KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

"August Flower"

"I am ready to testify under oath that if it had not been for August Flower I should have died before this. Eight years ago I was taken sick, and suffered as no one but a dyspeptic can. I employed three of our best doctors and received no benefit. They told me that I had heart, kidney, and liver trouble. Everything I ate distressed me so that I had to throw it up. August Flower cured me. There is no medicine equal to it." LORENZO F. SLEEPER, Appleton, Maine.

IMPROVEMENT IN BUSINESS

Extends From the Banks to the Mills, Mending the Industrial Condition.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, of New York says:

Improvement has extended from the banks to the mills. The condition of great industries has distinctly mended, though till seriously depressed. More important by far than any rise in stocks is the fact that more works have resumed during the past week than have stopped operation, so that the producing force of the country, after months of constant decline has begun to increase. Dispatches mention 28 textile and 30 metal works which have resumed some only with part force while 25 textile and nine iron works have stopped. It is expected that most of the Fall River mills will start, the hands assenting to reduced wages.

The money market is more healthy. The premium on currency has almost vanished, the embarrassment in domestic exchanges have well nigh disappeared, and while very little money is yet available for commercial or industrial loans, there is some relief in that respect also. It was time for some improvement.

Sales of wool have been the lowest on record for years, 1,271,200 pounds at the principal markets for the last week, as against 7,616,800 for the same week last year, the average of 104 grades being 17 cents, the lowest for many years.

MONEY MARKETS GREATLY IMPROVED.

While money markets have greatly improved they are yet far from the normal condition, and the crops are in doubt. The prospects for corn have not improved, and the injury done by drouth seems to insure a much smaller yield than was expected. The price during the week has advanced fully ½ cent. Western receipts of wheat have also been only 3,373,357 bushels for the past week, against 7,329,054 last year, and as accounts of short crops abroad grow more definite, the price here has strengthened fully 1 cent.

Incomplete returns of assets and liabilities for the month of August show that about 1,580 failures amounted to $55,446,039 and the returns for the remaining failures of the month will probably raise the amount above $60,000,000. The assets reported were $07,878,210. This body of defaulted liabilities for the single month of August exceeds the aggregate for any entire quarter except five, during the past ten years.

The failures for the week in the United States have been only 323 against 385 last week and 430 for the week preceding, and 25 in Canada against 33 for the same week last year. While one large mortgage company swells the aggregate of liabilities for the week, the average of other failures were lower than usual, 262 being for less than $5,000 each and only four over $100,000 each.

KILLED DOING HIS DUTY.

Shot Down by One of Three Robbers, Two of Whom Were Killed by a Plucky Hardware Merchant Immediately After.

Cashier A. T. Blachly of the Farmers and Merchant Bank, Delta, Col., was shot dead by robbers while defending his trust, on Thursday morning.

At a moment when no customers were present, three men marched into the bank and covered the employes with guns. The spokesman, presenting a revolver at the head of Cashier Blachly, demanded that he hand over what funds were in the bank, when Blachly refused the robber without any further warning opened fire on the unfortunate man, killing him instantly. The three men then grabbed all the cash in sight, amounting to perhaps $100 and started for the outside, where they had horses hitched.

W. Ray Simpson keeps a hardware store near the bank. The noise of the shot that killed Blachly attracted his attention. The uproar had also drawn quite a crowd of people to the spot; but they were not prepared for the robbers, while Simpson was. His Winchester was loaded and he was a cool and sure shot. Simpson got into the street in front of the bank just as the three robbers were rushing out of the building. The hardware man opened fire while the robbers were mounting their horses. His aim was sure and with the first crack of his rifle one of the robbers fell dead. "Crack!" went the rifle again, and another robber died with his boots on. The shooting took place in a few seconds, but this short time was the temporary salvation of the remaining robber, who mounted his horse and started on a gallop down the road for the country.

The bank was soon the center of an excited, angry multitude of citizens, who, when they recovered from the shock, rushed to their homes secured horses, guns and ammunition and set off after the fleeing robber.

FAIR FINANCES

Receipts From Concessions Far Ahead of the Paris Exposition.

Advance figures from the Exposition auditor's report were given out at Chicago The most interesting feature of the report was found in the item of receipts from concessions. The revenue from that source had reached the enormous figure of $1,643,948.91 on August 31. The Paris Exposition received but $600,000 from concessions for the entire six months, while the managers of the World's Fair get about $40,000 a month. The last two months of the Fair will go far above the average in that respect.

The total receipts of the Exposition to date from all sources have been $26,143,888.89 and the disbursements $25,516,359.

HAWAII AND GERMANY.

Two Important Nominations Made by the President.

The President nominated Theodore Runyon, of New Jersey, to be Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of the United States to Germany and Albert S Willis, of Kentucky, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the Hawaiian Islands.

Runyon's appointment is in the line of promotion. He was appointed Minister to Germany during the recess and now becomes Ambassador. Hon. Albert Willis, whom the President has designated to assume the responsible position of Minister to the Hawaiian Islands is an ex-member of Congress. He is at present practicing law in Louisville and is recognized as a leading member of the bar of that city. He is about 50 years old.

THE WEEKLY CROP REPORT.

Drouth Conditions Continue to Prevail in the Ohio Valley.

The weekly crop report of the Weather Bureau says: The week was unusually dry throughout the Central Valleys, the Upper Lake region, thence westward to the Rocky Mountains, thus adding another week of drouth conditions over the corn states of the Central Mississippi valleys and thence eastward over the Ohio valley. The states giving the most favorable reports for the week are Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska. The rainfall was generally in excess over the South Atlantic States and in the interior of the Middle Atlantic and New England states, covering a belt of country about 300 miles in width, over which the severe hurricane of last week passed.

