

McCLURE.

Business is slowly on the mend in spite of the disgraceful actions of the U. S. Senate. The recent storm did considerable damage in our community—especially to fences and winter apples. Mrs. A. M. Smith and her sister, Miss Nettie Specht, and Mrs. Specht spent Sunday with McClure friends. Wallace Lepley left on Monday on an extended tour through some of our Central Penna towns. Mr. Samuel Hoffman, who for several weeks had been confined to his bed with fever, took his first walk through our streets again on Monday. Mr. Burdells, of the firm of Marcy & Co., operating the timber slide on Shade mountain, investigated their business interests here during the past week and expressed himself as highly gratified with the condition of their affairs. This reflects great credit upon their foremen, Messrs. Edgecomb & Howell. Two of our enterprising young merchants, G. B. Enterline and J. B. Spangler, made a tour of our mountains on Tuesday in quest of wild turkeys. They never return empty-handed, especially when chaperoned by our famous guide and hunter, John Snyder. NEMO.

MIDDLE CREEK.

Not having seen any communication from this place for a long time I will give a few facts. Husking corn is on the program for the farmers. The hum of the thrasher can be heard daily in this neighborhood. Chestnuts are ripe and beginning to fall. It is reported that Reitz & Drukenmiller are closing out their entire stock of store goods. A. A. Ullsh has returned from the city with a fine stock of fall and winter goods. J. H. Knepp has returned from the western states after a prolonged visit. He reports having had a pleasant time. M. E. Yetter visited Philadelphia in company with A. A. Ullsh last week. Mrs. Jesse Knepp and daughter are at present visiting friends in Reading. The wind on Friday and Saturday did considerable damage to the apple trees in this neighborhood. Since the remodeling of the mill, H. W. Ullsh is turning out No. 1 flour. Peter Knepp and daughter, of Bannerville, visited Mrs. Kline on Saturday. Lewis Manbeck, who had been unwell for several years, died last week and was buried in the Evangelical church cemetery on Saturday. Communion services were held at the Ridge church on Sunday by Rev. Wetzler. CITIZEN.

PORT TREVORTON.

Rev. C. A. Mutch, of Lykens, favored us with a practical sermon on Sunday. The Misses Heikes, of Harrisburg, are visiting their mother who lives at this place. Scranton has here a representative hunter in the person of Louis Rife. We wonder whether there might not be such a thing as introducing into the U. S. Senate a (quick) silver repeal. The terrific gale which swept over the country for the last few days did not pass without doing any damage. The trees were not only denuded of their beautiful vesture, but many were torn up by the roots and lie prostrate on the ground. Henry Aucker's barn was partly unroofed, while Witmer's school building is entirely so, the front gable wall having collapsed admitting the terrific pressure. School of course is postponed while the workmen repair the damages, which amount to about $200. One night last week a certain old soldier had said his "Now I lay me down to sleep," and was already traversing the pleasant avenues of dreamland, when he was rudely recalled to act a part in the drama of real life as it is. Indeed the whole family and some of the easy sleeping neighbors were aroused and no wonder, "for such a rancity," says the old vet, "I never heard even in the bellum days of the sixties." Was it a robber trying to enter, or was the old-fashioned serenade rampant. Such questions pass these might have been suggested to less experienced brains, but this tried hero by deliberate investigation soon ascertained that the boys had fastened a tick-tack to his shutter. Immediately upon the discovery there was an about face and the old man shouldered his musket. Then ensued such a display of military tactics that cast visible shadows of dismay upon the faces of the too dilatory operators of the tick-tacks. But boys always did have their sport, and these of the present age are not satisfied with a delinquent portion. How they do relish it. It seems to invigorate their whole system, and is all the more gratifying if it betakes the nature of trickery, and if practiced under the cover of darkness. Then how fascinating to keep their connection with the games latent by obscure, while the embarrassment or torment of the trickee is published far and thoroughly.

WAVEBLY.

MONROE TOWNSHIP.

The storm on last Friday night did considerable damage in this vicinity. Following are a few of the casualties: Telephone poles blown over and broken off on Wagenseller & Schoch's line, Hiram Smith's barn partly unroofed, Martin Sheney's barn near Kreamer, unroofed, and lots of minor offenses did the pranks of the wind play. Notwithstanding the terrible storm plenty of lanterns could be seen all night in the Penns Creek bottoms, carried by persons who braved the elements in order to get their share of hickory-nuts. The Mechanicsville boys had a picnic on last Saturday evening, but they couldn't operate the bottling works on Hiram App's farm on account of its dilapidated condition, which rendered it unsafe for storing purposes. W. R. Lenig of Penfield, Clearfield Co., was the guest of his nephew, P. R. Lenig, last week. Mr. L. moved to Clearfield county about 20 years ago. He was member of the 188th Reg. P. V., and took part in most of these severe engagements of the 9th corps during the spring of '65. At Fort Edwards he was in the hand to hand fight, and he carries nearest to his heart the old bible from which he and eight other comrades repeated the 91st Psalm every morning. Franklin Jarret and Howard Klingler and families were at the funeral of Katie, daughter of John Leitzel, who was buried at Sievers' church on Tuesday.

CHESTNUT RIDGE.

Our farmers are busy husking their corn, which is only about half a crop. Mr. Jonas Sassaman, wife and daughter, of Riverside, were the guests of Ira Heiser's recently. George Van Devender and wife visited in Northumberland last week. I. E. Boust and wife are at the World's Fair. Clover-seed is a poor crop this year—the yield is five acres to the bushel instead of five bushels to the acre. C. H. Van Devender, of Steelton, is here visiting his parents for a few days. Clarence is as jolly as ever, and is always welcome among his many friends. Miss Mollie Wetzel left for Philadelphia last week, where she has received employment in a store. She will be greatly missed by Frank Sandel made a business trip to Riverside one day last week. J. S.

"During my term of service in the army I contracted chronic diarrhoea," says A. E. Bending, of Halsey, Oregon. "Since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found one that would give me relief I would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results follow." For sale by G. M. Shindel, Middleburgh, and J. W. Sampsell, Penns Creek.

I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a specific for croup. It is very pleasant to take, which is one of the most important requisites where a cough remedy is intended for use among children. I have known of cases of croup where I know the life of a little one was saved by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." J. LaGreen druggist, Avoca, Neb. 50 bottles for sale by G. M. Shindel, Middleburgh, and J. W. Sampsell, Penns Creek.
