We have not heard of a single deer being killed by our hunters this fall. They ought to be "ripe" by this time as the trees are pretty well stripped of their foliage by the heavy frosts.

At the annual meeting of the State Sabbath School Association in Pittsburg, the report showed that Pennsylvania leads all other states in Sunday school work. There are 8,962 schools, 139,256 teachers and officers, and 1,247,320 scholars, making a grand total of 1,386,576.

An agent of Barnum's circus has made the needed arrangements to quarter during the winter months three hundred head of horses on one of the farms of Mr. Jacob Behney, near Myerstown. To feed such a lot of animals and to see that they are properly groomed and taken care of requires quite a force of men.

Don't forget the important land sale on Saturday, Oct. 28, when the eight tracts of the E. A. and Mary A. Steinger estates, situate 1/2 mile west of Middleburgh, will be sold. The land is in first class condition for farming, except about twelve acres, which is well set with the best of timber.

REWARD.—On Monday night there was stolen from the home of the undersigned in Kratzerville, Pa., 1 open face, 4oz. silver watch, P. S. Bartlett movement, 1 double-barrel breech loading shot gut, Richard's make, and 2 coats. A reward of five dollars is offered for the return of the same and the apprehension of the thief. H. A. HERMAN.

We are indebted to "rantin" Joe Leshner of the Times for the use of his "form" to print our supplement this week. Joe is never behind in newspaper courtesies, and the brother who cannot neighbor with him certainly walks blindly and in crooked roads.

For what is the greatest amount of lumber used? Nine people out of ten will say for houses and buildings. It is doubtful if thirty-five per cent. of the lumber output goes into buildings. The railroads, farmers, and miscellaneous purposes take about forty per cent. and the other twenty per cent. goes into boxes. The estimate is made, says the Southern Lumberman, on the judgment of some of the oldest and best informed lumbermen in the country.

The following formula for preventing the growth of horns on calves should be tried by those who object to dehorning: Take 50 parts of caustic soda, 25 parts of kerosene and 25 parts of water. Heat the kerosene and soda together, stirring vigorously, and then add the water. Take the calf at from one to three weeks old, trim away the hair around the base of the horns, then with a few drops of the mixture on the cork which should be of rubber, rub on one horn and then the other, repeating until three or four applications are made. Be careful not to allow the fluid to run down upon the face.

Contractor Philip Keefer of Sunbury, attended the fair Friday, and was an easy victim for a couple of sharpers, who relieved him of his valuables. While taking in the town, Keefer met a couple of strangers who showed him a nice time and when they parted company Keefer was minus his watch, chain and roll of greenbacks. He did not discover his loss until he arrived home and then it was too late to recover the stolen property.—Milton Record.

You can call at the Post printing office, place an order for any size, style, and number of sale bills, sit down and read or chat with the editor for an hour and take your bills along home with you. The price you will be charged will be the lowest at which work of the kind can be gotten up, and in addition to this you get a free notice of your sale in the Post's sale register, which is read in nearly every family in the county.

With this issue of the Post will be found a supplement containing the Sheriff's Proclamation of the election. It bears a fac simile of the ticket to be voted, and it will convey valuable and needed information in regard to the new method of voting. It is considerably simplified from last year, and all that is necessary to do, when you want to vote the straight Republican ticket, is to make your cross in the centre of the ring at the head of the first ticket.

No man ever becomes great, wise or rich by accident. This we would like to impress upon the minds of many idle young men. A young man's prosperity depends upon himself. If you are industrious and frugal, and set before you an object in life, you will succeed; but if you are indolent, improvident and changeable, you will come to no good. A man must have a purpose, he must make up his mind what he means to be and do, or he cannot reasonably hope to succeed in this life.

A Baltimore girl was recently awarded $500 damages for a kiss bestowed upon her against her will by a man. Recently in the New York courts three men were charged $5 each for hugging girls against their (the girls') will. Boys, don't be too hasty in stealing a kiss; wait until you are permitted—it only takes a few minutes longer and then, "You will find dear boy, that the dearest prize is—Rise, Which with rapture you snatched from the fair willing maid, Is sweeter by far than the log's heated kisses You give the same girl when you have made her a Mrs."

The adoption of the free text book system came just at the right time. The scarcity of employment and the dullness of the times would have made the buying of text books for the term a serious task for many parents. It is no trifling matter to supply a boy or girl with books and supplies necessary for successful work at school, and this year in particular, it would have been impossible for some parents to have bought the necessary books for their children, and quite a number of boys and girls would thus have been kept away from school on account of not having the necessary books and no means of procuring them.

