Restored.

Viewed from a Treasury standpoint, the general financial situation of the country shows improvement, slight perhaps but it is believed permanent. Bank failures have almost entirely ceased, banks that have suspended under the financial stringency are resuming business, gold which poured out of the country is returning, and a generat feeling of confidence is being restored.

During the time that gold was being shipped to Europa the United States sustaintained a net loss of $12,000,000. This is new coming tack and it is estimated. This specie has found its way into the interior of the United States, much of it to Chicago. Some of it now ligures in the bank balances, but much of it was absorbed by "marrican" much of it was absorbed by Omerican securities.

The method of measuring the candle-power of light is simply to move an object along a graded scale, away from the light, until it ceases to cast a shadow; a mark on the scale at this point indicating the candle-power of the flame. It is apparent that the shadows thrown are to a great extent dependent on the intensity of the light. Thus water-gas, which gives a more intense light to a given area than coalgas, casts a strong shadow in the measuring machine, but when put to practical use it does not illuminate a room so well, not having so great diffusive power as a coal-gas light as the same measured candle-power. An analogous case is that of the sixteen - candle - power incandescent light. It is very intense, but does not illuminate a room as well as a gaslight of equal candle-power. What the public wants is better illumination, and it would seem that some other standard should be devised than the admittedly imperfect one of candle-power.
