Newspapers as Necessities.

The St. Paul Board of Control lately asked the Corporation Attorney for his opinion as to whether they could lawfully furnish the county almshouse and city hospital with newspapers; and the Corporation Attorney's opinion is that they may, for he holds that newspapers are necessities of life. The opinion is a sound statement of fact. The newspaper has become a necessity to Americans, and to be shut out from a knowledge of what is going on in the world would be as great a hardship to them as any other except lack of food, clothing, or shelter. The life is more than meat, and the body than raiment; and the satisfaction of the mind is as legitimate as the satisfaction of the bodily needs, and of a higher order. The almshouses and hospitals and the common privilege of Americans. The newspaper is the university and the library of the people, the common school of manhood. It is the great debating club of politics, the exchange of business, the record of each day of human experience. It is necessary to the proper discharge of the political duties of the citizen. But a newspaper, at least a good newspaper, is more than a necessity. It brings into the narrowest life some sense of the vast life of the world. It is full of tragedy and comedy, wit and passion, the heroic and the humble, the crime and the merit of nations. It is a great realist history. It is a daily commentary upon human nature.

CENTREVILLE.

Writing items in the heat is laborious. The days are warm and thoughts or ideas do not come with the bidding. This is the least pleasant part of the year, the dog days. Heat, humid and stifling, the dust of the wayside chokes the passer by, and the parched fields quiver, the corn alone stands the last living green waiting for a refreshing shower. Insects burden the air, and the half mournful note of the katy-did and cricket speaks of the soon coming frost and fall of the year. Such is time. Penns Creek even is getting too low for the fish to keep their back from being roasted by the rays of the sun. The Ladies Aid Society of the Lutheran and Reformed church will hold a festival on Saturday evening of this week in the yard adjoining the church on Market Street. Give this worthy cause a liberal patronage. Ice cream and all the dainties of the season will be served. Charles A. Walter of Williamsport was here last week visiting parents and friends. Prof. J. H. Willis of Selinsgrove was in town on business, Saturday. William Sholly, an ex-soldier and prominent citizen of Jackson township visited old comrades and friends here on Sunday. W. H. Shinkel and wife of Millburg visited parents and friends here on Sunday. Miss Ella Spangler mingled among friends in New Berlin on Sunday. Miss Elva Hartman was among friends in Middleburgh on Sunday. H. C. Samsel, County Chairman of the Republican Standing Committee, attended the State Convention in session at Harrisburg this week.

CHESTNUT RIDGE.

Daniel Smith has purchased a new threshing machine complete with an automatic duster, and is now prepared to do as quick and good work as any party in the county. Chas. Kase, of Riverside, was in this place on business last week. An infant daughter of Charles and Dilla Stetler was buried last week. The Chestnut Ridge cornet band has purchased a handsome band wagon. Messrs. A. W. Pontius and Samuel Reichley are attending the World's Fair. Adam Smeltz and Cyrus Smith made a business trip to Centreville last week. Simon Hummel and Ira Sanders met with an accident last week while passing Daniel Smith's engine with a horse and buggy. The horse became frightened at the engine and ran away, throwing the occupants out of the vehicle. They were badly bruised but are all right again. The horse ran several miles before he was captured. Alfred Good, of Northumberland county, made a business trip to this place last week. Chestnut Ridge was well represented at the R. R. Y. M. C. A. picnic at Mountain Grove. Jas. G. Crouse, Esq., of Middleburgh, was in this place on Saturday on business. Joe Leshner, of Selinsgrove, was in this place last week. Joe has nothing to say concerning the $1.50 wheat which he promised our farmers if Cleveland would be elected. The property of John Young, deceased, which was sold on Saturday, was purchased by the following parties: Edward Young bought tract No. 1, valuation $3,780; Alfred Young bought tract No. 2, valuation $4,150. Isaac Boust, our enterprising phosphate agent, has received two car-loads of goods, which he has sold to farmers in this vicinity. Everybody is pleased to learn that our old school-teacher, A. J. Herman, is coming back again.

GLOBE MILLS.

The Globe Mills and Creamer Sunday schools will hold their annual picnic on Yoder's island Sept. 2nd. All are invited to attend. There will be a festival in the evening at Meiser station. The G. A. R. intends holding its annual banquet on Yoder's island Sept. 13. Our post-master has embarked in the confectionery business. Frank Seaman, of Williamsport, will teach the M. school this winter. Our neighboring farmer, Levi Hasinger, will move on Sheriff Bolender's farm in the spring. We are very sorry to lose him. J. O. Yoder has started for old Missionary Institute and will finish his course in the spring. Prof. A. A. O. Yoder, graduate of the Delaware (Ohio) Business College, will teach in Centreville this winter. Take a dead-in-earnest politician and he will talk about his party and its platform every chance he gets. Why should a dead-in-earnest christian do any less for his church?