Writing of the peach harvest in Juniata county, Bro. Allison, of the Herald, says it has proved far less profitable to the producers than they expected, because of the unprecedented yield of the Delaware and Jersey orchards, and the want of business tact and cordial co-operation among the producers. A Walker township grower shipped 36 crates of choice peaches and received a return for the lot of only 65 cents. He recommends that the peach growers of Juniata county organize a peach exchange, where all peaches shall be inspected before shipment and none but choice fruit in good condition shipped, and to such places only as there is a demand for them and where responsible and honest commission men have been engaged to handle them.

The Flag Raising.

The raising of flags on our public school buildings by the P. O. S. of A. on Friday of last week was successfully carried out as advertised and in the evening the pupils of our public schools gave a most enjoyable little entertainment in the court house. They were followed by Rev. Moorhead, who delivered a most thoughtful and entertaining address on the great questions of the day. He is a keen observer, an omnivorous reader, and the possessor of a most retentive memory. In fact Mr. Moorhead has a mind of his own. He never takes anything for granted, but after thoroughly acquainting himself with the subject, he renders his verdict in plain language—paying little attention to word-painting, for he has the gift of language, and devotes his entire attention to the dissecting of the subject before him. He opened the doors to a number of important national questions and lead his hearers to the portal where he bade them stop, and look, and think, and before they were half through he had them looking in an entirely opposite direction at a question of an entire different nature but of equal importance to our country's prosperity. He is one of the most entertaining and instructive speakers we ever heard.

How To Keep Apples.

The keeping of apples during the winter largely depends on the mode of handling them when they are harvested. Apples that have fallen to the ground have become bruised to some extent, and will sooner or later begin to decay. Such apples should be made into cider, for vinegar, without delay. Apples that are to be stored should be picked from the tree and handled carefully, so as not to permit of the slightest injury to a single one, it being well known that where one rotten apple is in the barrel the others are liable to rot sooner than if all are sound.

A practical committeeman in presenting diplomas, last July, to a graduating class in an Ohio city spoke as follows: "Girls, in presenting you these diplomas, if, by their significance you are led to allow your mothers to do all the work, bake all the bread, sweep all the floors because you can read Latin or demonstrate a theorem in geometry, then has your school been a most unfortunate course, and in all the teachings you have ever received at my hands, I trust there has been no lesson that has weaned you from the dish pan. Boys, if from this graduation you go out into the world too nice to carry wood and swill the hogs, if need be, then has our school failed in its purpose and sown wrong seed."

The writer of the following won the prize recently offered by a newspaper for the best answer to the question "how to keep husbands home at night." A Quaker advised his son to keep his eyes wide open when courting; after marriage to keep them half shut. If you did not act on the first part of this advice, try the latter. Study your husband's disposition and be sure to make a thorough study of your own. Try using a little tact and a good deal of consideration for his wishes and feeling and see if you can not teach him to be more considerate of yours. Business is trying. Men like peace at home. If possible, manage not to be worn out. Be cheerful. Don't worry. Don't scold.

Reunion of the 49th.

The 49th Regiment held its annual reunion at Lewistown last week and Capt. D. T. Rhoads of this place was in attendance, and succeeded in having the next re-reunion held at Middleburgh some time in October 1894. They must have had a glorious old time, judging from the reports in the papers. Dr. A. M. Smith of Adamsburg was drafted into service to address the veterans, and the Altoona Times says he acquitted himself nobly. He was a member of Company I in the 49th, and gave an account of his first engagement with the "Johnnies," lauding the bravery of the "Snyder County Dutch," and told how the officers were compelled to ride in front of his company and stop it from going right into Richmond.

Col. Culbertson of Lewistown, the well known orator, delivered the address of welcome, to which Wm. M. Irwin, former president responded.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year, viz: President, J. A. Quigley; Secretary, R. S. Westbrook; Ass't Sec., W. H. Glass; Treasurer, J. L. Barton.

A Genuine Bear Story.

One night last week Hiram and John Waite, of Waterstreet, Huntingdon county, went to a neighboring mountain for coons. Neither of the boys is over 16. They carried a double-barreled gun and were accompanied by a dog. The dog soon tracked a coon, which led the boys a merry chase almost to the top of the mountain, where it was treed by the dog. Hiram, the elder of the boys, snatched the gun on his back and started to climb the tree. He had ascended only about ten feet when a large black bear appeared on the scene. Hiram jumped to the ground and with his brother started on a run for their home about half a mile distant. The bear, which had killed the dog at one blow of its paw, started after the boys down the mountain. The boys were too frightened to attempt to show their pursuer fight and so they continued to run. The bear gave the boys a close chase until they reached home, when they succeeded in getting into the door just as the bruin came up. Mr Waite aroused by the boys' cries soon ascertained the trouble and with a farm hand he attacked the bear with an ax and killed it. The bear was a full grown female and weighed 170 pounds.—Tyronce Times

A Week in Camp.