Virginia—High winds have damaged all crops; pastures have been greatly benefited.

North Carolina—Hurricane injured crops in this State seriously; corn blown down; fodder stripped; tobacco leaves bruised and cut. Cotton less injured.

South Carolina.—Storm did damage, open crop whipped out, bolls blown off, plant twisted and lies flat on the ground, and is sprouting; much cotton drowned out and still covered by water; young corn blown flat and much broken off and stripped of ears and leaves; bottom lands overflowed twice and large quantities of corn washed away; fruit trees stripped of late fruit, fences houses and pine timbers blown down on coast, crops black from sea water, half of Sea Island cotton crop completely ruined by the tide water, rice badly damaged, but upland rice in better condition.

Tennessee—Favorable weather in eastern portion, everything doing nicely. Tobacco being cut in other sections. Drouth continues, the corn and pastures being badly damaged. Cool nights and drouth ruining cotton in many localities.

Kentucky—Drouth continues; plowing suspended, stock water scarce and poor, lookout for crops daily increasing.

Illinois—Entire absence of rain; corn cutting commenced; thrashing about completed; pastures dried up; stock water scarce.

Indiana—Drouth continued; corn turns yellow without being matured; in most of the districts the pasturage ruined.

West Virginia—Corn, tobacco, buckwheat and late vegetables improved by light rains; grass reviving; live stock in good condition.

Ohio—Drouth broken over eastern and southern sections; pastures and late potatoes improved by rains; corn too far advanced, some being cut.

—THE SILVER shut down in Colorado is thus summarized by Labor Commissioner Brentlinger: Unemployed during July and August, 45,084 of whom 22,462 left the vicinity where at work. Since then many of the big mines have resumed work.

How Is It Used.

A country town in one of our Middle States, in which is a sectarian college, was startled by the suicide of one of the college students. He had become a confirmed drunkard; and enfeebled in mind and body; conscious that his career in college was over, afraid to go home, in despair he sought death.

His brother was sent for to take the dead boy home. He found the President of the college, and said to him:

"My mother three years or more ago sent you her youngest son, her Benjamin. He was a healthy, honorable boy, who, when he left home, had never touched a drop of liquor. There is nothing to carry back to her but this poor diseased body. Who has done this? Who is guilty?"

The venerable president was deeply moved. "Not I," he said. "The faculty were interested in him. When he began to go astray they remonstrated with him. I pleaded with him. Every influence that we could exert was brought to bear. But he went down as if drawn by some invisible hand."

Whose was this hand?

As the dead boy was carried down the street, a pretty young girl looked out of a window of her home, and saw the hearse. She remembered how, nearly three years ago, vexed at his blindness to her charms and his eagerness for study, she had used all her little wiles to attract him; how she had succeeded; how mad he was in his admiration of her.

There was a club in the college composed of students of free social habits. At their late suppers wines were used, and stakes were played for at their card tables. She had urged him to join the club, and had praised their "manly" ways; their freedom from boyish restraints. "They were men of the world; she never could care for any man who had not seen life."

He had joined the club, and this was the result.

The silly, frivolous girl gave a sigh, and then laughed nervously. It was a pity! She had lost an admirer. But who was to blame? Not she. She knew other men of the world who would not be driven to suicide by a few glasses of liquor!

She went on her foolish, cruel way.

This is a true story, stripped of its worst details. In every college town there are young girls whose influence, unfortunately, is stronger over the students than that of their wisest and dearest friends. How do they use it?—Youth's Companion.

So Say We All.

Alphonse Karr, the gardener-poet, was present at a banquet given by the followers of Hahnemann, the founder of homeopathy.

Toasts were given to the health of one medical celebrity after another by different members of the company, till at last [illegible] remarked:

"Monsieur Karr, you have not proposed the health of any one."

The poet rose and replied modestly, "I propose the health of the sick."

Libby Prison in 1865.

"I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since I came out of Libby Prison in 1865 and at times it was very severe, and my last attack of it bailed me over six weeks, during which time I tried all the remedies I had previously used and had several doctors treat me for the same, but nothing would stop it. I was induced to try a bottle of Thurston's Blackberry Cordial, and after using less than half a bottle was relieved, and am once more regular. Thanks to your Cordial, I cheerfully recommend it to all the 'old boys' who are troubled with that dreaded disease or anyone else for summer complaints. This testimony is gratuitous." Yours truly, J. "Watch Stopped, Has It?"

"Watch stopped, has it?" asked one traveler of another. "Now, I suppose you'll pay a dollar to clean it. But let me give you a tip. Open both of the back cases so, hold it with open side down and tap it with your finger-nail a dozen times. Don't be afraid. Snap it again. Now move the second hand. Is it all right? I thought so. A drummer put me up to that trick. Probably there were only a few specks of dust in the works and you've raised them out. Very likely it will now run for a year and you've saved your dollar. If it doesn't run after the little jar that you gave it, then it is time to take it to the jeweler."

When Animals Are Removed.

When animals or plants are removed from their peculiar and natural districts to one entirely different in climate some surprising changes take place. As soon as possible after such removal they change their character and habits so as to conform with their new homes, or else cease to exist. A good wool-bearing sheep transferred from some northern pasture to the tropics changes his coat to a thin covering of straggling hairs scarcely resembling wool; the dog becomes destitute of hair altogether, and even bees cease to lay up their stores of honey and in a great measure lose their industrious habits.—St. Louis Republic.