Ed. Post.—Last week I had the pleasure of camping out with a most congenial party, of Union county folks, viz: Martin Reed, wife, and son Tom, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stitzer, Daniel Moss and wife, and son Jimmie, Mr. and Mrs. Steadman, Charles Stitzer and Will Moss. Our tent was pitched at Laurel Run, four miles east of Woodward, in Penns Valley Narrows. We named it "Mid Mountain Camp" being located at the junction of three high mountains. The country is full of small game, and the skill of our hunters never left the pot empty of game. We had quite a number of visitors in camp during the week who added greatly to the pleasures of the occasion.

We all longed for an adventure and we got it before we left for home. It came in the shape of a "bear." The men had all gone out hunting leaving the ladies alone in camp. All of a sudden one of the ladies espied a black object in the thick brush. She saw it move, and at once screamed "a bear!" This was the signal for a general stampede, and, of course, we all ran, but were soon called back. The bear turned out to be a member of our party whom we called "Patti." The week was one of unalloyed pleasure, and will be treasured as one of the most pleasant recollections of a life time. JEN G. BIRGHAUS.

Wm. Yost of Willamsport was the guest of P. S. Hare last week.

Final Extraordinary Inducement for World's Fair Travel.

Commencing October 20th, and continuing until Sunday, October 29th inclusive, excursion tickets to Chicago will be placed on sale, and will be good for passage on all trains except the Pennsylvania Limited, from York, Harrisburg, and points west on the main line, including the branches, Frederick Division, Cumberland Valley Railroad, Lewistown Division to Selinsgrove, Tyrone Division to Lock Haven, Altoona, Cambria and Clearfield, Southwest West Penn. Bedford and Monongahala Divisions. $16.00 from York, $16.00 from Frederick, $15.75 from Harrisburg, $14.50 from Altoona, and proportionate rates from other stations.

This arrangement is a most exceptional one, and will undoubtedly be the cause of many visiting the great Exposition during the closing days, who would not otherwise undertake the journey.

All who can do so are advised to see the Fair, as it is highly improbable that another of its immense magnitude will be seen by the readers of these lines. A liberal education in itself is to be obtained by an inspection of the incomprehensibly large collection of wonderful inventions and sights incorporated in this mighty effort of the American people.

TROXELVILLE

Dr. Miller has moved into the house occupied by Tillie Heinley and has his office in David Mattern's residence. The story circulated that a human head had been found several miles east of this place and that Dr. Miller had it in his possession has no truth in it. This is the way the story started: Thomas J. Weikle, who owns and resides on the old Michael Moyer mill property, in company with another man, found several locks of human hair under a stone somewhere above the mill-dam. This was enough for some people—such as the world is full of. Here some one "chipped in" and asked, "But how did these hair get there?" Well, Thomas Jordan comes forth and explains it pretty clearly. Everybody that knows "der old Tom Yardon" knows that he has a habit of letting his hair grow to a considerable length before having it cut. Well, Tom says that several years ago he got his hair cut and his whiskers shaved off and then placed the hair under a stone in that vicinity; and in all probability this is his fleece, and the mystery is revealed. Tom, you were misinformed when somebody told you that the Booneys killed eleven wild turkeys last Monday. They killed only three. Amos H. Herman gave his new house a coat of paint. Dr. Miller is busy digging the cellar for his new house, which he will put up next summer. Last Saturday, while Harrison Schrader was gathering chestnuts in his woods, he discovered a certain fellow in the act of shooting one of his (Schrader) domestic turkeys. When the culprit discovered that Mr. Schrader was so close at hand he dropped his "game" and disappeared in the dense underbrush, but too late, for Mr. Schrader was too close and had already identified the smart fellow, and knows exactly who he is. Mr. Schrader gave me his name, which I will withhold on condition that he will comply with Mr. Schrader's demands, which are as follows: That the fellow will come forward and pay full value for the turkey, and promise on his word of honor never again to enter upon Mr. Schrader's land for the purpose of hunting or any other unlawful act. If he refuses or neglects for a period of fifteen days to comply with the above demand he will be dealt with according to law. Mr. Schrader is a whole-souled, big-hearted fellow, and, in our humble opinion, shows too much mercy for such an individual. He should make a pretty example of him, and it may put a stop to such hunting. CAL. JOE.
